HIMACHAL PRADESH

Area: 10,904 sq. miles; Population: 11,00,466;
 Capital: Simla: Strength of Territorial Council: 43 (41 elected and 2 nominated).

The centrally administered territory of Himachal Pradesh comprises 22 former Punjab Hill States and their 9 tributaries. The 22 States are Baghal, Baghat, Balran, Bilaspur, Bushahr, Bhaji, Bija, Chamba, Dinkoti, Dhani, Jubbil, Keonthal, Kumarsain, Kunihar, Kuthar, Mahlog, Mandi, Mangal, Sangri, Sirmur, Suket and Tharoch.

The 9 tributaries are Delath, Dhadi, Ghund, Khanet, Koti, Madhan, Ratesh, Rawingari and Theog.

The State came into being on April 15, 1948; the consolidation was achieved with the full agreement and support of the Rulers and the people.

Bilaspur was merged into Himachal Pradesh on July 1, 1954.

Himachal Pradesh lies between North Latitude 30° 30' and 33° 10' and East Longitude 75° 55' and 79° 50'. It is bounded on the north by the Jammu and Kashmir State, on the south by Tehri-Garhwal and Dehra Dun Districts of Uttar Pradesh and the Ambala District of Punjab; on the west by Ambala, Hoshiarpur and Kangra. On the east the boundaries are undefined.

The Territory is divided into five administrative districts, Mahasu, Sirmur, Mandi, Chamba and Bilaspur.

Mahasu District has a population of (1951) 330,614 (Rural 322,616; Urban 7,998) and is divided into the following tehsils: Rampur, Rohru, Chini, Jubbil, Chopal, Theog, Arki, Solan and Kasumpti and the sub-Tehsils of Kumarsain, Suni and Kotkhal. 312,761 persons out of the total population are agriculturists.

Sirmur District has a population of (1951) 166,077 (Rural 155,700; Urban 10,377) and is divided into four Tehsils, Nahau, Pachhad, Rainka and Paonta. 147,144 persons out of the total population depend upon agriculture.

Mandi District has a population of (1951) 310,626 (Rural 294,458; Urban 16,168) and contains the Tehsils of Mandi Sedar, Karsog, Sundernagar, Jogindernagar, Sarkaghat and Chachlot. 286,763 persons out of the total population depend upon agriculture.

Chamba District has a population of (1951) 176,050 (Rural 169,192; Urban 6,858) and is divided into the Tehsils of Chamba, Churah and Bhattiyat and the Sub-tehsils of Bharmaur and Pangl. 167,570 persons are agriculturists.

Bilaspur District has a population of (1951) 126,099 (Rural 122,354; Urban 3,745). It lies on both the banks of the Sutlej River and is divided into two tehsils Bilaspur and Ghumarwin. Agriculture is the main occupation of the people, 114,398 persons being agriculturists.

ECONOMY

The main agricultural wealth of the Territory consists in potatoes and fruits such as apple, peach, almond, nuts, pomegranate.

The climatic conditions in this Territory are suitable for the growing of a large variety of fruits. Citrus and other sub-tropical fruits like mango, guava, loquat, pomegranate are grown in the valleys while stone fruits are grown in low and mid-hills. Apples, pears are grown in the cooler regions. The superior varieties of apples which were restricted to a few progressive areas like Kotgarh and Kotkhal are now grown extensively in several other suitable places. At present about 50,000 maunds of apples are exported to various parts of India. With the new plantation coming up, the production of fruit will increase considerably.

Salt is another important item; while forests yield timber, fire-wood and charcoal. Handicrafts which include Pashmina shawls, wool of fine quality, resin, herbs, musk and skins are a third source of income.

Himachal Pradesh forests supply the largest quantities of coniferous timber in Northern India. They are the main source of revenue in the Territory, the estimated revenue during 1957-58 being Rs. 135 lakhs. The forests are also useful in ensuring the safety of the catchment areas of the Jumna, Sutlej, Beas, Ravi and Chenab rivers. On the protection of these catchment areas depends the steady and constant flow of water in these rivers, and the success of irrigation and engineering works in the plains. For purposes of forest utilization the Territory has been divided into twelve territorial forest divisions, viz., Chamba, Churaha, Mandi, Bilaspur, Suket, Jubbil, Simla, Solan, Nahau, Rajgarh, Upper and Lower Bushahr.

Seed potato is the chief cash crop. The Territory has established itself as a vital source of potatoes, especially seed potatoes, for the plains of India. It exports nearly 10 lakh maunds of potatoes annually out of which over six lakh maunds are directly utilised as seed potatoes.

There is a resin and turpentine factory at Nahau.

Five year plan investment for 1958-59: Rs. 5-8 crores. The total investment for the whole plan: Rs. 14-72 crores.

JAMMU AND KASHMIR STATE

Area: 85,861 sq. miles; Population: 4.41 millions (1951); Capital: Srinagar.

Official language: Urdu; Regional languages: Kashmiri, Dogri, Balti, Dardi, Punjabi, Fahari, Ladakhi. There are 33 local bodies, three municipalities, 25 town area committees and four notified area committees in the State.

The State has now a Legislative Assembly (100 including 25 for occupied areas) and a Legislative Council (34).

For administrative purposes, the State is divided into two provinces: Kashmir (including the Frontier District) and Jammu.

Districts: in Kashmir Province: Srinagar, Baramulla, Anantnag and the Frontier District of Ladakh; in Jammu Province: Jammu, Kathua, Udhampur and Doda.

Names of districts showing within brackets the names of tehsils and the population of each tehsil:

Kashmir Province: Srinagar (Srinagar City 230,000; Khas 123,000; Badgam 181,000; Baramulla (Baramulla 141,000; Sopore 165,000; Handwara 184,000; Uri and Karnah 53,000); Anantnag (Anantnag 231,000; Kulgam 193,000; Pulwama 173,000); Ladakh (Ladakh 37,000; Kargil 43,000).

Jammu Province: Jammu (Jammu including Jammu City 180,000; Samba 68,000; Akhnor 81,000; Ranbithangpora 87,000); Kathua (Kathua 49,000; Jamnigraha 41,000; Basoli 75,000); Udhampur (Udhampur 50,000; Ramnagar 63,000; Reasi 97,000); Doda (Kishtwar 65,000; Bhaderwah 59,000; Ramban 92,000).

The Jammu and Kashmir State constituting the extreme western section of the Himalayas, lies between 32°17' and 36°58' north latitude, and 78°23' and 80°30' east longitude.

The density of population is 51 per sq. mile.

Non-Muslims form about 23 per cent of the total population—a percentage slightly higher than the one which Muslims formed in India before the partition. Culturally both Muslims and Hindus belong to the same group. Consequently, they speak the same language and have common customs and conventions, and sometimes even places of common worship.

About 10.3 per cent of the total population is urban. There are 2 cities, 37 towns and 3,740 villages in the whole State.

A double tube 1½ miles long low level tunnel, the Jankhir Tunnel, was bored through the mountain of Banihal and traffic has been allowed through one of its tubes from 1957. The tunnel has provided an all weather link between Kashmir Valley and the outside world.

AGRICULTURE

Kashmir State has a delightful climate, though winter months are very cold. The maximum recorded temperature of the Kashmir Valley is 99.3 degrees and the minimum 11°. In Jammu the temperature in summer goes upto 115°, or sometimes even higher, but comes down to 30° and even to 20° during winter in some parts of the State. The average rainfall for the whole of the State is 25.45".

Forests hold an important place in the economy of the State. They yield fine wood of many varieties, medicinal herbs and also provide game and fodder for the cattle. The forest operations do not extend to the Frontier Province which forms three-fourths of the total area of the State. In the two remaining provinces, 11,058 sq. miles or about 50 per cent of their total areas constitute forest land.

The oldest forest industry is that of rosin and turpentine. In 1955-56, 52,927 maunds of rosin and 108,875 gallons of turpentine were manufactured in the factory and the income from sales amounted to about Rs. 19 lakhs.

Agriculture is the main occupation of the people. But the soil is not very fertile. Only 3.6 per cent of the total area is cultivable, and the remaining portion is full of mountains and deserts. The total amount of land actually under cultivation in the State is 2,000,767 acres. The main crops grown are rice and maize, and in Jammu wheat and maize. The State on the whole is deficit with regard to food supply.

The total area of the State in acres is 54 million. Out of this the cultivable area today would be of the order of 2.1 million acres. The area under irrigation in 1955 was 744,000 acres.

With the completion of several new irrigation canals and lift irrigation projects 47,325 acres of land were brought under cultivation. In the Second Plan an additional acreage of 1.44 lakh acres is expected to come under cultivation and food production to increase by 15 lakh maunds.

The Pratap Canal which would irrigate 20,000 acres was expected to be completed in 1958-59.

The State has three development blocks under the Community Projects programme, one at Badgam in Kashmir, one at Manesar in Jammu and the third in Ladakh where it covers the whole district. The three blocks cover about 579 villages and a population of 1.75 lakhs. The projects cost Rs. 20 lakhs (Badgam), Rs. 20 lakhs (Manesar), Rs. 10 lakhs (Ladakh).

There are also ten National Extension Blocks.

By the end of the Second Plan the entire State will have been covered by NES Blocks—37 in number.

The Government passed the 'Big Landed Estates Abolition Act' in 1951, by virtue of which the right of ownership held by a landlord owning more than 22½ acres was extinguished without compensation and was thereafter vested in tillers of such lands. In pursuance of this Act, the Government distributed the land held by big landlords (as defined in the Act) among the tillers and thus landlordism, to a large extent, was abolished in the State. 8,989 persons held more than 22½ acres each and together accounted for 900,000 acres. The area of land from which expropriation took place without compensation was 4.5 lakh acres. About 2.3 lakh acres of land were transferred in ownership right to about 3 lakh tillers with more than 7 lakh dependents. Land vested in the State amounted to 2.2 lakh acres.

The Government has started a new land settlement drive beginning with Baramulla and Poonch districts.

Legislation for abolition of intermediary interests in land held by occupancy tenants and inferior owners is under consideration of the State Government.

Tenants holding lands at the commencement of the Tenancy (Amendment) Act of 1955 were declared protected tenants. Landlords have a right to resume land for personal cultivation from them to the extent of two acres of wet land or four acres of dry land in Kashmir Province and four acres of wet land or six acres of dry land in Jammu Province. However, where the holding of a landlord exceeds four acres of wet land or six acres of dry land in Kashmir Province and six acres of wet land or eight acres of dry land in Jammu Province, the protected tenant will have to be left with a minimum area of two to six acres.

The maximum rent payable by tenants owning more than 12½ acres is not to exceed one-fourth of the gross produce for wet lands and one-third for dry lands. In the case of other tenants it is not to exceed half of the gross produce. Ceiling on holdings has been fixed at 22½ acres. This limit applies to lands owned by proprietors.

The Government propose to import only nine lakh maunds of foodgrains (rice five lakh maunds and wheat four lakh maunds) during the year 1958 Oct. to 1959 Oct.

INDUSTRY, MINERALS

Woolen textile manufacturing is the biggest single industry in the State. It gives employment to about 800,000 people, including both part-time and whole-time workers. Kashmir woolens, such as shawls, carpets, namdas and gabbas have a world-wide popularity. During the 18th and 19th centuries especially Kashmir shawls had a wide demand in England, and, as it was expressed at the time, 'adorned the proudest beauties in Europe and the rest of the world.'

Next in importance comes the silk industry. Kashmir siltures are the largest in the world for a single unit of production, and produce one of the finest quality silks.

Silk worm rearers number about 60,000. The total number of persons employed would be over 100,000 and the number dependent on the silk industry would be about a million. The industry is run by a Government department.

A joinery mill has been set up in Kashmir. The factory is a unique venture, as very few such industries exist outside Europe and North America. The factory has an installed capacity for the manufacture of 36,000 doors and 36,000 windows which on an average should mean a turn-over of goods worth Rs. 35 lakhs per year.

Two other factories set up are a tannery and a carpet factory.

Papier-mache, silver-ware, and wood-carving are among the other minor industries of the State.

The industrial co-operatives include carpet weaving, pashmina weaving and embroidery, chain stitch weaving, tapestry weaving, wood carving and papier-mache. The total value of the goods sold by the Induscos in one year is about Rs. 3 lakhs.

Production centres of calico printing, khadi, wooden articles, hand-made paper etc. have been recently started at various places in both the Provinces.

The production of some industries is given below: Government woollen mills (1955-57): Yarn, 3,84,945 lbs.; cloth, 2,03,892 yds.; total sales: Rs. 12,50,242.

Sericulture (Government) (1954-55): Raw silk, 3,45,340 lbs.; bye-products, 1,27,898 lbs.

Drug Research Laboratory (1955-56): Spirituous, non-spirituous ampoules, tablets, etc., value Rs. 6,84,294.

Government Silk Weaving Factory (1955-56): Georgetown crepe, 3,29,870 yds., value Rs. 14,84,415.

Government Joinery Mills (1955-56): Windows, doors, flooring, ceiling, sales Rs. 3 lakhs.

Match Factory, Baramulla (1954-55): Gross boxes of matches 92,265, value Rs. 5,88,189-6-0.

Tanneries (Government) (1956-57): Leather goods, 1,200 mds. of tanned hides, 2,000 pairs of shoes; sales Rs. 1,10,200.

The total no. of factories in the State: 47. Total labour: 5,060.

Total no. of workers in cottage industries: about 14,500.

Woolen manufactures, silks, forest products such as timber, herbs, some chemicals, furs and skins, and fruit and vegetables are the main items of export, whereas foodstuffs, textiles, sugar and tea, spices and hardware form the main imports into the State.

The following is a list of the minerals found in the State: Coal, Lignite (possibilities of petroleum), Bauxite, Iron ore, Copper ore, Lead, Zinc, Nickel ore, Manganese, Gold, Arsenic, Chromite, Ochre, Gypsum, Graphite, Kaoline, Bentonite, Fuller's Earth, Marble, Slate, Steatite, Turpentine, Barytes, Corundum (Sapphire and Ruby), Beryl and Aquamarine and Tourmaline. There are other minerals too, suitable for glass manufacture. But it is not known, whether the exploitation of all these minerals is an economic proposition. Coal, Lignite and Iron ore are supposed to be in existence in fairly large quantities.

Tertiary coal deposits in Jammu occupy an important position in the economy of north India. The two fields are Jangal Gali about 40 miles from Jammu and Kalakot about 76 miles from Jammu.

Soap stone, barytes and china clay are worked by the Mining Department of the State and products sent to the Government Paint and Mineral Factory at Jammu. The total production during 1956 was 100 tons. Number of workers, 15.

The sapphire mines are about 200 miles from Jammu and are not worked at present.

Gypsum deposits occur in areas 75 to 100 miles from Jammu. A Plaster of Paris factory is being established by private business men.

The bentonite deposits which occur about 40 miles from Jammu are not worked at present. In the past a few hundred tons were raised every year. There are plans for re-starting the mines.

Power Schemes: During the First Five-Year Plan, the Rs. 2.30 crore Hindh Hydro-electric Project was completed and the production of electric power increased from 5,110 kWs. to 11,461 kWs. Besides, 1,500 kWs. were purchased from the Punjab Government. In the Second Five-Year Plan 17,385 additional kWs. of energy will be generated. Out of this about 16,000 kWs. will be utilized in industry.

The new schemes undertaken in the Second Five Year Plan are Ganderbal Power House Extension of 9,000 kW and Extension to Mohora Power Station, 9,000 kW. Both are expected to be completed by 1960-61.

The purchase of power from Jogindernagar, Punjab has further been augmented by 2,000 kWs. more. This has improved the power position in Jammu. Besides electrification of Samba, Kathua and Aknur, 67 rural areas have been supplied with electric energy. Power has also been supplied to about two dozen tube-wells and dug wells.

Tourism in the State: Tourist traffic is one of the main sources of income both to the State and the people.

During 1956-57, the number of tourists who visited the State touched the record figure of 70,000. This is more than a four-fold increase in the number of visitors who came to the State in 1947.

Great efforts have been made by the State to develop this traffic to the maximum possible extent and attract more and more tourists to this place.

To further stimulate tourist traffic, a Reception Hall at Srinagar and a number of Dak Bungalows at various places have been built, and more beauty spots are being opened up.

The new Banihal Tunnel which has been thrown open to traffic, will, besides making a profound influence on the economy and social life of Kashmir, encourage tourist traffic in the winter also as the road will no longer be snow-bound.

The permit system for travel between India and Pakistan was abolished on 15th April 1959.

EDUCATION

Education was declared free throughout the State from Primary to the University stage, in the year 1953. This has resulted in an increase of about 70 per cent in the budget for education. Over 1.5 lakh students have benefited by this reform.

During the Plan period education in the Jammu and Kashmir State progressed by big strides and the whole structure and content of the primary and secondary education was re-organised. The following table will show the number of institutions:

Primary schools ..	2,270	2,426
Secondary schools ..	306	366
Colleges ..	12	12

Against the total number of scholars attending educational institutions in the year 1951-52 which was 1,32,000, the number went up to 2,00,000 in 1958. The status of a number of institutions was raised. In 1957 a Polytechnic was also opened at Srinagar.

The target for the Second Five-Year Plan would be the opening of 1,500 basic activity schools, conversion of 40 high schools into higher secondary schools and 200 primary schools into senior basic schools, establishing of a separate training college for women and opening of six post-matric training schools. The largest number of the existing primary schools have to be converted into the basic pattern and the present teachers are to be refreshed with the modern technique of education.

Another target is the expansion of the inspectional agency and to remodel collegiate education on the pattern adopted by the Government of India and to strengthen the staff of the primary and secondary schools and colleges. The Government has sanctioned a construction programme for providing sufficient accommodation in schools, costing about Rs. 40 lakhs.

In 1958 two industrial training institutes one at Jammu and the other at Srinagar, were opened. The polytechnic has been reorganised. The result of the Educational Survey of the State, districtwise and statewide is expected to be ready shortly. Great progress has been made in the field of physical education like games and inter-school competitions in sports. Scout-movement has been revived in the State.

(For detailed statistical information on education in the State, see tables under the main article on Education).

ROAD DEVELOPMENT

In respect of means of communication the State was very backward having a very poor road system. Before the Plan was taken in hand there were 2.5 miles of road per 100 sq. miles and only one mile of road per 2,000 of population. There were only 1,000 miles of motor road, 427 miles of jeep track and 2,400 miles of bridle path.

During the Plan Period, 425 miles of new road were constructed, 482 miles of existing roads improved and over 20 major bridges of 7,000 ft. aggregate length constructed.

In the Second Plan the target set is construction and development of 820 miles and upgrading of 740 miles of roads and the building of 19 major bridges.

Jawahar Tunnel: More than one and half miles in length and located at 7,250 feet above sea level, the Jawahar Tunnel, is actually two tunnels in one. When complete, each of its tubes will carry traffic in one direction. For this purpose each tube will have ten feet and six inches wide concrete road-way, a four feet wide footpath on one side and two feet wide kerb on the other.

The tunnel is designed to carry 250 vehicles per hour.

The western tube of Jawahar Tunnel was to be permanently thrown open to traffic from Sunday, December 21, 1958. The first batch of vehicles was expected to enter the tube from the south at 4.00 p.m. on that day.

The opening of the western tube to traffic permanently would provide an all-weather artery between the two wings of Jammu-Kashmir State and between the Valley of Kashmir and the rest of India. The Tunnel will bring Jammu and Srinagar closer by 18 miles.

PUBLIC HEALTH

There are two central hospitals at Srinagar (450 beds) and Jammu (250 beds), two tuberculosis hospitals at Srinagar (100 beds) and Jammu (70 beds).

Number of Sanatoria: 2. (One at Tangmarg with 63 beds (35 paid) and one at Balote with 30 free beds).

No. of District Hospitals: 7. Each has a bed strength of 30 with arrangements for anti-rabic treatment. Pathological, gynaecological, surgical, laboratory and dental treatment is also provided.

No. of dispensaries: 445 (Allopathic); 84 (Ayurvedic); 69 (Unani).

One more T.B. clinic has been opened in Srinagar.

There are two central laboratories attached to the two central hospitals.

Mass campaigns against malaria, typhus, tuberculosis and venereal diseases continue successfully in various parts of the State. The B.C.G. campaign has almost completed the first round except in a few tahsils which will be covered in the remaining two years.

A medical registration council, pharmacy registration tribunal and a drug advisory board have been set up in the State. A State medical faculty has been formed for the control and conduct of para medical examination.

There is a lady visitors' training school for training 15 candidates every year.

There are two ancillary medical training schools one in Srinagar and the other in Jammu attached to the two central hospitals, where nurses, mid-wives, sanitary inspectors and laboratory, X-ray and dental technicians are trained.

There is a mental hospital with modern equipment and 50 beds at Srinagar.

For the treatment of the local population 1,000 first aid boxes have been distributed through the N.E.S. department in several parts of the State.

There are two mobile medical units in the State one for eye diseases and the other for general surgical treatment. Two family planning centres have been opened.

No. of maternity and child welfare centres: One.

There are 10 health centres in the State, where X-ray, dental and surgical treatment is provided and steps have been taken to provide anti-rabic treatment.

CO-OPERATION

The figures relate to 1957-58:

The total no. of societies: 1,589; no. of members: 217,830; working capital: Rs. 297 lakhs.

The table below gives the details:

Name	Number of Societies	Members	Working Capital
Agricultural Credit (Ltd.) Societies (Multi-purpose)	477	174,809	Rs. 82,69,608

Deposits in J. & K. State Co-operative Bank: Rs. 6,98,419; Share Capital: Rs. 15,42,800; Reserve and other funds: Rs. 2,98,250.

About 40 per cent of the families are in the co-operative fold.

BUDGET ESTIMATES FOR 1958-59

(See under 'Late Particulars')

HOUSING

A Housing Board under the Chairmanship of the Prime Minister, Jammu and Kashmir deals with housing schemes in the State.

A sum of Rs. 95,00,000 has been allocated by the Government of India for the Low Income Group Housing and Industrial Housing Schemes under the Second Five-Year Plan.

One hundred and fifty quarters have been built in the newly established townships of Gandhinagar, Jammu (104 quarters), and Jawaharnagar, Srinagar (50 quarters), on Government account. About 150 houses have been constructed for the low-income group in both the townships.

The cost of the building of each class of house is about Rs. 4,500, 3,500, 3,000 and 2,500 respectively as specified for the different classes of loanees.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

The amount given by the Centre to the State during 1958-59 upto Sept. 1958 under the Community Projects and N.E.S. schemes totalled Rs. 27.54 lakhs including Rs. 12.57 lakhs as loan and Rs. 14.97 lakhs as grant.

The distinction between N.E.S. and Community Development Blocks has been abolished with effect from April 1, 1958.

FIVE-YEAR PLANS

The Government of the State revised the First Five-Year Plan to meet the genuine requirements and needs of the people. The provision for the Plan was raised from Rs. 700.00 lakhs to Rs. 973.21 lakhs in the Central Sector and from Rs. 300.00 lakhs to Rs. 300.94 lakhs in the case of the State Sector.

The State's Second Five Year Plan is estimated to involve a total outlay of Rs. 3,302.07 lakhs as against Rs. 1,274.2 lakhs of the First Five-Year Plan. The Plan gives high precedence to the development of agriculture and industry and the expansion of educational and medical facilities. It is estimated that employment opportunities to the tune of 14.85 lakh man-months will be created during the Plan-Period.

POLITICAL DEVELOPMENTS

The Jammu and Kashmir State acceded to India on October 26, 1947. The offer of accession was made by the Maharaja supported by the leadership of the biggest political party of the State, the National Conference. The Maharaja invited Sheikh Mohammad Abdullah, President of the All Jammu and Kashmir National Conference, to form an interim Government, and to carry on the administration of the State. The interim Government later changed into a full-fledged Cabinet, with Sheikh Abdullah as the first popular Prime Minister.

The Maharaja handed over power to his 21-year-old son, Yuvraj Karan Singh, who formally took over as Regent on June 20, 1949.

For the first time in history, the people of Kashmir elected a sovereign Constituent Assembly which met in Srinagar in October-November 1951.

On November 20, 1951 was promulgated the Jammu and Kashmir Constitution (Amendment) Act which amended 42 Sections of 78 clauses of the old constitution. By this the State attained complete and unfettered responsible democratic government.

The new enactment transferred power from the ruler to the popular Government and gave legal recognition to the principle of full, responsible Government which, in theory only, was enforced by the Maharaja's proclamation of March 6, 1948.

The Sadar-i-Riyasat dismissed the cabinet headed by Sheikh Abdullah on August 9, 1953. The reasons for this action were that the "Cabinet was lacking in unity of purpose and action and had lost the confidence of the people; the economic distress of the people had considerably increased which needed prompt and serious attention; the process of honest and efficient administration had become impracticable; and the functioning of the Cabinet on the basis of joint responsibility had become impossible and the resultant conflicts had gravely jeopardised the unity, prosperity and stability of the State".

Sheikh Abdullah is at present standing trial in the Court of Special Magistrate in Jammu under section 121-A of the R.P.C. for "conspiracy to overthrow the Government by use of criminal force".

It is estimated that in 1957 and 1958 there were 91 bomb explosions through sabotage. Twenty-two arrests (including 9 Pakistan security personnel and 10 enemy agents) were made.

CONSTITUTION

A Constitution was finally approved and adopted unanimously on November 17. It came into effect on January 26, 1957.

The Constitution declares the State of Jammu and Kashmir to be "an integral part of the Union of India."

The territory of the State will comprise all the territories which on August 15, 1947, were under the sovereignty or suzerainty of the Ruler of the State.

The executive and legislative power of the State will extend to all matters except those with respect to which Parliament has powers to make laws for the State under the provisions of the Constitution of India.

The Directive Principles of the Constitution lay down that the prime object of the State should be the promotion of the welfare of the mass of the people by establishing and preserving a socialist order of society wherein all exploitation of man has been abolished and wherein justice—social, economic and political—informs all the institutions of national life.

Every person who is, or is deemed to be, a citizen of India shall be a permanent resident of the State, if on the 14th of May, 1954 he was a State subject of Class I or of Class II or having lawfully acquired immovable property in the State, he has been ordinarily resident in the State for not less than 10 years prior to that date. Any person who, before the fourteenth day of May, 1954, was a State Subject of Class I or of Class II and who, having migrated after the first day of March, 1947, to the territory now included in Pakistan, returns to the State under a permit for re-settlement in the State or for permanent return issued by or under the authority or any law made by the State Legislature will on such return be a permanent resident of the State. The permanent residents will have all the rights guaranteed to them under the Constitution of India.

The Constitution lays down that the Executive of the State should consist of the Sadar-i-Riyasat who will be elected by a majority of the total membership of the Legislative Assembly. He will hold office during the pleasure of the President. The executive power of the State will be vested in him and shall be exercised by him. The Sadar-i-Riyasat will hold office for a term of five years.

The Council of Ministers will be collectively responsible to the Legislative Assembly. The Prime Minister will be the head of the Council of Ministers.

The Legislature of the State will consist of the Sadar-i-Riyasat and two Houses, to be known respectively as the Legislative Assembly and the Legislative Council. The Legislative Assembly will consist of one hundred members chosen by direct election from territorial constituencies in the State.

Twenty-five seats in the Legislative Assembly will remain vacant to be filled by representatives of people living in Pakistan-occupied areas of the State.

Seats have been reserved for Scheduled Castes in the Legislative Assembly. This provision will cease to have effect on the expiration of five years from the commencement of the Constitution.

The Legislative Council will consist of 36 members. Eleven members will be elected by the members of the Legislative Assembly from amongst persons who are residents of the Province of Kashmir, provided that of the members so elected at least one shall be a resident of Tehsil Ladakh and at least one a resident of Tehsil Kargil, the two outlying areas of the State. Eleven members will be elected by the members of the Legislative Assembly from amongst persons who are residents of the Jammu Province. Of the remaining 14 members, 6 will be elected by various electorates, such as municipal councils, educational institutions, etc., 2 will be elected by Panchayats and such other local bodies and 6 will be nominated by the Sadar-i-Riyasat.

The fixation of parity in membership of the Legislative Council as between Kashmir and Jammu is very significant and important as the population of Kashmir is much larger than that of Jammu.

The High Court of the State will consist of a Chief Justice and two or more other judges. Every judge of the High Court will be appointed by the President after consultation with the Chief Justice of India and the Sadar-i-Riyasat, and in the case of appointment of a judge other than the Chief Justice, the Chief Justice of the High Court.

There will be a Public Service Commission for the State. The Commission along with its Chairman will be appointed by the Sadar-i-Riyasat.

The superintendence, direction and control of the preparation of the electoral rolls for the election will be vested in an Election Commissioner appointed by the Sadar-i-Riyasat. There will be one general electoral roll for every territorial constituency and elections will be on the basis of adult franchise.

Every member of the civil service or one holding a civil post will hold office under the pleasure of the Sadar-i-Riyasat.

The official language of the State will be Urdu, but English will, unless the Legislature by law otherwise provides, continue to be used for all official purposes of the State.

There will be an Academy of Arts, Culture and Language in the State where opportunities will be afforded for the development of art and culture of the State and for the development of its languages.

The Constitution can be amended by the introduction of a Bill in the Legislative Assembly and passed in each House by a majority of not less than two-thirds of the total membership of that House. But no Bill or amendment seeking to make any change in the provisions relating to the relationship of the State with the Union of India, the extent of executive and legislative powers of the State or the provisions of the Constitution of India as applicable in relation to the State shall be introduced or moved in either House of the Legislature.

The emoluments of the Sadar-i-Riyasat will be Rs. 5,500 a month.

Elections: Elections to the new legislature were held in March 1957 under the new Constitution. The National Conference secured 68 seats in the 75 member Legislative Assembly and formed the Government in July 1957.

Later some members of the National Conference Parliamentary party seceded from the main body and formed a separate party, called the Democratic National Conference. The strength of the different political parties in the Assembly is:—

National Conference 56; Democratic National Conference 13; Praja Parishad 5; Harijan Mandal 1.

In the 36 member Legislative Council, there are 30 elected and 6 nominated members.

LOCAL BODIES

The Municipal Councils and Town Area Committees now consist wholly of elected representatives. The powers of the Municipal Councils have been increased. Similar changes have been brought about in the case of Town Area Committees.

Financial condition of the local bodies has improved. Income of local bodies in Srinagar has increased from Rs. 10.41 lakhs per annum to Rs. 16 lakhs and in Jammu from Rs. 33,448 per annum to Rs. 10 lakhs.

Names of the Town Area Committees, their previous income and their income since 1954 respectively are given below: Anantnag, Rs. 40,000; Rs. 1,40,000; Baramulla, Rs. 30,000; About Rs. 70,000; Sopore, Rs. 40,000; About Rs. 1,00,000; Udhampur, Rs. 20,000; About Rs. 40,000; Samba, Rs. 15,000; Over Rs. 20,000; Reasi, Rs. 12,000; over Rs. 20,000.

Contributory provident fund has been introduced for the employees of local bodies.

Public Service Commission: The Sadar-i-Riyasat appointed a Public Service Commission which was empowered to conduct examinations for appointments to civil service and advise the Government on all matters relating to methods of recruitment and principles of appointment to civil services and civil posts.

Academy of Culture and Arts: In pursuance of the provisions of the Constitution, an Academy of Culture and Arts was set up in 1958 with the objective of promoting Art and Culture and Regional Languages of the State. The Academy has taken up translation into Urdu of the famous book on history—the Rajatarangini, written by Kalhana in Sanskrit in the 12th century.

GOVERNMENT

Kerala is the only State in India ruled by a non-Congress Party. The strength of the party in power, the Communist Party, in the legislature is 64 in a house of 126 members excluding the Speaker, who was also a member of the Communist Party.

The Ministry headed by Mr. E. M. S. Namboodiripad assumed office on April 5, 1957. There is a woman member in the Cabinet Smt. Gouri Thomas.

The Government constituted in 1957 an Administrative Reforms Committee with the Chief Minister Mr. E. M. S. Namboodiripad as Chairman to inquire into the working of the administrative machinery existing at that time and the systems and procedures under which it was functioning with a view to assessing their adequacy and devising measures for improving the efficiency of the machinery. The Committee has submitted its report embodying recommendations for enhancing efficiency and for the devolution and decentralisation of powers with special emphasis on Panchayats.

* The totals of the area and population were worked out in office. They are not official.

New land legislation has been passed by the Assembly. The bill, which went through a Select Committee, is based broadly on the recommendations of the Land Reforms Panel of the Planning Commission, proposes to confer on the permanent tenant ownership rights of the land he tills on payment of purchase price, fix fair rents and a ceiling on land holdings.

The measure has fixed the maximum holding at 15 acres of double crop land or its equivalent and draws up maximum and minimum rates of fair rent. Excess lands are to be surrendered to the Government and compensation will be paid.

Land tribunals are to be constituted to fix fair rents.

The cost of production and land revenue tax are to be borne by the tenant.

The quantum of compensation has been fixed at 16 times the annual fair rent or two and two-thirds of the annual gross produce. This is payable in instalments.

Pending legislation, the Government has banned all eviction of tenants. Occupants of Government lands will also not be evicted if they had occupied the lands before April 26, 1957.

The Government of Kerala issued an order on January 7, 1958, empowering the Collectors to compel holders of waste or arable land to cultivate it with food crops either personally or through lessees.

The order called the "Kerala Land Utilization" Order, 1958, was issued under the Essential Commodities Act of the Centre and with the prior approval of the Central Government.

An experiment, the first of its kind in Kerala, to reconstruct the villages on Sarvodaya lines, was launched on November 24, 1957 with the inauguration by the Governor of Kerala of 27 gram panchayats to take charge of the Gramdan villages around Malayalil, 22 miles from Trivandrum. According to the organizers, over 1,000 families in 30 villages had surrendered their lands and come forward to establish a new social order based on Sarvodaya.

The Kerala Education Bill was passed by the Kerala Legislative Assembly on September 2, 1957 and was sent to the Central Government for the President's assent. The Union Home Ministry decided to refer the Bill to the Supreme Court for its opinion on certain controversial clauses of the measure.

The Bill, the main object of which is to protect the rights and privileges of teachers, lays down that the teachers' salaries even in private aided schools should be paid by the Government directly. Recruitment of teachers will be by the Public Service Commission. The Bill also seeks to bring about equality in the conditions of service of the teachers in all schools, Government and private, to secure authority for Government to proceed against grossly mismanaged schools and to take over any category of schools if Government are convinced of the desirability of such action in the interests of education. The private schools however have the option to waive Government grants and function only as recognised schools without the regulations regarding recruitment and payment of salaries.

The Supreme Court which gave its opinion on May 22, 1958 held that the power to take over the management of certain schools which the Bill vested in the Government and the provision that no fee should be charged in primary schools offended against the Constitution.

The Education Bill, as modified in the light of the Supreme Court opinion, obtained the President's assent in February 1959.

Pursuant to the decision of the Government for the progressive adoption of Malayalam as the official language of Kerala, a committee was constituted in August 1957 to submit recommendations in the matter. The Committee submitted its report in August 1958 recommending that the change over should be effected in stages in the course of the next seven years starting with 17 Departments which have day-to-day contact with the public.

KERALA FINANCIAL CORPORATION

K.F.C. Buildings, Vellayambalam, Trivandrum-1

The Kerala Financial Corporation was established under the State Financial Corporations Act, 1951, on 1st Dec. 1952, with an authorized capital of Rs. 2 crores divided into 200,000 shares of Rs. 100 each and an issued, subscribed and paid-up capital of Rs. 1 crore divided into 100,000 shares of Rs. 100 each. The Corporation was started with the object of making available long term credits to industrial concerns in Kerala in need of financial assistance and thereby quickening the pace of industrialisation of the State.

The shares of the Corporation were distributed among the various classes of shareholders as follows as on 31st March, 1958:—

State Government 60,415 Shares.

Reserve Bank of India 15,750 Shares.

Scheduled Banks, Co-operative Banks, Insurance Companies, Investment Trusts, and other financial institutions 22,290 Shares.

Parties other than those referred to above 2,045 Shares.

Total No. of applications received till March 31, 1958 : 123; Total amount applied for: Rs. 2,48,47,400; Total No. of applications disposed of : 97; Total amount of loan sanctioned: Rs. 1,59,46,300; Total amount disbursed: Rs. 1,33,32,850; Total amount of instalments received: Rs. 34,08,183.59.

The Corporation charges an interest on all its loans and advances at the rate of 7 per cent, subject to a rebate of 1 per cent for prompt repayment of all instalments. Hence the effective rate of interest levied by the Corporation is 6½ per cent.

During the year ended 31-3-1958, the Corporation earned a gross profit of Rs. 5,93,829.61 nP. The total expenses during the same period amounted to Rs. 1,07,830.69 nP. After providing Rs. 2,72,317 towards income-tax and corporation tax, and setting apart Rs. 24,300 for the reserve fund, the Corporation had at its disposal Rs. 1,89,382.37 nP. whereas the total amount of guaranteed dividend payable by it for the year ended 31-3-1958 was Rs. 3,60,000. The Corporation was therefore obliged to call upon the State Government to give a subvention for the balance of Rs. 1,60,617.63 to make up the guaranteed dividend.

On 21st March 1958, the Corporation issued 4½ per cent 10 Year Bonds for the face value of Rs. 50 lakhs, repayable in 1968 in consultation with the State Government and the Reserve Bank of India. The Bonds, repayment of which with interest fully guaranteed by the State Government, were oversubscribed before closing of the issue on March 31, 1958. The Corporation has retained subscriptions in respect of Bonds for the face value of Rs. 55 lakhs only.

Number of goods vehicles: 4,009.

The following three figures represent the average for September 1958:

Mileage operated per day by buses: 62,013.

Mileage operated per day by lorries: 1,927.

Number of persons transported per day: 1,70,584.

Total amount of goods carried: 25 lorries of 5 tons each a day.

The pay scales of 3,000 odd State Transport employees were revised in June 1957 fixing the lowest grade of an employee at Rs. 30 to Rs. 50 as against Rs. 20 existing before.

POWER PROJECTS

Projects in Operation

Pallivasal 1st stage: In the high ranges in Devikulam below Munnar. Started in 1940. Installed capacity 13,500 kW.

Pallivasal 2nd stage: In the high ranges in Devikulam. The work was started in 1944 and was completed in 1956-57. Estimated cost of the project—Rs. 205 lakhs. Installed capacity of the 1st stage increased to 37,500 kW. Actual production during 1957-58: 251 million units.

At Madupatti in Kerala the waters of a tributary of the Periyar are again harnessed for the generation of electricity at Pallivasal.

Sengulam Hydro-Electric Scheme: The power station is located at Vellathuvai below Pallivasal in Devikulam. The installed capacity is 48,000 kW. The project was commenced in 1947. The work was completed in 1955 and all the generating sets have been commissioned for service. Estimated cost of the scheme is Rs. 564.73 lakhs. Production during 1957-58: 145 million units.

Poringalkuthu Hydro-Electric Scheme: The power station is located at Poringalkuthu on the Chalakudy river in Trichur District. The installed capacity now is 24,000 kW. The works connected with the project were started in 1947 and were completed in May 1957. The estimated cost is Rs. 359.30 lakhs. Production during 1957-58: 45 million units.

Projects in Execution

Poringalkuthu Hydro-Electric Scheme 2nd Stage: Extension to the existing station by installing one more set of 8,000 kW involving an expenditure of Rs. 40 lakhs. The work is now in progress.

Neriamangalam Hydro-Electric Scheme: The power station is located at Panankutty on the right bank of the Periyar river. The installed capacity will be three units of 15,000 kW each. Work was started in January 1956 and the various works connected with the scheme are in progress. Estimated cost is Rs. 290 lakhs.

Pannier Hydro-Electric Scheme: The power house is to be located on the left bank of the Mudhirapuzha river almost opposite to the Sengulam power house. The installed capacity will be two sets of 15,000 kW each. The estimated cost is Rs. 295 lakhs. The work is in progress.

Main forest produce: Timber, Firewood, Charcoal, Bamboo, Reeds, etc.

Quantity of each variety: Timber 25,95,778 cubic feet; Firewood 24,069 tons.

TRANSPORT

Total mileage of roads: 10,739 miles.

Metalled roads: 3,089 miles.

National highways: 276 miles

Total mileage of waterways: About 1,100 miles.

Total number of aerodromes: Two.

Number of broadcasting stations: 2.

Transport has been partly nationalised in the State.

Sholayar Hydro-Electric Scheme: This scheme is located on the bank of the Sholayar river, a tributary of the Chalakudy river in Trichur District. The generating station will have three sets each of 18,000 kW capacity. The estimated cost of the scheme is Rs. 391 lakhs. The preliminary works connected with the scheme have been started.

Pamba Hydro-Electric Project 1st stage: On the bank of Kakkiar, a tributary of Pambayar in Quilon District. The preliminary works connected with the first stage of the project have been started. The first stage works with an estimated capacity of 100,000 kW involving an expenditure of Rs. 965 lakhs.

The proposals to construct two reservoirs one in Pambayar and the other in Kakkiar and to install generators in an underground powerhouse near Kakkiar. Six vertical sets of 50,000 kW each will be installed. The cost of the scheme excluding transmission lines is Rs. 2,080 lakhs.

All the above schemes are programmed under the Second Five Year Plan of the State. The plan also includes provision for investigation of idikli and other hydro-electric schemes and the construction of new transmission lines, sub-stations and distribution lines.

Estimated rise in output by the end of the Second Plan: On the completion of the Second Five Year Plan the total installed capacity of the Hydro-electric stations will be 246,500 kW, as against 109,753 kW at present. The corresponding rise in the potential generating capacity will be from 560 million units to 1,300 million units per annum.

Organisation: An Electricity Board was set up for the State from 1st April 1957 under the provisions of the Electricity Supply Act, 1948.

IRRIGATION

Major Irrigation Schemes: The following are the major irrigation projects:

Name of Scheme.	Estimated cost in Rs. lakhs	Area to be served in acres
1. Peechi Scheme ..	235.00	46,000
2. Chalakudy Scheme— (1st stage) ..	153.85	48,650
(2nd stage) ..	60.00
3. Wadakkancherry (Vashani) Scheme	107.57	12,800
4. Neyyar Scheme— (1st stage) ..	146.00	34,100
(2nd stage) ..	108.00
5. The Kuttanad Development Scheme— Spillway ..	57.65	121,000
6. Malampuzha Project	527.75	47,600
7. Walayar Project ..	116.66	8,000
8. Mangalam Reservoir ..	97.51	6,000
9. Periyar Valley Scheme	348.00	68,800
10. Cheerakuzhy ..	47.34	4,000
11. Meenpara (1st Stage)	88.00	7,500
(2nd Stage)	47.00	3,200

Of the above schemes the Peechi Irrigation Project situated 15 miles south east of Trichur was completed in 1957.

The Chalakudy Irrigation Project 1st stage, 10 miles east of Chalakudy was started in 1950 and completed in 1954 at a cost of Rs. 153.35 lakhs. The area benefited is 28,400 acres.

The Kuttanad Development Scheme, situated 12 miles south of Alleppey, was started in 1951 and completed in 1954 at a cost of Rs. 57.65 lakhs. The area benefited is 1,21,000 acres.

Works under construction:

Chalakudy Irrigation Project (2nd Stage). Started in 1956. Area expected to be irrigated is 20,250 acres. Probable date of completion: 1960-61.

Vashani Irrigation Project, six miles east of Wadakkancherry, was started in 1950.

Neyyar Irrigation Project (1st Stage), 16 miles south-east of Trivandrum, was started in 1951. The area to be irrigated will be 15,000 acres.

Neyyar Irrigation Project (2nd Stage), six miles east of Wadakkancherry, was started in 1956. Area to be irrigated will be 19,100 acres. Probable date of completion: 1961.

Malampuzha Irrigation Project, eight miles east of Palghat, was started in 1949.

Walayar Irrigation Project, 12 miles east of Palghat, was started in 1954.

Mangalam Irrigation Project, 20 miles south east of Palghat, was started in 1953.

Periyar Valley Scheme, 30 miles south east of Alwaye, was started in 1956.

Cheerakuzhy Irrigation Project, 15 miles north east of Wadakkancherry, was started in 1957. Probable date of completion: 1960.

Meenpara Irrigation Project, six miles east of Kollengode, was started in 1956 and is expected to be completed in 1958-60.

Three more major irrigation schemes were taken up for execution during the year 1957-58. They are Kuttanad Development Scheme (Salt Water Barrier at Thannirmukkom), Pothundy and Kattampally. The details of these schemes are as follows:—

Kuttanad Development Scheme (Salt Water Barrier at Thannirmukkom).

Location: 12 miles north of Alleppey; Nearest Railway Station: Cochin; When started: 1958; Cost: Rs. 150 lakhs; Area to be benefited: 1,21,000 acres.

Pothundy Irrigation Project:

Location: 20 miles south of Palghat; Nearest Railway Station: Palghat; When started: 1958; Cost: Rs. 88 lakhs; Area to be benefited: 9,128 acres.

Kattampally Project:

Location: 8 miles west of Cannannore; Nearest Railway Station: Cannannore; When started: 1958; Cost: Rs. 28.63 lakhs; Area to be benefited: 4,000 acres. Expected to be completed in 1960-61.

Lift Irrigation Works: Extensive lands are located on a higher level from the rivers by the side of Chalakudy, Periyar, Muvattupuzha and Pampa. A series of schemes have been started by the Government whereby water is lifted from rivers by means of electric pumps and led on to the fields through channels.

About 2,000 items of minor irrigation works are being attended to annually in aid of the G.M.F. Programme.

In 1954-55 minor and lift irrigation works in the State were transferred to the Panchayat Department. This work has been started on a mass and intensive scale in furtherance of the G.M.F. campaign.

Land Reclamation: Area of land reclaimed by State Tractor Organisation: About 50,000 acres.

Land Tenure: There are a number of land tenure systems in the State. Janmam lands, Pandaram, Kenappattam, Verumpattam, etc., are some of these.

Edavagil Abolition Act abolished special tenancy rights of four ancient chieftains and conferred full rights on tenants. This bill was part of one of seven bills viz. Special Rights Abolition Bills.

With the reorganisation of States, in Nov. 1956 the Government of India took over the administration of the Laccadive, Minicoy and Amindivi group of Islands, a small sprawling group of coral islands in the Arabian Sea, lying between the latitudes of 8° and 12° north lat.

They now constitute a Union Territory under an Administrator.

Ten of the islands are inhabited out of a total number of 19. Minicoy, Kalpeni, Kavarathy, Agathy and Androth lie in the Laccadive group and Ameni, Kadamath, Kiltan, Chetlat and Bitra in the Amindivi group.

Before the reorganisation, the Laccadive and Minicoy Islands were part of Malabar District and the Amindivi Islands, of South Kanara District, forming part of the former composite State of Madras.

The administration of the islands was carried on by the Collectors of Malabar and South Kanara.

The islands lie from north to south, Minicoy being the southernmost and Chetlat the northernmost. They are within 20 to 114 miles away from one another except Ameni and Kadamath which are only six miles apart. They are 125 to 250 miles off the Malabar and South Kanara coast.

The area and population of the inhabited islands are given according to the latest census, which also show that the density of population is high. There is thus no scope for colonisation in the small satellite islands on any appreciable scale.

All the inhabitants of the Islands are Muslims. Originally Hindus, from Malabar (except for Minicoites) the islanders appear to have been converted to Islam sometime in the sixteenth century. In appearance, mode of dress, manners and customs, the islanders, except those from Minicoy, are indistinguishable from the Moplahs of Malabar. Their dialect is old Malayalam, with local variations peculiar to each island. The Minicoites are more akin to the inhabitants of the Maldives and their language, Mahli, is said to be allied to primitive Sinhalese. In appearance too they are strikingly different from the inhabitants of the Laccadives and the Amindivi. Their customs and manners are also different.

The inhabitants of the Laccadives can be divided into three classes the Koyas, Malmis and Melacheris, the first are landed classes, the second sailors or fishermen and the third are small tenants or belong to the servant class.

Practically the same distinction of class exists in the Amindivi group and also in Minicoy, where the cast system is even more rigid. The classes here are known as Manikfan, Malmis, Thakrus and Raveris.

Mainly as a result of isolation, the islanders have remained backward economically, though in point of intelligence and initiative they are in no way inferior to the Moplahs of Malabar. They have been declared 'Scheduled Tribes' but in reality are far more advanced than similar tribes elsewhere.

The islanders have never had what may be described as benevolent rule. Patriarchal Government prevailed from the earliest known times, and all authority vested in a chief assisted by a Panchayat formed by members from leading families. This form of Government exists in a modified form to this day. In an intermediate period when they came under the sway of the Cannanore Rajahs, the administration fell virtually into the hands of the latter's paid agents who practised a regular system of extortion which did not relax even when native islanders were appointed to the posts.

In the islands formerly administered from South Kanara, the British Government had right from the start, a Resident Manager assisted by Karanis or clerks in every island. This system has taken root and at the moment a Deputy Tahsildar exercises the powers of a Second Class Magistrate, a Police Officer, a Revenue Officer and a Port Officer in the Amindivi. He is also a Civil Judge without monetary limits operating under the customary laws of the islands and is assisted both in his civil and criminal work by Panchayats known as Mukthasars in Ameni and by Moopans in the other islands.

In the Malabar group the present system is based on Amins appointed from among competent and influential islanders, assisted by clerks. Neither post is hereditary. In the place of Mukthasars or Moopans in the Amindivi group there are here Karanavans or assessors to assist the Amins in the administration of civil and criminal justice, which is governed by the Island Regulation of 1912. The Amin is usually selected from Karanavans.

The Island law is a curious mixture of the ordinary Muhammadan law and the Marumakkathayam law of Malabar, a distinction being made between self-acquired and inherited property. In the early years there was no private property in land, but with the increase of population and the resultant pressure on land, a tendency grew among the people to demarcate plots by means of boundaries mentioned in documents. This is now a source of civil litigation among the islanders, which has assumed alarming proportions. Civil disputes in the Laccadive group are decided by Amins in the first instance, while appeals lie to the Secretary to the Administrator and the Administrator.

In the Amindivi group the Civil Procedure Code is applicable to a limited extent, but there are no well defined laws. Consequently much depends upon the interpretation of the customary law, which is no easy matter and is again a source of perpetual litigation.

Criminal Justice is also administered by the Amin in the Laccadive group in accordance with Regulation I of 1912 which endows him with an authority equal to that of a Magistrate of the Third Class on the mainland. Appeals from this decision lie to the Secretary to the Administrator and the Administrator. The Deputy Tahsildar who administers criminal justice in the Amindivi group is a Magistrate of the Second Class under the Criminal Procedure Code and was under the jurisdiction of the District Magistrate Judicial of South Kanara, till the States reorganisation.

Appeals now lie to the Administrator who has been invested with powers of a District and Sessions Judge under the Criminal Procedure Code. First class offences in the Amindivi group will be dealt with by the Secretary to the Administrator who is invested with powers of a First Class Magistrate under the Criminal Procedure Code.

The Union Territory is now under the jurisdiction of the Kerala High Court.

The Government of India have now sanctioned the appointment of Two Tahsildars, one for Minicoy and the other for the Laccadive group with a view to improving the existing administrative machinery.

There is no land tax on any of the islands of the Malabar group but only a tree tax on Government land. On private land no tax is leviable on the trees. Government land is either leased to the community as a whole under the description of Pandaram land or as cowle land where a tax is collected on yielding trees from individuals to whom they are leased. The register of trees maintained by Government is a rough and ready document. Unauthorised excursions into Government cowle land have also opened up a large field of litigation, made possible by the out-of-date measurement books which are all that Government have to go by, in the absence of a proper survey of the islands.

There is also complication in the revenue rates of the islands as they are calculated on a tree basis. There has been no proper demarcation of land and the account relating to the number of trees is only rough and ready.

The total revenue from these sources can never be a large amount, because the occupied area of the islands is only about 10.67 sq. miles. The present average annual income from this source is only about Rs. 20,000.

There is no tax of any kind in the Amindivi group of islands except from two minor leases of Government Pandaram lands and also from court fees, search fee, copying fees, magisterial and customary fines.

The Minicoy Island, which deserves separate mention, pays a lease amount on Pandaram lands, a poll tax of Re. 0-4-0 per unmarried woman, Re. 0-6-0 per unmarried man, and 12 annas per married couple, and two other lease amounts for garden crops and village sites. The poll tax is subject to exceptions.

To set right the existing system of land ownership and collection of taxes it is proposed to conduct a survey of all islands after changing the basis of ownership from one of trees to one of land.

ECONOMY

The major source of income from the islands is however the coir monopoly held by the Government. The islanders are given rice in exchange for coir at depots at the exchange rates fixed by Government from time to time by reference to market rates for coir and rice on the mainland. Government have coir depots in all the islands except Minicoy which is not subject to this monopoly. Islanders are prohibited from selling coir to the public. The object is to ensure the islanders, whose main occupation is coir twisting, a regular supply of rice in exchange for coir, thereby minimising the chances of middlemen interfering in the coir trade.

The only agriculture on the island is coconut cultivation but no scientific approach to the question has ever been made. Over-planting is the rule with the result that there is a decrease in the annual crop. There is also no wide scope for development of food crops on the islands. However attempts are made to cultivate paddy in one or two islands on a small scale.

Proposals for the development of fisheries are under consideration. On Minicoy, the bonite or mass fishing forms an important and valuable industry. There is provision for the expansion of the fishing industry in the island under the Second Five-Year Plan. A sum of Rs. 14.10 lakhs has been set apart for development of fisheries in the islands. The relative schemes are under execution.

The main health problems are the eradication of leprosy and filariasis.

Leprosy is on the increase in two islands, Minicoy and Androth. A leper colony started in 1952 with the aid of a local committee has now been taken over by the Government. The entire expenditure on the maintenance of this colony is now met by the Government.

In Minicoy too there is a leper colony run by Government.

In the Laccadive group, each island has a Government dispensary, with a Civil Assistant Surgeon, a compounder, a maternity assistant, a ward boy and a sweeper.

In the Amindivi group there is a Government dispensary at Amenl in the charge of a Civil Assistant Surgeon which caters for the medical needs of all the five islands. Another dispensary was opened in this group at Kiltan early in 1958.

Three Health Inspectors were also appointed in 1958 to combat the spread of filariasis and other diseases in the islands and to teach the islanders about living hygienically.

There are nine primary schools, one in each island except Bitra where free midday meals and books and slates are given to the students. The schools were under-staffed and the teaching equipment poor. Furniture and buildings were also inadequate. But now adequate staff has been appointed and teaching aids, equipment and furniture have been supplied. Most of the buildings have been repaired and new buildings are under construction.

Lack of proper communication is however the biggest single handicap of the administration. Contacts of officers under the Madras Government with the administration have been as few as once in two years through vessels specially chartered for the purpose when the officers made a hurried inspection tour. The normal communication to the islands is by means of island sailing boats during the months of October to May when the islanders buy all their requirements from the mainland and sell their produce especially copra, coconuts, cadjan leaves, vinegar, palm gur, mas fish and coir in the mainland markets. For the rest of the year the islands are practically cut off from any contact with the mainland. In Minicoy there is a wireless station in other islands there were not even postal facilities. Inter-island communication is also rare because the islanders have more contact with the mainland than among themselves.

A steamer service has been introduced by chartering a power vessel for service to the islands during fair season. A small power launch has also been purchased by the Administration for inter-island communication of touring officials.

Branch post offices have also been established in seven of the islands, which will work only during the fair season.

SECOND FIVE-YEAR PLAN

Immediately after the Government of India took over the administration, a draft Second Five-Year Plan was drawn up involving an expenditure of Rs. 73.95 lakhs as approved by the Planning Commission.

As approved by the Planning Commission, the broad proposals for improvement of these islands under a Second Five-Year Plan, that is, for the three and a half years still left, are as below:

	Rs.
Agriculture and Community Development including development of Fisheries ..	19.69 lakhs
Transport and Communication ..	19.75 "
Industries ..	4.11 "
Education ..	12.40 "
Publicity ..	0.02 "
Public Health ..	16.40 "
Electricity ..	1.00 "
C.P.W.D. ..	0.58 "
Total ..	73.95 "

Under agriculture which on the islands consists mainly of coconut cultivation, the improvements in view are the organisation of demonstration plots, the supply of seedlings at concessional rates, the eradication of coconut disease through a free supply of insecticides, the eradication of rat nuisance, subsidised compost schemes and the introduction of homestead horticulture.

Under veterinary, poultry units have been established in some of the islands and goats of good variety have been sent for improving the breed of goats in the islands.

Fisheries improvement, which is a major development scheme for the islands, consists of mechanised fishing through pable boats in off shore waters, new types of fishing gear, expansion of 'mas' fishing, extraction of shark liver oil and research.

Co-operative societies will be introduced in all the islands.

The most important item in reconstruction will however be a monthly steamer service as an experiment with a cargo vessel touching all the islands.

A new lighthouse will be opened in Androth and the existing lighthouse at Kiltan will be improved as general lighthouses under the Lighthouse Department.

Wireless stations will be established in three islands in 1959.

Under industry, coir twisting will be developed through training-cum-production centres in all islands and oil pressing through Wardha Ghanies. Cottage industries like mat making, soap making, spinning etc., will be set up as an experiment.

Under education the main items of development will be the conversion of at least four out of the nine primary schools now in existence into middle schools, out of which one will be converted into a Secondary School with hostel facilities by the end of the Plan period. The existing hostel for island boys at Kozhikode will be improved and its strength increased to 100.

To improve sanitation safe drinking water will be introduced through a scheme of subsidised draw wells. Water seal squatting slabs will be distributed to the islanders practically free. A lady doctor will be appointed and local 'Dais' trained under a 'Dais' training scheme. One of the island dispensaries will be converted into a hospital by the end of the Plan period. One more dispensary will be opened in the Amenl group.

Among other miscellaneous improvements will be the provision of community listening sets for all islands.

A lump sum provision of Rs. 50,000 is also made for self-help schemes under community development.

It is also proposed to move the headquarters of the Administrator to the islands after a regular steamer service is established and wireless stations opened in all the islands. A land revenue system will be organized by the end of the Plan period. A regular administrative machinery will gradually come into existence.

The Plan also includes many construction works including community hall-cum-library in each island involving an expenditure of more than Rs. 17 lakhs.

This is an ambitious plan almost two and a half times the size of the plan which the Madras Government had in mind. The outlay on the Plan items alone works out to about Rs. 350 per head of population, which is much more than any allocation to any backward area on the mainland of India. It is hoped that this Plan will succeed in diversifying the occupational pattern of the islands.

An Advisory Council has been constituted by the Ministry of Home Affairs with five islanders to advise the Administrator on matters of administration involving general policy, schemes of development, improvement in sanitation, communications, education, health and other items intended for the betterment of the condition of the population and to make the islands self-supporting.

One member is nominated to the Lok Sabha from the islands. The name of the present member is Koyilat Nallakoya from Androth Island.

GEOGRAPHY

On November 1, 1956, as a result of the States reorganisation, Madhya Pradesh emerged as the second largest State on the new map of India. Stretching from the Chambal in the north to the Godavari in the south, the new State is composed of the former Madhya Bharat, Bhopal and Vindhya Pradesh States together with the 17 Hindi districts of the former Madhya Pradesh, and Sironj Sub-division of Kotah district of Rajasthan, excluding the Sunel enclave of the Mandasaur district in former Madhya Bharat. It comprises an area of 171,201 sq. miles with a population of 26,071,654. Situated centrally, gridded by six states, viz., Uttar Pradesh, Bihar, Orissa, Andhra Pradesh, Bombay and Rajasthan, it lays a rightful claim to be the heart of India.

Physical Regions: Ranging between latitudes 18°N and 24°N and between longitudes 74°E and 81°E, with the Tropic of Cancer running along parallel to the Narmada, the main physical regions of the new State are, the Gird Region, the Malwa Plateau, the Narmada Valley, the Satpura ridge and the Chhattisgarh plains. Except for a few undulations the level of the plains is generally unbroken. The Vindhya and Satpura are the two parallel ranges running west to east through the middle of the State. The main river systems are the Chambal, Betwa, Sone, Narmada, Tapti, Mahanadi and Indrawati.

Nearly the entire State receives good rainfall ranging from 30 to 60 inches generally and between 30 and 35 inches in Bhopal, 30 and 40 inches in Malwa, 30 and 35 inches in Bundelkhand and nearly 60 inches in Chhattisgarh.

Soil and Crop: The State possesses soils of almost every class, from the rich black cotton soil to the dry and stony red earth. The Malwa region abounds in rich black cotton soil. The low-lying areas of Gird, Bundelkhand and Baghelkhand have lighter soils with a proportion of sand in them. The Narmada Valley is formed of deep alluvial deposits of extreme richness and the Chhattisgarh plains have yellow and sandy soil.

The chief food crops are wheat in Malwa, Narmada Valley, Satna, Chhatarpur and Bhopal, rice in Chhattisgarh, Shahdol, Rewa, Dhar and Indore, and Juar in Bhopal, Khargone, Ujjain, Shajapur, Mandasaur and Guna and pulses all over the State. Cash crops include cotton in Malwa, and Nimar and sugarcane and oil seeds all over the State.

Nearly 20 per cent of the State's area is covered by forests. The forests are chiefly sal, palas, babul, salai, dhavra, tendu, mahua, bamboo, teak, sal, anjan and harra. The largest products of the best quality teak in India come from these forests. In 1954-55 (Budget Estimates) the yield from forests to the State Government is expected to figure Rs. 643.55 lakhs.

The total cultivated land in the State during 1950-57 amounts for 38,351,503 acres which is 85 per cent of the total area. Of this, irrigated land is 2,048,508 acres with 1,089,187 acres under rice, 406,216 acres under wheat and 125,573 acres under sugarcane. Percentage of irrigated land to the net cropped area is 5.3.

Economy: The economy of the State is predominantly agricultural, since 78 per cent of its total population is dependent on agriculture for its livelihood. Nearly a third of its area has been brought under the plough, principal crops being rice, wheat, juar, maize, bajra, pulses, oil seeds and cotton.

MINERALS

The State contains extensive belts of mineral deposits. Nearly 25 various minerals are at present being exploited from 591 mines. In 1951, the estimated value of the output of these mines was round about Rs. 8.4 crores. The State has great industrial potential. The expansive coal and iron and manganese deposits in the Chhattisgarh Division promise to make it the industrial beehive of the country. Deposits of bauxite have been located in Amarkantak, Balaghat, Seoni and other districts. The mineral areas of former Vindhya Pradesh are Sidhi, Rewa, Panna, Chhatarpur and Tikamgarh, the minerals exploited being coal, ochre, sillimanite, corundum and diamond. Limestone is also found extensively. The number of leases in 1957 was: coal 68, manganese 248, limestone 142, china-clay 13, bauxite 11, steatite 14, felspar 2 and diamond 3. The diamond mines are spread over an area of 23-50 sq. miles and are responsible for 95 per cent of India's diamond production.

The chief Minerals in the State with location in brackets are as below:

Coal (Chhindwara, Bilaspur, Raigarh, Surguja, Shahdol), Iron Ore (Durg, Bastar, Jabalpur, Gird, Mandasaur, Khargone, Chhatarpur, Sidhi), Manganese Ore (Balaghat, Chhindwara, Jabalpur, Jabua, Bilaspur, Mandla), Bauxite (Jabalpur, Surguja, Bilaspur, Mandla, Balaghat, Raigarh, Shahdol, Satna), Diamond (Panna), Corundum and Sillimanite (Sidhi), Glass sand (Satna, Jabalpur, Morena), Graphite (Betul), Barytes (Sidhi, Jabalpur, Tikamgarh, Dewas), Felspar (Chhindwara, Shahdol), Talc (Jabalpur, Jabua), Soap stone (Durg, Jabalpur, Sidhi, Jabua, Chhatarpur), Yellow ochre (Satna, Datia), Red Ochre (Gird, Shivpuri), Red Oxide of Iron (Jabalpur), Kaolin (Jabalpur, Shahdol, Dewas), White clay (Satna, Jabalpur), Fuller's Earth (Jabalpur), Fire Clay (Surguja, Bilaspur, Shahdol, Chhindwara, Mandasaur, Narsinghpur, Raigarh, Sidhi), Dolomite (Bilaspur, Khargone), Slate-pencil-shale (Mandasaur), Limestone (Jabalpur, Satna, Rewa, Raipur, Durg, Bilaspur, Raigarh, Raisen, Sehore, Mandasaur, Morena).

Lepidolite (Bastar); Mica (Surguja, Balaghat); Fluorspar (Durg, Jabalpur, Raigarh); Lithographic stone (Damoh, Nimar); Copper (Bastar, Sidhi, Jabalpur, Balaghat, Narsinghpur, Sheopuri, Dewas); Lead Ore (Jabalpur, Sheopuri, Gird, Surguja, Raipur, Durg); Alluvial gold (Raipur, Surguja, Raigarh, Balaghat, Bastar).

The total production of minerals in 1957 and 1956 (in brackets) was Coal, 4,638,746 tons (4,840,211 tons); Manganese ore 332,326 tons (443,368 tons); Lime stone 873,487 tons (844,553 tons); Iron ore 31,665 tons (34,569 tons); Talc 4,923 tons (3,918 tons); Fireclay and White Clay 84,671 tons (72,327 tons); Bauxite 48,191 tons (41,644 tons); Red and Yellow Ochres 1,272,734 tons 4 cwts. (10,229 tons); Felspar 1,156 tons (941 tons); Graphite nil (25 tons); Asbestos 10 tons (387 tons); Shale 118,029 cwt. (112,241 cwt.); Corundum 431.7 tons (339 tons); Sillimanite 2,628.7 tons (839 tons); Diamonds 719 Rattis 10 annas (1,190 Rattis 7 annas); Steatite 42,609 cwt. (in 1954); Dolomite 11,442 tons (in 1954).

The value of minerals produced and despatched for consumption during the year 1956 was Rs. 12,80,35,000 and the State receipt by way of royalty was Rs. 59,25,000 to which coal contributed Rs. 32,08,597, Manganese Rs. 18,13,163 and other minerals Rs. 8,43,217.

The total number of labourers employed in the mines of major minerals was 71,437.

TRANSPORT

1957-58 figures: Total mileage of roads: 17,236.

Mileage of metalled roads: 11,357.

Mileage of unmetalled roads: 5,879.

Transport has been partly nationalised in the State.

LARGE-SCALE INDUSTRY

Main large-scale industries of the State with location in brackets:—

Cotton Textile (Indore, Gwalior, Ujjain, Mandasaur, Dewas, Bhopal, Ratlam, Burhanpur, Rajnandgaon); Newsprint (Nepanagar); Cement (Kymore, Banmore, Satna, Durg); Sugar (Dabra, Dalauda, Jaora, Sehore, Saranpur, Mahidpur); Potteries (Gwalior, Jabalpur, Ratlam, Mandla); Biscuits (Gwalior); Art-Silk (Gwalior, Ujjain, Indore, Burhanpur, Nagda); Glass (Jabalpur); Jute (Raigarh); Rayon (Gwalior, Nagda); Heavy electricals (Bhopal); Textile machinery (Gwalior); Engineering (Gwalior, Indore, Ujjain); Iron and Steel (Bhilai); Refractories (Jabalpur, Katni); Staple fibre (Nagda); Strawboard (Bhopal, Ratlam); Vanaspathi (Indore); Flour (Bhopal, Basoda, Ujjain, Raipur).

The cotton textile industry in the State has 12,520 looms and 4,99,044 spindles in 19 mills. The biggest cement factory of the country is located at Kymore near Katni. The country's only newsprint mill is located at Nepanagar. The Bhilai Steel Plant near Durg is fast coming up. Other important industries are potteries, biscuits, sugar, art silk, diesel engines, jute, glass, engineering goods and rayon.

Production in each industry: Cotton textiles 40 crore yards; Sugar 9,23,523 maunds (1957-58); Biscuits and confectionery 3,000 tons; Cement 4,10,000 tons; Newsprint 30,000 tons.

Total no. of registered factories: 1,973.

COTTAGE INDUSTRIES

The State is also famous for traditional village and home crafts. The handloom industry has earned a good reputation for its Chanderi and Maheshwari sarees, Kosha Silk and other traditional fabrics. The well known handicrafts are printing (chunari, Nanda, Tie and Dye), leather toys, papier-mâché, lacquerware articles, dolls, earl, upari work, softstone work and others.

Main Cottage Industries in the State with location in brackets.—Handloom (nearly 1,10,000 looms spread all over the State but best developed at Chanderi, Maheshwar, Burhanpur, Jabalpur, Raipur, Sehore, Ashtha and Panna); Kosa or Tusser silk (Raigarh, Chhapa, Raipur, Surguja); Mulberry (Indore, Dewalpur, Dhar); Fine sarees (Chanderi, Maheshwar, Burhanpur); Wood work and lacquerware (Sheopur, Sabalgarh, Budhni, Rewa, Gwalior); Wooden toys (Rewa, Bhopal, Ratlam); Soft-stone (Jabalpur, Chhatarpur); Lac (Seoni, Raipur, Bilaspur, Umrina and Rewa); Saw Milling (Betul, Bhopal, Balaghat, Bilaspur and Mandla); Brassware (Balaghat, Chhindwara, Raipur and Chhatarpur).

Figures for 1956-57:

Main food crops of the State: Rice, Juar, Wheat, Gram, Tur, Maize, Bajra, Barley.

Main cash crops of the State: Cotton, Sugarcane, Tobacco, Groundnut, Castor, Sesamum, Rape, Mustard, Linseed.

Total production of food crops in tons: 7,701,654.

Production of individual food crops in tons: Rice 3,264,000; Wheat 1,702,900; Juar 1,082,100; Gram 991,300; Bajra 89,416; Maize 187,874; Barley 131,432; Tur 252,632.

Production of cash crops in tons: Cotton 569,276 (bales); Sugarcane 187,154 (in terms of gur); Groundnut 108,012; Castor 2,452; Sesamum 66,500; Rape and Mustard 55,574; Linseed 130,438; tobacco 4,007.

Total area cultivated (net area sown): 38,351,563 acres.

Total area under wet cultivation (total net irrigated area: 2,048,508 acres).

Total area under food-crops: 36,889,453 acres.

Area under individual food-crops: Rice 9,618,442 acres; Juar 4,083,474 acres; Wheat 8,009,370 acres; Bajra 425,071 acres; Maize 1,063,941 acres; Barley 809,261 acres; Gram 3,408,918 acres; Tur 847,635 acres.

Area under cash crops: Sugarcane 130,820 acres; Groundnut 822,450 acres; Cotton 1,894,200 acres; Tobacco 15,825 acres; Castor 28,937 acres; Sesamum 794,100 acres; Rape and Mustard 377,140 acres; Linseed 1,713,783 acres.

Plantation in State: Jute.

Forests: Total Forest Area of State 33,443,172 acres

Main forest produce: Timber, Firewood and Charcoal wood, Katha.

Cattle: Total number of Cows: 7,242,274; Total number of Buffaloes 2,240,910; Total number of Horses and Ponies: 253,156; Total number of Sheep: 901,015; Total number of Goats: 5,218,949; Other Livestock: 428,330; Poultry: 5,388,549

ELECTRIC POWER

The development of electricity in the constituent units of Madhya Pradesh is recent, the First Five-Year Plan being responsible for the establishment of a number of power projects. Including the installed capacity of the former Madhya Pradesh, Vindhya Pradesh, Bhopal and Madhya Bharat, the total installed capacity was nearly 180,000 kW.; of this total, the former Madhya Pradesh alone had a capacity of 100,000 kW. Apart from the share to be available from Khaparkheda, the new State has a capacity of about 80,000 kW. apart from the new projects being installed. The major power stations in the 17 districts of Madhya Pradesh include a pilot power station at Raipur with an installed capacity of 5,000 kW., Chandni Power House with 17,000 kW., Jabalpur Power House with 9,250 kW., Katni Power House with 3,300 kW., Itarsi Power Station with 3,000 kW. A total of 31,100 kW. in former Madhya Bharat, includes 14,000 kW. Power House at Indore, 4,500 kW. Power House at Gwalior, and a dozen other power houses. The former Vindhya Pradesh had a total capacity of 5,985 kW. and Bhopal 3,600 kW. The power projects in the offing include among others the Korba Power Station with a capacity of 90,000 kW. and the Gwalior Thermal Station with a capacity of 25,000 kW. The Sagar Power Station was opened on 3-11-1957. It has a capacity of 2,500 kW. and the cost of the station is Rs. 7 lakhs.

Among the important power schemes under the Second Five-Year Plan are the Chambal Power Project with a capacity of 210,000 kW., the Bhopal Power Scheme, and the Birsinghpur power station with a capacity of 60,000 kW.

During 1959-60 a sum of Rs. one crore is to be spent on the expansion of Chandni Power Station

Power supply to NEPA will increase and the production will increase from 65 to 100 tons a day.

CO-OPERATION

(See under article on Co-operation.)

LAND TENURE

Different land tenure systems have been operating in the four constituent units of the new State but a uniform pattern is slowly emerging. In the former Madhya Pradesh, Vindhya Pradesh, Bhopal and Madhya Bharat, Zamindari, Malguzari and Jagirdari systems were abolished and legislative enactments have been framed and implemented. The former Madhya Pradesh also codified all land laws into what is now known as the Land Revenue Code.

The Madhya Pradesh Abolition of Proprietary Rights (Estates, Mahals, Alienated Lands) Act, 1950 (1 of 1951), has now been fully implemented and the State has taken possession of all the villages vested in the State under the above Act.

Number of persons expropriated under the law: about 150,000.

The compensation money will be paid from the State Revenue.

The State Government have decided that in future, Government land should be given for cultivation purposes to only co-operative societies of landless and petty cultivators or to landless or petty cultivators.

Under the new Land Revenue Code, there would be only two classes of tenures (besides Government leases) for persons holding land from the State Government. After the abolition of proprietary rights, the land is now held directly from the State Government.

Any person who held land as a malik-makbuz in the Central Provinces or the merged territories or who held land as raiyat malik in the Central Provinces, or who held land as an absolute occupancy tenant or a plot proprietor or as a lessee of the Government will now be called "Bhumiswami."

Any person who held land as an occupancy tenant in the Central Provinces, as a raiyat in the merged territories, or as a permanent tenant or lessee of Government will be called "Bhumidhari."

A "Bhumiswami" may transfer any interest in his land and a "Bhumidhari" may transfer, otherwise than by way of mortgage, any interest in his land. No decree or order shall be passed for the sale or foreclosure of any right of the "Bhumidhari" in his land nor shall such right be attached or sold in execution of any decree or order.

The Madhya Pradesh Abolition of Proprietary Rights Act, 1950, provided for the acquisition of malik-makbuz rights on payment of a multiple of land revenue which varied from two to five times. To secure uniformly a multiple of three times has been prescribed for acquisition of "Bhumiswami" rights.

The "Bhumiswami" will have full rights in trees standing on his holdings; but a "Bhumidhari" will have no right in the corpus of the trees.

Any person who holds land for agricultural purposes from a tenure-holder and who is not occupancy tenant or protected lessee and who pays lease money in the form of crop share will be ordinary tenant of such land.

The Land Tenure System in the former Madhya Bharat State—Kiyotwari.

Number of cultivators under the system: 1,569,182.

Law governing land tenure system: Madhya Bharat Land Revenue and Tenancy Act, Samvat 2007.

Main provisions of the Act: No land to be allotted to a person holding 50 acres or more as pucca tenant. Allotment of land for any purpose other than agriculture can only be made by Government sanction.

No partition of pucca tenant's holding unless the tenant is left with at least 15 acres; A pucca tenant may mortgage his land by a simple or usufructuary mortgage to a bona fide agriculturist for a period not exceeding six years.

Pucca tenant's rights not to be sold if his total holding is 15 acres or less; Tenant to be exempt from arrest and imprisonment in execution of decrees passed by civil court or revenue authority.

Subject to rules under the Act, pucca tenant entitled to have, free of charge, suitable house site in village; Allotment of land to be made by auction, preference being given to those having less than 15 acres in the same village or to those who have no land as pucca tenant.

Zamindari and Jagirdari abolition: Laws for abolition of Zamindari and Jagirdari (Madhya Bharat Zamindari Abolition Act, Samvat 2006, and Madhya Bharat Jagirdari Abolition Act, Samvat 2008) have been enacted and enforced. Compensation payment to zamindars and jagirdars already commenced.

Provision of compensation: Eight times the net income for zamindars and seven times the net income for jagirdars.

In the former Vindhya Pradesh region 1/3 area was under the Jagirdari system. The V.P. Abolition of Jagirs and Land Reforms Act, 1952 was passed and the Jagir rights were abolished by 30-6-1954. According to this Act, rights of 21,722 jagirdars were abolished and the State revenue increased by Rs. 40,44,000.

The dispossessed jagirdars have challenged the Abolition of Jagirs and Land Reforms Act before the Supreme Court and meanwhile receive interim compensation.

In about 1/4th of former State of Bhopal there were Jagirdars and their rights were abolished by the Bhopal Abolition of Jagirs and Land Reforms Act, 1953

The following table gives an idea of the progress in the payment of compensation as at the end of 1958:

Region	Amount payable (in lakhs) Rs.	Amount paid (in lakhs) Rs.	Balance payable (in lakhs) Rs.
Mahakoshal	300	240	60
Madhya Bharat	900	500	400
Vindhya Pradesh	205	82	123
Bhopal	7.2	6.2	1.00

SECOND FIVE-YEAR PLAN

The Second Five-Year Plan of the State involves a financial outlay of Rs. 19,090-27 lakhs. The First Five-Year Plan of the four units envisaged a total outlay of only Rs. 8,375 lakhs. The Second Plan, in contrast, is much bigger in size as well as in scope. The distribution of the total outlay between various sectors of development is as follows :—

Head of development	Total
	(In lakhs of Rs.)
1. Agriculture & Community Development	4,262-14
2. Irrigation & Power	7,278-07
3. Industry & Mining	1,035-46
4. Transport & Communications	1,299-62
5. Education	2,062-85
6. Health	1,433-11
7. Housing	450-24
8. Other Social Services	928-17
9. Scientific & Industrial Research etc.	324-53
10. Trade & Commerce	6-08
Total	19,090-27

Broadly speaking, 74-70 per cent of the total outlay represents real investment which would lay the foundations of the State's growing prosperity, both in industrial as well as in agricultural fields. The remaining outlay of 25-30 per cent will be spent on social services including education, health, housing etc. Besides, there are the Central Government Projects such as the Rs. 131-crore Steel Plant at Bhilai, opening of the Korba Coal Mines with an approximate cost of Rs. 21 crores and the establishment of a Heavy Electrical Equipment Plant at Bhopal.

Agriculture : Continued emphasis has been given to agriculture and allied subjects including the Community Development Programmes. During the period, about 55,000 acres of land will be brought under the plough and over 3 lakh acres of land under irrigation. During the same period, Rs. 728-66 lakhs will be spent over agricultural production and Rs. 618-03 lakhs over land development. The Animal Husbandry Plan is for Rs. 385-40 lakhs. For Dairying and Milk supply Rs. 77-59 lakhs, for Co-operation Rs. 376-80 lakhs, for Forests Rs. 276-64 lakhs and for Fisheries Rs. 24-80 lakhs have been provided in the Plan.

Community Development Programmes : By October 1963, every village will be covered by the Community Development Programme. The State has been divided into 416 N.E.S. Blocks.

On 31st August 1958, there were 100 N.E.S., 10 multi-purpose tribal, 58 C.D. and 44 post-intensive phase blocks, totalling 212 blocks. They covered 40,724 villages and a population of approximately 125 lakhs.

Irrigation & Power : 38-17 per cent of the total outlay is provided in the Plan for irrigation & power plans. Irrigation projects of the State comprise multi-purpose projects, major and medium projects, minor irrigation projects, tube-wells and flood protection works. These include the Chambal Hydel & Irrigation Project, remodelling of Mahanadi Canal in Rajpur District, Bila River Project in Sagar, Sukta River Project in Nimar, Pampavati Tank Project in Jabara District, Choral River Project in Indore District, Chilar River Project in Shahapur District, Ravigawan Canal Project in Satna District, the upper Ken Valley Project in Panna and the Nagod Canal in Satna District.

The Chambal project alone will irrigate about seven lakh acres of land and generate 2,10,000 kW. of power. The Korba Thermal Scheme will generate 90,000 kW. of power.

Important among the power schemes are the Chambal Power Project with a capacity of 2,10,000 kW., the Korba Thermal Station Scheme with 90,000 kW. and the Bhopal Power House.

Another important project is the Birsinghpur Power House estimated to cost Rs. 10.63 crores with a capacity of 60,000 kW.

Special mention may be made of the Korba Thermal Station Scheme which was originally estimated to cost Rs. 1,148.31 lakhs. The scheme is intimately connected with the Bhilai Steel Plant. The progress of this scheme has to be maintained according to schedule to meet the demands of the Bhilai Project.

The original proposal for constructing a new Thermal Station at Gwalior has been changed for an alternative proposal for laying a transmission line under the Chambal grid from Sawal-Madhupur to Gwalior. This is now being undertaken by the Chambal Hydel Organisation.

Industry & Mining: During the Second Plan period, 2 Sugar Factories on co-operative basis will be started. A spinning mill of 12,500 spindles will be started which will have a production of 10,000 bales per year. A vegetable oil and solvent extraction plant will be set up at a cost of Rs. 14.28 lakhs. A distillery for power and industrial alcohol is proposed to be started. Preliminary steps have already been taken for the establishment of a synthetic petrol plant at Korba, and a cement factory in Bilaspur district. Nearly 1,000 industrial co-operatives with a membership of 10,000 would be opened to help small scale industries.

All these besides the three major industrial undertakings, viz. the Bhilai Steel Plant, the Heavy Electrical Equipment Plant and the exploitation of the Korba Mines, as also the harnessing of the rich deposits of a variety of mineral resources will make Madhya Pradesh an important industrial area.

Roads will also be improved in the State for which Rs. 1,599.63 lakhs have been provided.

Education: In the Plan, Rs. 800.22 lakhs have been provided for primary, Rs. 471.15 lakhs for secondary, Rs. 287.18 lakhs for technical and vocational and Rs. 300.47 lakhs for higher, Rs. 83.50 lakhs for social and Rs. 10.94 lakhs for physical education.

Over 10,000 primary schools, 7 new girls' high schools, one degree college, one University and a number of junior technical schools, polytechnics and multi-purpose schools will be started during the Plan.

Public Health: New schemes for the control and eradication of diseases, opening of new hospitals, providing medical facilities in rural areas will be taken up. The Plan provides Rs. 496.09 lakhs for hospitals, Rs. 284.10 lakhs for water-supply, Rs. 176.29 lakhs for control of diseases, Rs. 283.18 lakhs for medical education and training, etc.

Provision has also been made for other social services e.g. Rs. 134.10 lakhs for industrial housing, Rs. 92.31 lakhs for urban land development and Rs. 197.17 lakhs for special housing schemes.

The Plan also provides a sum of Rs. 490 lakhs for the welfare of Scheduled Tribes, Rs. 200.00 lakhs for Scheduled Castes and Backward classes and Rs. 127.01 lakhs for labour welfare. A sum of Rs. 18.48 lakhs has also been earmarked for developing tourist traffic.

BUDGET ESTIMATES FOR 1958-59 (See under 'Late Particulars').

MADHYA PRADESH FINANCIAL CORPORATION (Shiv Vilas Palace, Indore City.)

The Madhya Bharat Financial Corporation was set up by a notification of the former Madhya Bharat Government dated 30th June 1955 in exercise of the powers conferred by the State Financial Corporations Act, 1951. After the integration of M.B. into Madhya Pradesh it is now called M. P. Financial Corporation.

The Corporation started functioning on 1st July 1955.

The object of the Corporation is to assist and further the industrialisation of the State by providing institutional credit, medium and long term, to industrial concerns in Madhya Pradesh.

The rate of interest will be six per cent per annum with half-yearly rests.

The period of loan will be decided on the merits of each case, but will not ordinarily exceed 10 to 12 years though the maximum period upto which loans can be granted has been fixed at 20 years. The principal amount of loan will be repayable by instalments which would be determined according to the circumstances of each case.

The assets offered in mortgage to the Corporation should be insured by the borrowing concern upto their full value with insurance companies approved by the Corporation.

The authorised share capital of the Corporation is Rs. 2 crores divided into two lakh fully paid shares of the face value of Rs. 100 each, out of which one lakh fully paid shares of the value of Rupees one crore are issued in the first instance. A dividend of 3½ per cent per annum on the share capital of the Corporation has been guaranteed by the former Madhya Bharat Government by their notification dated 18th July 1955.

Since inception the Corporation received 76 completed loan applications till 31st March 1959. The Board sanctioned advances to 24 industrial concerns for Rs. 90,65,000 and rejected 28 cases for Rs. 55,94,000. Ten applications for Rs. 21,75,000 were withdrawn by the applicants. Ten applications for Rs. 16,89,000 were under consideration as on 31st March 1959.

MADRAS STATE

Area: 50,111.81[†] sq. miles; Population: 9,975,357[†].

Capital: Madras.

Representation in the Rajya Sabha: 17; in the Lok Sabha: 41; Strength of Assembly: 205; Strength of Council: 63.

Districts with District headquarters in brackets: Madras (Madras), Chingleput (Saidapet), South Arcot (Cuddalore), Tanjore (Tanjore), Madurai (Madurai), Ramanathapuram (Tallakulam, at Madurai), Tirunelveli (Tirunelveli), North Arcot (Vellore), Salem (Salem), Tiruchirappalli (Tiruchirappalli), Coimbatore (Coimbatore), Nilgiris (Ootacamund), Kanyakumari (Nagercoil).

The Andhra-Madras (Alteration of Boundaries) Bill 1959, drafted on the basis of the proposals made in the Patakar Award, was passed in the Madras Assembly on April 27, 1959.

Under the provisions of the Bill, 318 villages of Tiruttani, Chittoor and Puttur talukas of Andhra, covering an area of 405 square miles and with a population of 240,000 (158,000 Tamilians and 77,200 Andhras), would be transferred to Madras State.

One hundred and fifty-one villages in Tiruvallur, Ponneri and Hosur talukas of Madras State, covering an area of 325 square miles and with a population of 95,546 (61,500 Andhras and 34,046 Tamilians) would be transferred to Andhra Pradesh.

Languages spoken: Tamil, Malayalam, Telugu. The vast majority of the people is of the Dravidian race.

Panchayats Bill: The Madras Panchayats Bill, major legislation in the Government's six-point local administration reform, was moved for consideration in the Legislative Assembly in September 1958.

The proposed changes were (1) The replacement of district boards by panchayat union councils by Oct. 2, 1961; (2) setting up of a panchayat in every village of the State; (3) Developing panchayat unions into co-operative associations of panchayats with a representative elected to the respective councils; (4) The limitation of the functions of the panchayat and panchayat union councils; (5) Revision of the schemes of local taxation and finance as well as of Government grants for elementary education and other purposes to make available adequate resources to local bodies.

The Bill estimates the expenditure of new local bodies at Rs. 6 per head of the population per annum.

While the panchayat unions are in formation the District Boards will be administered by Collectors who will be called Special Officers for this purpose.

Tamil has been introduced as official language in many Government Offices in the State from January 1, 1958, in pursuance of State Official Languages Act, passed by the last Assembly in December 1956, calling for the progressive introduction of Tamil as State's official language.

Tamil is to be made the official language at district level by the end of the Second Plan.

INDUSTRIES

Chief Industries in this State are Textiles, General and Electrical Engineering, Sugar, Cement, Tobacco including bidis and cigar manufacture, bricks and tiles, tanning, glassware, chemicals, bicycles, and manufacture of utensils.

There were 114 cotton spinning and weaving mills at the end of 1957 (70 mills in Coimbatore District including the one newly licensed; 18 in Madurai District, 7 in Tiruchirappalli District and 10 in Tirunelveli District). One mill in Madras City is one of the biggest in the country employing 13,727 workers. Another large mill in the State is in Madurai, which employs 12,341 workers. The largest employer of labour in the State is the Textile Industry.

The production of yarn for sale for civil consumption during the period January to June 1957 (six months) in the State was 109,157,000 lbs. or 2.78 lakh bales (bale of 400 lbs.).

Handloom: 1958: Number of looms registered in the State: 4,54,985.

Number of weavers within the co-operative fold as on April 1, 1958: 1,92,988.

In the State a sum of Rs. 1,78,97,980 was spent towards providing working capital for 1,64,303 looms against the sanctioned amount of Rs. 1,90,10,500.

Sugar:—There are five sugar factories in the State including the newly installed one at Pettaiyayatalai, Tiruchirappalli District. These factories were expected to produce about 80,000 tons of sugar a year from the 1958-59 season. During 1957-58, 65,840 tons of sugar was produced by the four factories at Nellikuppam, Pugalur, Pandiarajapuram and Tiruvarooran.

Three new sugar mills were proposed to be set up on co-operative basis in Chingleput, North Arcot and Coimbatore districts and they were expected to go into production by the middle of 1959.

Cement:—There are three cement factories in the State. The installed capacity of these factories at the end of April 1958 was 7,43,178 tons. A new cement factory in Ramanathapuram District has also been sanctioned.

Cycles:—There are two bicycle factories in the State. The Factory at Ambathur near Madras with an installed capacity of 2 lakh bicycles a year is one of the four biggest factories in the country. The expansion scheme of T. I. Cycles to increase their production to three lakhs cycles per annum has been finalised.

Dunlop has started a Rs 2.5 crore tyre factory at Ambathur with an installed capacity of 1.5 mln. cycle tyres and 134,000 giant truck tyres. In Feb 1959 an English Electrical company started at Pallavaram near Madras a switch and switchgear manufacturing plant to meet 20 per cent of the nation's need.

Matches:—There are nearly 100 match factories using power and also not using power. The number of workers employed in the 23 power factories in 1957 was about 10,200. The production of matches in these factories during that year was 10.8 million gross boxes.

Tanneries:—There are nearly 300 tanneries in the State and most of them are non-power tanneries. The number of persons employed in the tannery using power in 1957 was 5,643. Value of exports of tanned hides and skins to overseas markets in 1956-57 was Rs. 24.24 crores.

Magnetite, bauxite and iron ores occur in Salem District. The Government have encouraged the setting up of pilot pig iron plants in the private sector to utilise the iron ore and a pig iron plant has already switched into production.

The availability of bauxite deposits has encouraged the setting up of an aluminium plant at Mettur and tests on this ore are being conducted. The following are the important minerals with their output during 1957-58 as shown within brackets: Limestone (10,78,907 tons); Gypsum (67,225 tons); Magnetite (87,724 tons) and Bauxite (2,807 tons).

There is an Industrial Investment Corporation in Madras.

* Population and area will change when the Patakar Award takes effect.

† There is a slight discrepancy between this figure and the Central Govt. figure.

Main cottage industries: metals, leather goods manufacture, silk worms rearing, brass and bronze metal ware, conch shell.

The National Industrial Development Corporation was expected to set up an iron smelting plant in Salem utilising local ore. A new paper mill has been licensed at Papanasam. Work on the Rs. 4 crore Government of India printing press located halfway between Coimbatore and Mettupalayam was expected to be taken up in 1958.

Licences have been granted for the establishment of a number of units for the manufacture of electric motors, power-driven pumps, electrical distribution transformers and switchgear. The Government have given assistance to small-scale business men.

In the private sector, a plant for the manufacture of rayon and staple fibre yarn has been licensed and the sponsors have succeeded in securing substantial financial assistance from Italy.

In Tirunelveli a new caustic soda factory is being set up in the private sector. The new plant at Avadi for the manufacture of steel tubes commenced production early in 1957.

Preliminary works in connection with the setting up of a sheet glass factory in the private sector have been completed and experts from Belgium have arrived to finalise the project.

The Russian experts who visited India in 1955 in connection with the setting up of a Drug Project in the public sector, have submitted their report. Necessary survey including the selection of site for setting up the plant has been completed.

Yield in 1956-57: 66,410 tons in terms of rice.

Production of foodgrains in Madras State in 1957-58: 46.58 lakh tons.

Second Plan target: Increase by 12 to 18 lakh tons.

Bananas, mangoes and citrus are the most important fruit crops of the State. The average area for three years ended 1956-57 under bananas was 71,432 acres with an yield of 506,570 tons; under mangoes 61,102 acres yielding 208,490 tons; under citrus fruits 10,560 acres yielding 27,510 tons.

Total forest area: 4.42 mln. acres.

Fisheries:

Total quantity of fish produced (Marine and inland 1957-58): 107,842 tons.

The estimated marine fish landings for the State (1957-58): 67,542 tons.

Total area under paddy cultivation in Kanyakumari District in 1956-57: 136,236 acres.

ZAMINDARI ABOLITION

The Estates Abolition Act provides for the repeal of the Permanent Settlement and for the acquisition of the rights of land-holders in certain estates in the State by payment of equitable compensation to the several persons having interest in the estates and for the introduction of the ryotwari settlement in them.

Upto the end of June 1958, 4,733 estates had been taken over and only 27 estates remained to be taken over. The total compensation amount payable in respect of the estates taken over is about Rs. 4.84 crores, of which about Rs. 2.78 crores had been paid upto the end of June 1958.

BHOODAN

The Bhoodan Campaign by Acharya Vinoba Bhave has gained momentum in this State. The Madras Bhoodan Yagna Act regularising and giving legal validity to the gifts, exempting gift-deeds from payment of stamp duty, and of encumbrance certificates fee, registration fee or the fee payable for the attestation of a power-of-attorney and for constituting the State Bhoodan Board responsible for the distribution of lands to landless poor persons for cultivation, etc., has come into force from 9th July 1958.

The Madras State Bhoodan Yagna Board, as envisaged in Section 3(1) of the Act, has also been constituted by the Government with effect from 1-12-1958.

IRRIGATION

- Total land area 32.99 million acres.
Cultivated area 14.03 million acres.
- a) Total area irrigated 4.5 million acres.
- b) Total area which was expected to be irrigated at the end of the First Five-Year Plan : 4.8 million acres.
- c) Total area which was expected to be irrigated when the project under the Second Plan were completed : 4.95 million acres.
- d) Anticipated extra food production at the end of the Second Plan : 90,000 tons of food grains and 1.5 lakh bales of cotton and 70 lakh tons of oilseeds.
- e) Anticipated extra food production on completion of all irrigation projects : 200,000 tons of foodgrains and 1.5 lakh bales of cotton.
- f) Total investment : Rs. 3,705.57 lakhs.

Number of major projects : 11 (excluding those completed in first Plan).

Extra production of foodgrains on completion of projects: Mettur Canals Scheme—10,000 tons rice; 7,500 tons millets; Manimuthar Project—20,000 tons rice; Aranar Reservoir Project—5,000 tons rice; Amaravathi Reservoir Project—5,600 tons rice and 2,150 tons millet; Vaigai Reservoir Project—7,500 tons rice; Sathanur Reservoir Project—8,000 tons rice; Lower Bhavani Project—33,000 tons rice. Also 14,700 tons of cotton, Krishnagiri Reservoir—2,856 tons rice.

The Neyyar Dam, a Kerala-Madras project and situated about 19 miles south of Trivandrum was inaugurated on February 9, 1959. This will irrigate 36,000 acres and will produce 20,000 tons of rice more annually. The dam will cost Rs 240 lakhs and will be completed in 1961. Of the area to be irrigated 9,000 acres are now in Madras State.

The Minor Irrigation Programme for the State comprises four categories of work with a total provision of Rs 338 lakhs in the Second Plan. During the 2nd Plan period 749 irrigation tanks and small schemes have been completed besides sinking 1,114 filter point wells. Additional food production through these schemes works out to 60,000 tons.

Madras has built up an electricity grid extending to almost all the districts and rural areas. In fact, Madras leads the rest of India in rural electrification with over 7,500 villages taking electricity supply by the end of 1958.

Power Grid: The grid comprises five hydro-electric Power Houses at Pykara, Moyar, Mettur, Papanasam, Periyar and two Thermal Power Houses at Madras and Madurai with the total installed capacity of 3,21,500 kW, 10,500 miles of high tension transmission lines of voltages varying from 11,000 to 1,10,100, 13,900 miles of low tension distribution lines and 56 EHT and 61 HT sub-stations and 6,642 distribution stations.

In 1957-58, this grid served electricity to five lakhs of consumers, about 80 per cent of them served directly by the Board and the rest served through 5 municipal licences and 8 private company licences.

The peak demand met totalled 2,53,000 kW. Power generated was 1,345 million units in 1957-58 out of which about 75 per cent was from water power and the balance from coal. The entire power output in the State is by the Electricity Board.

The total capital investment to the end of 1957-58 is Rs 81 crores and the gross revenue earned during 1957-58 was Rs 10 53 crores.

The Mettur Dam is 176 feet high and can impound a total of 93,500 m.c. ft. of water mainly for irrigation purposes. Part of this water is utilised for the generation of hydro-electric power. Power is generated at 11,000 volts, 50 cycles, 3 phase and stepped up to 110,000 volts for transmission to various load centres.

At Erode the Mettur System is linked with the Pykara network. Power is transmitted to Singarpet in the north and Erode in the south (a total of 100 miles) taking off from the power station.

Second Five Year Plan: The power schemes for the Madras State included in the Second Five Year Plan are estimated to cost Rs. 53 25 crores. This period will be confined to the construction of 3 new power plants, two at Kundah and one at Periyar and extensions to the existing thermal station at Madras. With the completion of these schemes, the installed capacity will be

ELECTRIC POWER

First Five Year Plan. The period was devoted to construction of a new Power House at Moyar and extensions to the existing power stations at Pykara, Papanasam, Madurai and Madras. The installed generating capacity increased by nearly 65 per cent from 156,000 kW to 256,700 kW. The full Five Year Plan target of 110,200 kW was realised even during the fourth year of the Plan. The aggregate power demand increased from 130,000 kW to 208,000 kW and the units generated from 630 millions to 1,055 millions. About 3,000 miles of H.T. lines and 4,600 miles of L.T. lines were added to the grid during this period. Over 1,800 villages and towns were electrified and 18,000 pumpsets connected up for supply during the Plan period. Out of the allotment of Rs. 30.86 crores, a sum of Rs. 30 68 crores was spent to achieve these targets.

more than doubled. It is also proposed to erect about 8,200 miles of Extra High Tension and 8,000 miles of Low Tension lines during the period to extend supply to about 1,000 villages and 10,000 pumpacts per annum.

Two thousand five hundred villages will be electrified in the State during the Second Plan. A sum of Rs. 14-88 crores has been set apart for this purpose.

Installed capacity (June 1959): 356,700 kW.

Periyar Hydro-Electric Scheme: The Periyar Hydro-Electric scheme, estimated to cost Rs. 10.09 crores, has been taken in hand and will add 105,000 kW of installed capacity on completion of the scheme. The first unit of 35,000 kW about 80 miles from Madurai at the foot of Periyar Hills on Kerala border, was commissioned on October 12, 1958 and the second and third units were expected to be commissioned before March 1959.

Madras Plant Extensions: Erection of the two No. 150,000 lb. a hr. boilers and one No. 30,000 kW turbo-set was completed and the set commissioned on April 26, 1959.

Kundah Hydro-Electric Scheme: Works in respect of Kundah Hydro Electric Scheme, the sixth and the biggest Hydro Electric Scheme so far undertaken by the Madras Government were in progress. The scheme is estimated to cost Rs. 35.44 crores and when the initial stage is completed in 1961, it will add 180,000 kW to the Grid in two plants.

This scheme gets aid under the Colombo Plan from the Canadian Government to the tune of 2.5 million dollars by way of machinery and materials. The first unit in the plant was expected to be commissioned by June 1959 and the scheme will be completed by 1960-61.

Agreement has now been reached between the Madras and Kerala Governments over the utilization of waters of the rivers originating from western ghats and flowing into the Arabian Sea.

The Madras Government has taken on hand the Parambikulam Project envisaging the utilization of four of the western ghat rivers for hydel purposes. This project, estimated to cost Rs. 30 crores, will help irrigation of 2,00,000 acres in Coimbatore and also generate 1,00,000 kW. of power.

A project division of P.W.D. has already been established and work on this project has just begun (Feb. 1959).

EDUCATION

The Madras and the Annamalai Universities are the two Universities in the State. Of the 41 colleges for general education for men, there were 7 honours and post-graduate, 23 first grade and 11 second grade colleges and of the 15 colleges for general education for women, there were one honours, eight first grade and six second grade colleges.

The State-wide adoption of basic education, i.e. craft-centred education at the primary stage has been accepted as the aim of the Government. Accordingly, the existing elementary schools and ordinary training schools are being converted into the basic type. Every year, new basic schools and basic training schools are opened.

Under the unemployment Relief Scheme, the balance of 49 teachers out of the allotment for 1955, was utilised for 1956-57. A grant of Rs. 15.38 lakhs was received from the Central Government during the year 1956-57 towards the expenditure on teachers employed under the Scheme.

Sixty-one more schools were equipped during the year 1956-57 with 16 m.m. projectors, and 51 more schools with 35 m.m. filmstrip projectors, raising the total number of Secondary schools so equipped at the end of the year to 417 and 444 respectively. Thirty more schools were equipped with Radio receiving sets, the total number of Secondary schools so equipped at the end of the year being 594. Due to reorganization of States, 62 secondary schools equipped with 16 m.m. projectors, 78 secondary schools equipped with 35 m.m. filmstrip projectors and 136 secondary schools equipped with radio sets went over to Kerala State.

In the budget estimates for 1957-58 a provision of Rs. 11.17 crores was made for education.

There were 360 Girl Cadets in the Senior Division Girls Wing. During the year 1957-58, Junior Division Girls Troops were raised in Namakkal, Udumalpet, Coimbatore, Patturcottal, Mannargudi, Kumbakonam and Tiruchirappalli. The number of Boys Senior Division units functioning during 1957-58 was 21 with a total strength of 107 officers and 8,547 cadets. The total expenditure on the Junior and Senior Divisions during 1956-57 was Rs. 12,24,810.

The Auxiliary Cadet Corps was also expanded considerably and 469 teachers were trained during the year. The actual strength of A C C Officers and Cadets was 1,326 and 69,744 respectively; of these 109 were Lady Officers and 4,688 Girl Cadets.

WHITE PAPER ON EDUCATION

Final decisions were taken during the year 1957-58, firstly on a compromise formula in the matter of compulsory education, and secondly on the pattern and syllabus of social education. The former will enable the State to implement free and compulsory education limited to the first five years of schooling in every town and village by 1965-66.

The other decision which has been implemented from June 1958 relates to a 11-year pattern of school education comprising 7 years of primary education followed by 4 years of secondary school course leading pupils to the new 3-year degree course. Implementing these decisions will entail the mobilising of resources to admit 110,000 children in the elementary schools and about 18,000 pupils in the secondary course classes every year. Necessary provision to meet these enrolment demands has been made.

Languages have been grouped under one head with three parts—Part I will be the regional language; Part II—Hindi (or any other Indian language not coming under Part I) and Part III—English or any other non-Indian language. Provision has also been made for instruction in the mother-tongue wherever minorities are concerned under Part I. Hindi or its alternative under Part II will be taught only from Standard VIII while English under Part III will be taught from Standard V onwards. Provision has been made for the free supply of midday meals for poor children in elementary schools and the extension of the Provident Fund-cum-Insurance-cum-Pension Scheme to all categories of teachers in secondary schools, in addition to all elementary school teachers. The enrolment of school children in the primary schools in the State works out to nearly 56 per cent of the all school-age children.

The year also saw the fulfilment of the programme of locating a school in every village with a population of 500 and more.

The State Government spent Rs. 11.4 crores on education in the year 1957-58 and it was proposed to increase the expenditure by another crore during 1958-59. Nearly one half of this expenditure goes towards primary education.

A Children's Theatre was opened in Madras City by converting a hall which was formerly the venue of the Legislative Assembly. Two Children's films produced in Hindi were also dubbed in Tamil.

Medium of instruction for B.A. courses: The medium of instruction for the reorganised B.A. degree courses in the State will be changed to Tamil commencing from the academic year 1963-64. The Government has decided that the Government Arts College, Coimbatore, should be the "pilot college" where the changeover will be introduced in 1960-61.

It will be open to private colleges to continue to provide English medium instruction for the B.A. degree courses even after the changeover is effected, that is, after 1963-64— but no grant will be payable by the State Government in respect of such courses. The study of English as a subject will, however, continue even in the Tamil medium B.A. courses, and the standard will be the same as that for part one of the reorganised B.Sc. degree course.

The changeover to Tamil will, however, not apply to B.Sc. degree courses.

COIMBATORE DISTRICT

Dist. Hqrs.: Coimbatore.

The Coimbatore District, next in importance to the City of Madras, has an area covering 6,024 square miles with a population of 8,164,896. It is one of the major districts in Tamil Nad with the Cauvery River as boundary on the east, Mysore and the Nilgiris on the north, Kerala on the west and south. It is drained by three important tributaries of the Cauvery River—the Bhavani, Amaravati and the Noyyal rivers. The Annamalais (elephant hills) which form part of the District in the south have large coffee and tea plantations covering 40,000 acres and employing 40,000 workers whose annual wage bill is nearly Rs. 3 crores. Some 35 million lbs. of tea and 1,000 tons of coffee are produced. There are also cardamom and cinchona plantations. The finest teak in India is produced on these hills.

After the reorganization of States, much of the teak growing area has gone to Kerala State and so the Madras Government have begun teak growing in the Ulanly valley on the western slopes of the Annamalais, a natural teak growing area of 4,500 acres adjoining Kerala State.

Coimbatore, the District Headquarters, is the largest industrial city in Madras State with 60 textile mills and over 55 spinning factories employing over 55,000 workers and is officially described as the 'Manchester of South India.' It is also the largest textile manufacturing centre in Madras State. There are also a number of iron foundries including a medium sized blast furnace and a cement factory. A 22-lakh synthetic gum factory, the first of its kind in Asia, was opened in 1957. The factory which is an Indo-Swiss venture, hopes to meet the full demand for synthetic gums, which are now being imported, in a couple of years—producing in the first year alone gums valued at Rs. 20 lakhs.

The finishing part will be done at Tiruchirappalli and Jaipur by cottage industry groups.

The Regional Agricultural Research Institute, inaugurated by President Dr. Rajendra Prasad, on 10th August 1958, will cater to the needs of Madras, Kerala, Mysore and Andhra Pradesh and will be open to 40 post-graduates.

Other specialised institutions are the Union Government's Sugarcane Breeding Institute, the Southern Herbarium of the Botanical Survey of India and the Regional Research Station of the Indian Council of Agricultural Research for cotton, millets and oilseeds.

Work on the Parambikulam-Aliyar Project has just begun (Feb. 1959).

MANIPUR

(See p. 1084)

MYSORE STATE

Area: 74,861* sq miles (Surveyor General of India's figure).

Population: 19,401,193. Density of Population: 259.*

Capital: Bangalore.

Strength of the Legislative Council: 63; of the Legislative Assembly: 200 including one nominated; No. of members returned to the Lok Sabha: 26; No. returned to the Rajya Sabha: 12.

The State is divided into four Divisions for administrative purposes.

The Divisions as well as the Districts which make up each Division are shown below. The names of the District headquarters are given in brackets after the names of the Districts.

1. Bangalore Division: Bangalore (Bangalore), Kolar (Kolar), Tumkur (Tumkur), Chitaldurga (Chitaldurga), Bellary (Bellary).

2. Mysore Division: Mysore (Mysore), Mandya (Mandya), Hassan (Hassan), Chikmagalur (Chikmagalur), Shimoga (Shimoga), South Kanara (Mangalore), Coorg (Mercara).

3. Belgaum Division: Belgaum (Belgaum), Dharwar (Dharwar), Bijapur (Bijapur), North Kanara (Karwar).

4. Gulbarga Division: Gulbarga (Gulbarga), Bidar (Bidar), Raichur (Raichur).

There are 10 Districts, 170 Talukas, 288 towns and 25,800 villages.

The area and population of each District and of the Talukas into which the Districts are divided are given under each District.

Abolition or reorganization of the District Boards is under the consideration of the State Government.

CENSUS

Some general figures relating to census are given below.

Total population: 19,401,193; Males: 9,866,533; Percentage of males: 50.9; Females: 9,534,660; Percentage of females: 49.1.

Urban: 4,455,985; Percentage of urban population: 23; Rural: 14,945,208; Percentage of rural population: 77.

Agricultural: 13,820,661; Percentage of total: 71.2; Owner cultivators: 9,245,978; Percentage: 47.7; Tenant cultivators: 1,812,223; Percentage: 9.3; Agricultural labourers: 2,102,958; Percentage: 10.8; Non-cultivating owners: 659,502; Percentage: 3.4.

Non-agricultural: 5,580,532; Percentage of total: 28.8; Production (other than cultivation): 1,980,665; Percentage: 10.2; Commerce: 1,061,602; Percentage: 5.5; Transport: 230,956; Percentage: 1.2; Other services: 2,307,309; Percentage: 11.9.

Scheduled Castes: 2,583,142; Percentage of total: 13.3; Scheduled Tribes: 80,402; Percentage of total: 0.41.

Literates: 3,737,286; Percentage: 19.3; Literate males: 2,864,360; Percentage: 29.0; Literate females: 872,926; Percentage: 9.2; Rural: 2,105,274; Percentage: 14.6; Urban: 1,572,012; Percentage: 35.3.

AGRICULTURE

Figures for land utilization are given below in acres. They relate to the year 1956-57.

The figures within brackets are area in thousand acres and percentage to total area respectively:

Total geographical area (47,911:—); Geographical area according professional survey (46,629,100), according to village papers (25,463:—);

Total cropped area (24,645; 53.5); Area sown more than once (818:—); Fallow land (3,584; 7.8); Current fallow (2,420; 5.2); Other fallows (1,164; 2.5); Land not available for cultivation (4,113; 8.9); Land put to non-agricultural uses (1,854; 4.0); Barren and uncultivable land (2,259; 4.9); Other uncultivable land excluding fallow land (7,026; 15.3); Permanent pastures and other grazing lands (4,470; 9.7); Land under miscellaneous tree crops and groves not included in area sown (934; 2.0); Cultivable waste (1,622; 3.6); Forests (6,661; 14.6).

Note: Preliminary figures.

Figures for area under principal crops are given below in thousand acres with average yield per acre in lbs. (5 year average) within brackets. They relate to the year 1956-57.

Cereals—

Rice 2,198 (978); Jowar 5,732 (383); Bajra 1,198 (223); Maize 28 (530); Ragi 2,226 (587); Wheat 733 (209); Other cereals and small millets 1,221 (250).

Pulses—

Gram 402 (271); Tur 625 (323); Other pulses 1,945 (240).

Oilseeds—

Groundnut 2,221 (503); Sesamum 151 (165); Rape and Mustard 8 (310); Linseed 142 (165); Castor seed 112 (167).

Fibres—

Cotton 2,803 (58); Mesta 60 (416).

Plantation Crops—

Coffee 167 (235); Tea 4.6 (608); Rubber 4.0 (228).

Condiments and Spices—

Ginger 1 (1,120); Chillies 252 (324).

Miscellaneous—

Sugarcane 124 (4,983); Tobacco 110 (392); Potato 14 (2,601).

The normal annual food production, excluding pulses, is taken to be 30 lakh tons. The total paddy output of the State in 1956-57 was about 1,025,300 tons. The trend in the production indices of food crops is indicated by the following figures: 1952-53 (100.0 base): 1953-54 (128.1); 1954-55 (142.4) and 1955-56 (148.6). In 1957-58 five districts of the State experienced scarcity conditions, crops there having failed partly or wholly, owing to untimely rains. These districts were Mysore, Mandya, Bangalore, Kolar and Tumkur.

Animal Husbandry (Thousands): No. of cattle in the State 8,966, of buffaloes 2,669; of sheep 4,060; of goats 2,584; of horses and ponies 44; Poultry 7,668.

Inland Fisheries: 3,500 tons of fish are produced annually of the value of Rs. 10 lakhs. There are three rural fishery demonstration units one fresh water fishery research station and 14 fish farms. There are also 5 fish co-operatives.

Number of tanks 20,000; number of reservoirs 5,000; number of multi-purpose projects 14; length of rivers 3,800 miles; number of fishery divisions 13; quantity of dry fish annually stocked 20 lakhs.

Marine Fisheries: There are three fishing harbours, 200 fishing villages, 10,000 fishing boats, 40,000 fishing nets, and 20,000 fishermen. The total quantity of fish caught is 80,000 tons and the value Rs. 2 crores. There are 48 fish curing yards, 42 fishermen's co-operatives, 25 fishery schools, 20 fish-meal and oil plants, 2 cold storage ice plants and 10 mechanized boats.

The value of fish exported Rs. 83 lakhs; number of teachers in fishery schools 159; annual fish production per fisherman 4 tons; number of people depending on fish industry 123,000; number of transport vans 3; number of administrative units in charge of gazetted officers 4; varieties of marine fish 40.

Community Development Programmes (As on April 1958): No. of blocks 120; No. of taluks covered 95; Percentage of: area covered 57, population covered 66 and villages covered 56.

LAND REFORMS

Mysore is yet to evolve a uniform law to bring about significant land reforms in all parts of the State. A Land Reforms Bill was introduced in the State Assembly on November 29, 1956 by the Revenue Minister.

A net annual income from land of Rs. 3,800 (equivalent to the yield of three family holdings) is proposed as the basis for a ceiling on land holdings in the Bill.

The ceiling however, does not apply to: (a) plantation crops, (b) orchards constituting reasonably compact areas, (c) specialised farms set apart for cattle breeding, dairying and wool-rising, (d) sugarcane farms owned by sugar factories and (e) efficiently-managed farm consisting of compact blocks.

The new Bill is to replace five separate tenancy laws existing in various parts of the State.

The Bill is generally modelled on the recommendations of the Mysore Tenancy and Agricultural Land Laws Committee, headed by Mr. B. D. Jatti, in 1957, with some changes in the light of the opinions expressed in the Legislature and the suggestions made by the Central Committee on Land Reforms of the Planning Commission.

It has been calculated that about 2.5 million acres will be transferred to tenants under the provisions of the Bill. Compensation payable to land-owners will amount to Rs. 37.5 crores.

There are 24.6 lakh holdings in the State comprising 267.8 lakh acres. The average size of a holding is 10.87 acres. The largest number of holdings is the size-group of 2.5 to 5 acres. Of the total area of 267.8 lakh acres, 206.4 lakh acres are under personal cultivation. About 61.4 lakh acres (or 22.95 per cent) are cultivated by tenants. The percentage of land under tenant cultivation varies from district to district. Hassan District has the smallest proportion (2.84 per cent) under tenant cultivation and South Kanara the highest (65.86 per cent).

According to the 1951 census, 71.2 per cent of the total population are dependent on agriculture in the areas now comprising Mysore State. About 47.7 per cent of them are principally owner-cultivators, 9.3 per cent agricultural labourers and 3.4 per cent rent receivers. The Jatti Committee report says that only 28 per cent of the people working on land are landless and the owner-cultivators are more than 13 times those who rent the land.

FOREST

Forest area: 13,553.12 sq. miles.

The forests are rich in teak, rosewood, ventenak, tumkino, white cedar, ebony, etc. Rich forest areas hitherto untapped are also present with bamboos and soft wood species, potential sources of raw material for paper, rayon, plywood and matchwood industries. The revenue of the forest department is about Rs. 3.50 crores per annum.

IRRIGATION

The total area irrigated is 1,766,000 acres. Of this the area irrigated by Government canals is 401,000 acres, by private canals 14,000 acres, by tanks 786,000 acres, by wells 322,000 acres, other sources 243,000 acres.

¹ Water was allowed for an area of 39,500 acres during 1956-57 of which 25,000 acres were irrigated. ² Water made available for 57,601 acres of which 25,000 acres were actually irrigated during 1956-57. ³ Total extent of area to be irrigated is 1.15 lakh acres of which 7,400 acres are in Mysore State limits. ⁴ Works to an extent of irrigating 17,894 acres have been completed. An area of 6,146 acres has been developed as per crop planning. Estimated output: Rice 38,397 tons, Sugarcane 91,777 tons, other crops 21,132 tons. ⁵ Water was allowed to irrigate 19,135 acres during 1956-57, but the actual area brought under cultivation is 14,000 acres. ⁶ Water made available for irrigating 2,000 acres during the irrigation season of 1956-57. ⁷ The canal is proposed to be extended at a cost of Rs 21.50 lakhs to irrigate an additional area of 8,000 acres. ⁸ Area served with irrigation facilities for 76,000 acres upto end of March 1957, but the actual area irrigated is 15,510 acres. ⁹ Wheat 800 tons. ¹⁰ Paddy.

Tungabhadra Project: Rs 2,274.8 lakhs; Rajolibanda Division Scheme: Rs 291.18 lakhs; Bhadra Reservoir Project: Rs 1,051 lakhs; Tunga Anicut Project: Rs 210 lakhs; Nugu Reservoir Project: Rs 257 lakhs; Ambilgola Reservoir Project: Rs 31.15 lakhs; Naranapur Anicut: Rs 22.61 lakhs; Kariyala Tank (Gayatri Reservoir): Rs 23.87 lakhs; Kolchi Weir Project, I Stage and Kolchi High Capacity Canal, II Stage: Rs 34.83 lakhs; Ghataprabha, I Stage: Rs 530.48 lakhs; Ghataprabha, II Stage: Rs 64.91 lakhs; Ramanahalli Tank: Rs 31.31 lakhs; Kalskap Tank: Rs 15.79 lakhs; Arashankar Tank: Rs 18.76 lakhs; Kabini Reservoir Project: Rs 0.47 lakhs; Dharma Project: Rs 4.51 lakhs; Lakshmanathirtha Project: Rs 0.43 lakhs; Chickhole Reservoir: Rs 0.59 lakhs.

Tunga, estimated to cost Rs 2.31 crores and irrigate 22,000 acres upto 1956-57, Rs 198.17 lakhs were spent on it.

Nugu, estimated to cost Rs 2.44 crores and irrigate 20,000 acres upto Dec. 1956-57, Rs 241.69 lakhs were spent on it.

Ambilgola, estimated to cost Rs 56 lakhs and irrigate 7,000 acres upto 1956-57, Rs 21.35 lakhs were spent on it.

Ghataprabha Left Bank Canal, estimated to cost Rs 5.45 crores and irrigate 1.2 lakh acres upto Dec 1956-57, Rs 1.75 crores were spent on it. The Districts to benefit are Belgaum and Bijapur.

Tungabhadra Project estimated to cost about Rs 43 crores in all.

The Tungabhadra Dam is situated on the river Tungabhadra at Malapuram, three miles from Hospet in the Bellary District of Mysore State. This is a joint project of the Governments of Andhra and Mysore.

(For details see article on Irrigation)

The Bhadra or Lakkavalli, estimated to cost about Rs 26 crores, is designed to impound 61,250 million cubic feet of water on the River Bhadra, irrigating 2,34,200 acres of land in Mysore State, and generating 25,000 Kw firm power, installed capacity being 40,400 Kw. The Project was started in 1947 and by June 1957, about Rs 9 crores had been spent. The dam has risen to nearly half the total height and irrigation was started on the left bank canal during 1956-57.

CO-OPERATION

(See under article entitled "Co-operative Movement").

ELECTRICAL POWER

Installed capacity (1957-58) 190,624 Kw

Total capacity of power plant installed in State: Hydrl 178,200 Kw; Diesel 12,204 Kw; Total effective capacity: Hydrl 142,000 Kw; Diesel 4,300 Kw

Total production (1957) 909,898 mln Kwh, (Hydrl 894,500 mln Kwh, Thermal 15,398 mln Kwh), 1957-58 (6 months), 452,854 mln Kwh, (Hydrl 450,533 mln Kwh, Thermal 2,321 mln Kwh)

The following are some of the other diesel stations with the installed capacity in Kw. : Sandur 78 Kw.; Udipi 110 Kw.; Karkala 32 Kw.; Mangalore 1,284 Kw.

* Right Bank (Andhra and Mysore) Dam Site and canal stations. Mysore share 1/5th (only two units of 9,000 Kw. now in service).† Mysore's share of 25 per cent.

Sharavathi Hydro-Electric Project : It is the biggest hydro-electric project of the country, located at 15 miles from Talaguppa Rly. station near Jog, within easy distance of land centres and benefiting Mysore State and ultimately parts of the neighbouring States of Bombay, Andhra, Madras and Kerala. Electricity produced in this Rs. 40 crore scheme will be the cheapest in India. The foundation was laid by Mr. K. K. Patil, former Union Minister for Irrigation and Power on February 5, 1958. When the ten units that are proposed to be installed go into operation in four or five years the Sharavathi hydel station will produce 891,000 Kws. of power.

LARGE-SCALE INDUSTRIES

Main large-scale industries in the State with location : Textiles (Bangalore, Davangere, Bellary, Mysore, Hubli, Gadag, Gokak); Engineering (Bangalore, Harihar); Mineral and Metal (Bangalore, Bhadravati, Bellary, Kolar, Shimoga); Food, drink and tobacco (Bangalore); Chemicals, dyes, etc. (Bangalore, Mysore); Paper and printing (Bhadravati, Nanjangud and Bangalore); Process relating to wood, stone and glass (all over the State); Process connected with hides and skins (Bangalore); Gums and resins (Davangere and surrounding areas); Fisheries (Mangalore, Karwar).

OPERATIONS RESEARCH ASSOCIATION

Section of Industrial Engineering & Administration,
Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore 12.
Operations Research (OR) is one of the tools which the top management in an industrial or business organisation can use for taking action in complex situations. OR is the application of scientific methods for selecting the best among alternative courses of action or for arriving at optimum solutions for problem with conflicting objectives. An OR team consists of men of various disciplines: engineers, mathematicians, economists, etc. Conceptual models of problems are constructed to include all quantifiable variables in a situation for decision making. OR has extraordinarily interesting possibilities for improving business methods.

BUDGET ESTIMATES FOR 1959-60

Revenue : Rs. 2.36 crores.

Expenditure : Rs. 2.35 crores.

Surplus : Rs. 0.01 crore.

BELGAUM DISTRICTHeadquarters : Belgaum.

Belgaum District with Belgaum as its capital, is bounded on the north by Kolhapur and Satara South Districts; on the east by Bijapur; on the south by the Districts of Dharwar and North Kanara; on the west by the territory of Goa and Kolhapur District.

The area of the District is 5,380 square miles and the population according to 1951 census is 16,46,395. The languages spoken are Kannada and Marathi. Density of population is 306.

The talukas with their area in sq. miles and population respectively within brackets : Athani (744 ; 1,85,000) ; Belgaum (394 ; 2,81,087) ; Khanapur (675 ; 90,872) ; Paiswad (611 ; 1,21,935) ; Railbag (372 ; 91,449) ; Chikodi (479 ; 2,69,834) ; Hukeri (382 ; 1,74,414) ; Ramdurg (470 ; 90,051) ; Sampgaon (435 ; 1,64,491) ; Gokak (590 ; 1,74,650).

The country is a large plain studded with solitary peaks and broken here and there by the low ranges of Sahyadri hills. In the north and east the land is level and well-cultivated, but in the west it is intersected by spurs of the Sahyadri Range thickly covered in some places with forests. The District contains both black and red soils and produces mostly grains, pulses, oil-seeds, fibres and cotton. The average rainfall in Belgaum is 41.5 inches.

Belgaum, the Divisional and District headquarters, has a very pleasant climate especially in the hot season and it is described as the "Mahabeshwar of the poor." It has retained its historic importance in the form of an imposing fortress (which is just near Belgaum City) built in the Mogul period. A memorial in the form of a bust of Bahasabhai Bhawe the famous ruler of Ramdurg, who for his participation in the 1857 uprising, was publicly hanged at Belgaum by the British, has been put up in the heart of Belgaum City. It is a cantonment and a station on the Southern Railway. It is a busy centre throwing on all its sides well maintained roads connecting the districts of Dharwar, Bijapur and North Kanara of Mysore State and also southern Maharashtra and the Goa territory. It is an important centre of the State Transport Bus Service and is the Headquarters of the Belgaum Division of the new Mysore State.

There are a big travellers' bungalow and inspection bungalow for the Government touring officers and a well-established private hotel, Hotel Green. There are also a Civil Hospital, a Military Hospital, two well-equipped private hospitals and half a dozen maternity hospitals in the city. Belgaum has a Government Vaccine Institute which regularly supplies lymph in great quantities to the whole of Bombay and Mysore States and even outside areas on demand. For the training of military cadets and also for the children of the civilians there is a residential institution called King George Public School in the Camp and the well known Maharashtra Light Infantry Regimental Centre.

The health and sanitation of the Camp area is managed by the Cantonment Board and of the Belgaum City by the Belgaum Borough Municipality of more than a hundred years' standing. The official language of the Municipality is Marathi.

In the city and the Camp area there are five Colleges, two Arts, and one Science College, one Law College, one College of Commerce, one College for the training of Secondary School Teachers, all affiliated to the Karnatak University. There are about 19 High Schools of which five are exclusively for girls which send up students for the S.S.C. Examination. There is a Government Technical High School and a Polytechnic. The Polytechnic provides instruction in diploma courses of the different branches of Engineering as Civil, Mechanical and Electrical. This Institute will soon develop into an Engineering College. Under the First and Second Five Year Plans two local high Schools have been converted into multi-purpose high schools, Mahila Vidyalaya High School for Girls imparting instruction in Home Science and Nardar's High School (the only High School run by Government) imparting instruction in fine arts and appreciation of arts. The Municipal High School at Bailhongal and Railbag Vidyalaya, Railbag, have been converted into Multipurpose High Schools for Agriculture under the First and Second Five Year Plans respectively. There are also three Primary Teachers' Training Colleges, one Marathi and the other two Kannada. In the City there are three privately managed Pre-primary Schools run under Montessori System by trained staff. Other institutions worth mentioning are the Remand Home, the Rotary Club, the Theosophical Society, the Masonic Lodge, Vangmaya Charcha Mandal (Marathi Literary Society started in 1927), Karnatak Sahitya Sangh, Kalopasana Mandal and Varkerkar Natya Sangh both devoted to cultural development especially the dramatic art. Besides these there are the Union Gymkhana, the Social Club and Kreedha Bhuvana, Belgaum Club and the Ladies Club for the recreation of Belgaum public.

It has literary associations managed by the lovers of Marathi and Kannada literatures and is proud of a Free General Library of a hundred years standing with an imposing building of its own having a clock tower.

There are one theatre exclusively for staging dramas, eight talkies for cinema shows, and three open air theatres one in the Govt. Sardar's High School, another at Lingaraj College and the third at the R. P. D. College, Belgaum.

There is an aerodrome at Samba, seven miles from Belgaum City.

The Belgaum Central Prison is at Hindalga, two miles from Belgaum where prisoners are taught furniture making, carpet making and other industries. This is one of the biggest jails in Mysore State.

The area of the District is 6,661 sq. miles and the population according to 1951 census is 1,39,61,800 spread over 2,000 towns and 1,229 villages. The scheduled castes number 121,521 and the scheduled tribes 200. Density of population is 212. The majority of the people are Lingayats. Both Kannada and Marathi are spoken. The court language is Kannada

The District has a rich soil but rains are uncertain, the average rainfall varying between 18 and 22 inches. The name of the district is synonymous with acute famine, drought and hot climate. The staple crops are jawar and wheat but cotton, groundnut, bajra, pulses, linseed, sesamum and safflower are also largely grown. Bijapur and Bagalkot are the two important market centres. The former exporting cotton, jawar, wheat, groundnut, linseed, sesamum and bajra on an extensive scale

Hikal in Hungund Taluka and Guldegud in Badami are two other commercial centres. Hikal is known for Hikal saris, the export of which exceeds 3 lakhs of rupees a year. Rabkoti, Mahalingpur and Jerdal are three power loom centres exporting fashionable saris and pattas on a large scale. Bijapur District occupies an important position in weaving industry particularly cotton textiles. Handloom industry ranks next to agriculture with about 30,000 handlooms, employing nearly 175,000 weavers. Cholkhans are the chief exporting handloom production in Badami Taluka

There is a cement factory called The Bagalkot Cement Co., Ltd. which is under the management of Tendulkar Industries Ltd., Bombay Bijapur is an attractive tourist centre possessing a large treasure of historical monuments of architectural importance including the famous 'Golgumbaz' with its Whispering Gallery, a world-wonder. Besides, the district has the earliest Hindu temples of the 4th century, at Pattadakal and Aihola near Badami which has rock cut cave temples of an earlier period than Ajanta and Ellora. Important Hindu pilgrimages centres are Banashankar at Badami, Kudalasangam, the Nitya place of Pasaveshwar at Sangam in Hungund Taluka, Inchakeri a seat of Sadhus about 2 miles from Bijapur. Dr. Hanote Nihal Ashram about 24 miles from there, being the second Railway Station from Bijapur on Sh. T. P. N. side

Bijapur is mainly an agricultural district growing as stated above jawar, bajra, wheat, cotton, groundnut, pulses, linseed, sesamum, and safflower. There are four Agricultural Produce Market Committees at Bijapur, Bagalkot, Bilgi and Jamkhandi for the regulation of trade. Jawar, bajra and wheat are exported on a large scale to deficit areas, while the cash crops of cotton and groundnut are exported to Gulapur and Gokak Mills, and to Bombay and Marmugao respectively. Linseed goes to Bombay and sesamum to Madras State while safflower is consumed by local Ghansis. Grapes is now widely cultivated by Bijapur gardeners, Babanagar on Bijapur-Jadh road about 12 miles from Bijapur being the chief grape producing centre. Pomegranates are largely grown in Kolhar in Bagewadi Taluka and Kalatal in Bagalkot Taluka. Onions and beet leaves in Bagewadi and lemons in Indi and Sindgi are largely grown and exported to Sh. T. P. N. and H. L. etc. Out of the total geographical area of 4,21,491 acres according to Village, papers, the total area under cultivation is 1,36,07,164 acres. Forests cover 208,077 acres

About 66,600 acres are under irrigation. The main source of irrigation is wells. There are 18,411 wells, 19 tanks and 21 Government canals. Four major irrigation tanks at Hammanahalli in Bilgi at Aresliankar in Bagewadi, at Kalasikop in Bagalkot and at Nargthan in Bijapur talukas were constructed and completed at a cost of nearly one crore of rupees and about twelve thousand acres of cultivable land was brought under irrigation. Out of seven lift irrigation schemes only two continue to function. The total area brought under irrigation by means of Government canals, tanks and wells etc. is 60,669 acres. Besides the Ghatprabha Left Bank Canal has benefited Jamkhandi, Mudhol and Bilgi. Pitha taluka is bringing under irrigation a total area of about a lakh acres

Transport facilities . The Bombay State Transport Service functioning in the District has been taken over by the new Mysore State and is called the Mysore Government Road Transport Department

At present training is imparted to only 14 men and 20 such trainees are admitted at each Centre. This Board runs a Soap-making and Match box manufacturing factory at Bijapur and Jamkhandi. It also runs a Khadi and Gramodyoga Vidyalaya at Jamkhandi, there being 40 students on its roll.

The Southern Railway runs right through the District from north to south.

Institutions. There are two First grade Colleges—one at Bijapur and the other at Bagalkot run by the Bijapur District Lingayat Association. Bijapur has in all 24 high schools, three Secondary and 575 Primary Schools; 1,087 Lower Primary schools, 80 Junior Basic schools, two Pre-primary schools, three Training Colleges; two Occupational Institutions and an Industrial-cum-Technical High School, one Shudha Ayurveda Medical School; two agricultural schools, 13 Sanskrit Pathashalas and Arabic Madarasahs; two Music, Dance, and Fine Art Schools, one Remand Home and one Arts and Crafts, tailoring and embroidery institution.

Hospitals, Dispensaries and Health Centres. There are four General Hospitals, 27 general Dispensaries, four Primary Health Centres, 32 Ayurvedic General Dispensaries, seven S.M.P. Centres, one Tuberculosis Clinic at Bijapur and one Leprosy Control Centre at Ilkal.

The Vijaya College was started in 1945 at Bijapur by the Bijapur Lingayat District Educational Association, Bijapur. The college is affiliated to the Karnatak University, Dharwar.

There is one technical institute at Bagalkot imparting education in diploma courses in civil, mechanical and electrical engineering.

COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY

There is an oil mill at Bijapur providing work to about 200 workers. Bijapur has also biscuit and soap factories, handloom centres at Dargah (a suburb of Bijapur), Terdal, Rabkavi and Banhatti where several hundred handlooms, and about 60 power looms operate to turn out a large variety of saris, 60 ginning factories working during cotton season only, slate and tile factories, glass bangles and copper and brass industries. Country carpets and blankets are made in several villages in Bagalkot, Hungund, and Badami Talukas and Bilgi Petha. There is a wool-weaving demonstration centre at Kundargi where weavers are trained in improved methods in wool-weaving. A Government sheep breeding farm is situated at Anagwadi where improved types of wool are produced. Fine white building stones are exported from Badami and grinding stones from Muddebihal. Shahabadi type slates of various dimensions are quarried and exported in abundant quantities from Talikot, Kaladgi and Minagi. There is a factory at Bagalkot for manufacturing glassware of all kinds. Oil crushing is done by country ghans throughout the District and soon oil expellers will be set up at Bagalkot.

There are at present more than a hundred looms working day and night producing hundreds of bhatafs every day.

A Sarvodaya centre is functioning at Kaladgi in Bagalkot Taluka.

Area and population of North Coorg. 609 sq miles, 97,732

Area and population of South Coorg. 986 sq miles, 1,31,673

Coorg, a former Part "C" State, now a part of the new Mysore State, is bounded along its entire western frontier by the mountain chain of the Western Ghats. The Western Ghats curve somewhat inland and thus also serve to some extent as the northern and southern boundaries. In the north Coorg is partially separated from the forest highlands of Mysore by the rivers of Kumaradhara and Hemavathi, and on the east it merges into the general tableland of Mysore, the boundaries being marked by the river Cavery which is known as the Ganges of South India and a famous place of pilgrimage. Coorg is a hilly country with a rainfall of 80 to 120 inches with evergreen, deciduous and semi deciduous forests.

The Coorg district covering an area of 1,591 square miles has a population according to the 1951 census of 229,405. The population is made up of Coorgis (Kadugala Lingayats, Brahmins, Muslims, Christians and (Italians) Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes. Kannada is the chief language, Kodagu (Coorg language) is a dialect of old Kannada.

Paddy, coffee, orange, pepper and cardamom are the chief agricultural produce. There is no large scale industry. Transport consists mainly of buses, lorries and bullock carts. The chief items of trade are coffee, orange, pepper, cardamom and rice. The 1955 estimates for rice crop was 70,000 tons. The whole district is covered by the community projects schemes. The output of honey is about 2 lakh lb.

DHARWAR DISTRICT

Area 5,296 sq miles, Population 1,57,486 Density of population 297

Talukas with area in square miles and population respectively within brackets Bijaagi (168, 58,853), Dharwar (430, 1,61,020), Gadag (413, 1,44,260), Hangal (20, 89,627), Haveri (402, 1,24,198), Hirekerur (310, 96,564), Hubli (290, 1,90,532), Kalghatgi (259, 50,840), Kundgol (235, 48,517), Mundargi (336, 48,961), Nargund (176, 33,313), Navalgund (418, 75,237), Ranebennur (762, 1,20,813), Ron (476, 1,27,874), Shiggaon (144, 98,004), Shirhatti (367, 81,447)

Dharwar District is bounded on the north by the Districts of Belgaum and Bijapur, on the south by Shimoga and Chitaldurga Districts, on the east by Raichur and Bellary Districts, and on the west by the District of North Kanara. The area of the District is 5,296 square miles and the population according to 1951 census 1,57,486. Dharwar District is roughly divided into two belts, characterized by differences of configuration, soil and products. To the north and north east spread vast unbroken plains of black cotton soil which produce wheat and abundant cotton crops. Dharwar is the biggest cotton growing District in Mysore State. The western belt of the District is traversed by low hills. This tract consists of a succession of low ranges covered with herbage and brushwood. The ranges are separated by flat valleys and it is in these valleys and the lower slopes of the hills that cultivation is chiefly confined. Farther west the country is still more hilly, and the trees increase in size towards the frontier of North Kanara. The Basel Mission carries on social and educational work. Dharwar, the headquarters town, is a station on the Southern Railway and is the cultural centre of what is popularly known as the North Karnataka region. It is also the seat of the Karnataka University, and a broadcasting station of All India Radio started functioning in January 1950. Dharwar has two Arts and Science colleges, a Government College of Agriculture, a Law College, a Polytechnic, a Kannada Research Institute and an Agricultural Museum. The city of Hubli, 12 miles from Dharwar is the biggest city in the District and is the Divisional Headquarters on the Southern Railway with a railway workshop, an Arts and Science College, a College of Engineering, a Polytechnic, a Medical College and a College of Commerce. Hubli is also known for its textile industry. The town of Gadag is another centre noted for its cotton trade and textile industry.

GULBARGA DISTRICT

Area: 6,574 sq. miles; Population: 1,212,036; Density of Population: 184

Headquarters: Gulbarga.

Talukas with area in square miles and population respectively within brackets: Aland (678; 1,34,524); Gulbarga (664; 1,86,446); Chitapur (691; 1,45,054); Chitchohi (609; 92,440); Seram (865; 82,988); Yadgir (666; 1,59,830); Shahpur (627; 1,23,830); Shorapur (711; 1,23,554); Jevargi (Andola) (746; 91,214); Afzalpur (514; 72,152).

Most of the land is almost flat, the slope being from north to south and south-east. A hill range, however, traverses the District from the west to a south-easterly direction. The principal river is the Bhima, a tributary of the Krishna. The other river is the Kagna.

Generally speaking the District is devoid of forests except in the hilly areas, which contain teak, eppa, tirman, babul, tamarind and mango. The plains are hot and dry, while the wooded hills are damp.

† Figures taken from 1937 statement.

The average rainfall is about 29 inches, but it is capricious, causing occasional droughts.

In part of the area the black cotton soil predominates while part is sandy. The rabi crops are white jawar, wheat, gram, cotton and linseed. The kharif crops are yellow jawar, bajra, castor seed, rice, linseed and hemp. The staple food crop is jawar, bajra, rice and wheat being next in importance.

The most important mineral found is laminated limestone, which occurs at Shahabad and is known as Shahabad stone, largely used for flooring and roofing. There is also a cement works in Shahabad.

The exports consist of jawar, bajra, cotton, oilseeds and tobacco. The chief imports are salt, sugar, cotton and woollen stuffs, matches and kerosene.

NORTH KANARA DISTRICT

Headquarters: Karwar.

Area: 3,964 sq. miles.

The total population according to 1951 census is 517,780. Density of population is 131.

Talukas with area in square miles and population respectively within brackets: Akola (348; 44,181); Bhatkal (129; 50,053); Haljaj (315; 36,516); Honnavar (278; 74,490); Karwar (284; 78,725); Kumta (235; 77,457); Mundgod (257; 15,615); Siddapur (333; 41,777); Supa (732; 18,159); Yellapur (508; 19,112); Sirsi (556; 57,696).

North Kanara is a District on the Konkan Coast between 15°55' and 18°31' N. and 74°0' and 75°10' E. It is bounded on the north by Goa and the Belgaum District; on the east by the Dharwar and Shimoga districts; on the south by South Kanara and on the west by the Arabian Sea. The Sahyadri range of the Western Ghats varying in height from 2,500 to 3,000 feet runs through the District from the south to the north, dividing it into two tracts, the uplands or Balaghat and the lowlands or Payan Ghat.

Karwar, the headquarters of the District, possesses a fine natural harbour with great potentialities. The natural attractions of the country around, make Karwar a good health resort and a centre for tourists.

Agriculture is the mainstay of the people. Cultivable waste is about 60,000 acres. Barren and uncultivable land is about 45,000 acres. The net area sown is about 265,000 acres.

The net area irrigated is a little over 45,000 acres. The percentage of net area irrigated to net area sown is 18.06.

Paddy occupies 190,000 acres, ragi occupies 2,000 acres, black gram 2,000 acres and horse gram 2,700 acres.

Of the cash crops:—Sugarcane occupies 33,000 acres; coconuts 12,000 acres; mangoes 2,000 acres; bananas 4,000 acres; pine-apples 1,000 acres; sweet potatoes 900 acres; onions 400 acres; cashewnuts 1,200 acres; betel-nuts cover an area of 15,400 acres; pepper 2,000 acres, cardamom 600 acres; groundnuts 9,500 acres and betel-leaves 400 acres.

Rice which is most widely grown is responsible roughly for 75 per cent of the net cropped area. The average yield ranges from 8 to 40 maunds per maund of seed. The introduction of the Japanese method of cultivation has improved matters in many tracts and is responsible for larger yields. Another agricultural product the cultivation of which is fast developing in the loose sandy soil of Kanara is groundnut.

Roughly 85 per cent of the area of the district is forest. It approximates to 3,005 square miles.

The total population of fishermen is about 26,000. The average annual yield is about 20,000 tons. The chief variety is mackerel. There is a Mackerel Research Station at Karwar.

ECONOMY

There is no major railway connection in Kanara.

Karwar-Bhatkal road is the national highway and so is the Kanara portion of the Bombay-Trivandrum national highway. Lately the Government has been constructing a cement road on the highway Kanara-Hubli-Karwar—a distance of 102 miles.

The Mysore State Road Transport Corporation piles practically throughout the district with the monopoly of passenger traffic.

Vessels up to 10 tons can go up to a distance of 20 miles in Kali River and up to 18 miles in the Agrashini. The Sharavati takes boat traffic up to Gersappa, about 25 miles from Honnavar.

The steamers of the Scindia Steam Navigation Company touch Karwar, Tadri, Kumta and Bhatkal during the fair season.

The most important commodities of export are timber, fuel, charcoal, bamboos, manganese and sweet potatoes, onions and supari. Fresh fish is transported from almost all the ports by motor launches to Bombay. The principal imports are grains, sugar, pulses, kerosene oil, coconut oil, Mangalore tiles, etc.

The only mineral that is successfully tackled at present is manganese. In flourishing times about 20,000 tons were exported every year to dollar areas.

Among the important industries are the Government saw mills, and a plywood factory at Dandell. A good many rice mills sprang up during the days of rationing. But this number is now decreasing and the pounding woman is fast taking the place of the mill.

Bee-keeping is a favourite industry initiated by Government and in a forest tract like Kanara it has a bright future. Already there are 4,500 colonies in the district and the honey yield is about 20 to 25 thousand lb. a year.

The total area covered with bamboos is 89,000 acres and lies mainly on the slopes of the Gangavli and Kali rivers.

An area of about 25,570 acres of forest is covered with very useful species of palm known as the tall palm. This provides annually about 1,500 mature palms yielding about 300 tons of edible sago flour giving means of subsistence to about 6,000 people. The chief produce is tall-chakkil or pitch from which edible flour is prepared.

Baswarajadurga an island off Honnavar produces the best quality of Cavi or reddie which is used for painting houses.

RAICHUR DISTRICT

Headquarters : Raichur.

Talukas with area in square miles and population respectively within brackets : Raichur (688 ; 1,49,593) ; Manvi (749 ; 1,04,724) ; Deodurg (595 ; 89,815) ; Sindhmoo (628 ; 75,750) ; Gangavati (514 ; 86,921) ; Koppal (542 ; 1,30,895) ; Yelburga (545 ; 1,03,723) ; Kushtagi (536 ; 1,00,601) ; Lingasur (739 ; 1,11,658).

There is a range of hills extending from the west and north-west with two breaks. The general slope of the country is from the north-west towards the south-east. The most important river is the Krishna, which forms the boundary in the north ; next the Tungabhadra which forms part of the boundary in the south. The Bhima joins the Krishna on the northern boundary.

The most important trees are teak, ebony, bilsal, mango, tamarind, neem.

There are no large forests. The District is generally healthy except during the rains when fevers might prevail. The temperature during the year varies from about 110° F. to about 70° F. The average annual rainfall is about 25 in.

The chief antiquities are in or near the fort of Raichur. There are also the old forts of Deodurg and Yadgir, besides many temples and mosques.

The staple food crops are jawar and bajra. Cotton is also grown and so are rice and oilseeds.

The most important mineral is the auriferous quartz. Laminated limestone, Shababad stone and talc are also found.

The principal exports are jawar and other foodgrains and oils and the chief imports salts, coconuts, sugar, kerosene and cloth.

Raichur town is of some commercial importance.

SHIMOGA DISTRICT

Area : 4,066 sq. miles ; Population : 663,315 ; Density of population : 163.

Headquarters : Shimoga.

Talukas with area in square miles and population respectively within brackets : Shimoga (409 ; 96,620) ; Bhadravati (257 ; 80,494) ; Chennagiri (458 ; 1,01,922) ; Honnali (338 ; 85,394) ; Shikaripur (342 ; 64,320) ; Sorab (412 ; 65,388) ; Nagar (749 ; 71,580) ; Hosanagar (539 ; 37,514) ; Thirthahalli (483 ; 60,083).

The District has an average rainfall of 56.98 inches and a forest area of 439.4 sq. miles.

Shimoga, the District headquarters town, has a population of 46,524. It is the biggest centre for area trade in the Malnad parts of the State. Rice, jawar, wheat, ragi, cane, jaggery, tamarind, chillies, groundnut are exported to South Kanara and Bombay by rail and road. Chief forest produce includes teak, sandalwood, rosewood. The Government of Mysore maintain a timber depot here and also run a Sandalwood Factory. There is also a match factory called the Mysore Match Factory.

Another notable place is Bhadravati on the Bhadra river, 12 miles south-east of Shimoga. It is an industrial and trade centre with a population of 42,451. The Mysore Iron and Steel Works, the Cement Factory, the Mysore Paper Mills and a Ferro Silican Plant are all located here.

SOUTH KANARA DISTRICT

Area : 3,250 sq. miles ; Population : 1,330,917 ; Density of population : 410.

Headquarters : Mangalore.

Talukas with area in square miles and population respectively within brackets : Umdapur (600 ; 1,74,415) ; Udipi (367 ; 2,90,559) ; Karkal (629 ; 1,71,919) ; Mangalore (406 ; 4,51,005) ; Puttur (1,246 ; 2,42,989).

The Western Ghats form a natural boundary in the east, and the Arabian Sea in the West. The land slopes gently from the east to the west, but gives an impression of flatness. Much of the surface is bare and treeless and strewn with granite boulders, but there are many small hill ranges well-wooded. From the sea the coastline presents an endless stretch of coconut palms broken by river mouths.

The District has a heavy rainfall and the flora is as a consequence exceedingly varied. Of fruit trees, the coco and the areca palms and the jack and the mango are important. The palmyra palm is found everywhere and the cashew is common. The bamboo grows luxuriantly. Flowers grow in profusion. The fauna is as varied as the flora. Leopards, bisons, elephants are fairly common. The jackal and the monkey are found almost everywhere, while many species of snakes exist.

The climate is excessively humid with a rainfall of over 140 inches. The rains seldom fail in this District and drought is extremely rare.

The chief objects of archaeological interest are the Jain remains especially in Karkala, Muddidri and Venur—in the form of huge monolithic statues, temples or bastis and slabs—basas or pillars.

The District has some of the best rice lands in the country ; tobacco and vegetables are also grown, along with black gram, horse gram and green gram. On the hills there is coffee.

The District is essentially a forest District. The country is everywhere thickly wooded. The most valuable trees are teak, pounapar, black wood and jack.

The soil yields excellent clay which has given rise to a flourishing tile industry. Another important industry is coffee curing and the processing of cashewnut.

The principal exports are coffee, tiles, copra, rice and wood. The chief imports are cotton piece-goods, grain, oil, sugar, salt.

Mangalore is the biggest single harbour. But Malpe near Udipi has greater possibilities and was mentioned by the West Coast Major Port Development Committee for development as a major port between Marmugao and Cochin.

Average number of workers employed daily in the mines 49,119.

Average number of workers employed daily in each mineral industry Iron ore (16,091), Coal (6,097), Manganese (16,227), Limestone (6,134), Others (1,270)

Results of prospecting operations conducted by the State Government in 1957 (1) Estimated reserve of 80 million tons of iron ore in Bailad area of Cuttack Keonjhar for export to Japan through Paradip (2) 8 lakh tons of manganese ore in Deyphola area for establishment of a Ferro manganese plant (3) 80 million tons of limestone in Dongri area of Sambalpur for cement factory

PORTS

Chandball and Gopalpur are the two ports in the State. It is proposed to spend Rs. 2-30 lakhs for the development of Chandball Port during the Second Five Year Plan period. A sum of Rs. 75,371 was spent upto 31st March 1957. Steps were being taken to start hydrographic survey of Dhamra and Baitarani rivers during 1957-58

Exports of food grains and other cargoes from Chandball during 1956-57: 2,981 tons, Imports of cargo during the same period 134 tons

Gopalpur: There has been no sea borne trade since 1942

Paradip Paradip was declared a Minor Port on January 6, 1958. The first shipment of iron ore commenced on the 25th of November 1958 and the ship left with 8,800 tons of ore on 15th December. It is programmed to export 50,000 tons of iron ore from Paradip during the 1958-59 working season

It is proposed to build up Paradip into an all weather port as early as possible so as to handle export of 1-2 million tons of iron a year

The model studies which were taken up at the Central Water and Power Research Station at Poona are very nearly complete and the preliminary report has been received. The report has clearly established the technical feasibility of building a major port at Paradip

The prospects of trade are immense with the construction of railways from Rourkela to Talcher, Sukinda Mines to Jenaipur, Cuttack to Paradip.

The total cost of the proposed major port at Paradip would be about Rs. 8-6 crores as estimated by the Japanese Mission in 1956

AGRICULTURE

Total area of State in acres (1951): 38,481,229.

Total area cultivated: 14,954,000 acres.

S. Co.

Machkund Scheme

This is a joint scheme of Orissa and Andhra Governments and is located in Koraput District for harnessing Hydro-Electric Power from the Machkund river. Orissa's share is 30 per cent. Work on this scheme was started in 1946.

Ultimate installed capacity 1,15,500 kW

Total cost: Rs. 1,536.93 lakhs

Orissa's share: Rs. 461.08 lakhs

Expenditure upto end of First Five Year Plan: Rs. 306.96 lakhs

Provision in the Second Five Year Plan: Rs. 161.30 lakhs.

Present stage of the Scheme: Three sets have already started generation, first one from August 1955, second from December 1955 and third from June 1956. The power house transformer yard and all allied works have been completed. Work on the Jalapur Dam is in progress. Up to date installed capacity 51,750 kW. Three more sets of 21,250 kW will be installed by 1959-60.

Hirakud Scheme

This project was started in 1948 and is located at Hirakud near Sambalpur. The dam has been constructed here to utilise the waters of the Mahanadi River for irrigation, production of power and also to control the floods in the river to some extent.

It is the first of three dams proposed to control and harness the mighty river Mahanadi for the development of the entire region.

Water from the dam now completed flowed into the Bargarh Canal, the central arterial canal, in July 1956 and water was available for irrigation in September 1956.

The project will irrigate 3,80,000 acres of land in Sambalpur and Bolangir districts. At the end of November 1958, an area of 2,41,983 acres got irrigation facilities.

The main power house has four generating units and the first unit was made available from December 1956.

Upto December 31, 1958 Rs. 59.99 crores had been spent on the project. The revised estimates for Stage I are Rs. 70.78 crores.

Electric portion of the Hirakud Scheme

Installed capacity: 1,24,000 kW (first stage)

Installed capacity: 2,32,000 kW (including 2nd stage)

Present stage: Generation of power started in December, 1956. All the four generating sets have been installed and all the units are working satisfactorily. Stage I is complete. Work on the IIrd Stage is in full swing and it is expected to yield power from 1961.

Against a sanctioned estimate of Rs. 11.42 crores for the IIrd Stage, an expenditure of Rs. 5.30 crores was incurred up to December 1958.

For more particulars see under the main article on Irrigation.

Choudwar Thermal Station

Pending extension of power from Hirakud to Cuttack area, a steam station at Choudwar near Cuttack with 2 x 1500 kW and 1 x 2000 kW was installed at Choudwar. This station has been kept as a stand by plant for the Hirakud scheme as the hydro-electric power has been made available.

A 750 kW steam station which was installed at Jobra has been transferred to Chatrapur for supplying power to the Ganjam area. This was commissioned during early part of the year 1956-57.

Transmission Schemes

Duduma Transmission Scheme: Total cost Rs. 157.69 lakhs upto Ravagada (1st stage), Rs. 142.00 lakhs upto Berhampur (2nd stage).

Expenditure upto end of First Five Year Plan: Rs. 112.46 lakhs.

Provision in the Second Five Year Plan: Rs. 154 lakhs. The scheme envisages extension of power transmission to Berhampur, Ravagada, Jeypore, Koraput, Nawrangpur and Borigumma. From Berhampur the transmission line will be extended to supply power to Aska, Bhanjanagar, Rambha and Chatrapur areas in the Ganjam District and Banpur, Balugaon, Kahu, paraghat etc. in the Chilka region of Puri District.

Hirakud Power Utilisation Scheme

Total cost: Rs. 170.61 lakhs

Expenditure upto First Five Year Plan period: Rs. 77.52 lakhs

Provision made in the Second Plan: Rs. 100 lakhs

The scheme covers sub-transmission and distribution of power generated at Hirakud with a view to developing loads which would ultimately consume the power.

On this basis, 33 and 11 K.V. lines are being constructed at Hirakud round about Rajgangpur and Rairangpur region in the north for connecting the important places and mining areas in the Sambalpur, Sundergarh, Keonjhar and Mayurbhanj districts. Lines have been constructed from Choudwar upto Puri and to Khurda, Jatni via Bhubaneswar, to Bhenkanal area, Khuntli, line to Jagatsinghpur, Kendrapara had been completed and line to Jalpur was nearing completion.

The Choudwar House now caters to the demands of all these regions which will eventually be tagged on to the Hirakud system.

REGIONS

In the Zonal Division the Punjab falls within the northern Zone, comprising the States of Punjab, Rajasthan and Jammu and Kashmir and the Union territories of Delhi and Himachal Pradesh

For the more convenient transaction of business with regard to some specified matters, the State is divided into two regions, the Punjabi speaking and the Hindi speaking regions

The Hindi region consists of the districts of Kangra, Simla, Karnal, Rohtak, Gurgaon, Hissar, Mohendragarh, the Kandaghat and Nalagarh tehsils of Patiala, Ambala district excluding the Rupar and Chandigarh Assembly constituencies, Jind and Narwana tehsils of Sangrur district

The Punjabi region consists of the districts of Gurdaspur, Amritsar, Bhutinda, Jullundur, Hoshiarpur, Ferozepur, Ludhiana, Kapurthala, the Rupar and Chandigarh Assembly constituencies in Ambala district, Patiala district excluding Kandaghat and Nalagarh tehsils and Sangrur district excluding the Jind and Narwana tehsils

The Chandigarh capital project will not form part of either of the two regions. So long however as it does not become a full fledged constituency on a population basis its representative will sit in the Regional Committee for the Punjabi region

For each region there is a regional committee of the State Assembly consisting of the members of the State Assembly belonging to that region including the Ministers from the region but not including the Chief Minister

The Regional Committees have been empowered to make proposals with regard to questions of general policy not involving any financial commitments other than expenditure of a routine and incidental character

The advice tendered by the regional committees will normally be accepted by the Government and the State Legislature. In case of difference of opinion, reference will be made to the Governor whose decision will be final and binding

The regional committees will deal with the following matters: (i) Development and economic planning, within the framework of the general development plans and policies formulated by the State Legislature, (ii) Local Self Government, that is to say, the constitutional powers of municipal corporations, improvement trusts, district boards and other local authorities for the purpose of local self government or village administration including "Panchayats", (iii) Public health and sanitation, local hospitals and dispensaries, (iv) Primary and secondary education, (v) Agriculture, (vi) Cottage and small scale industries, (vii) Preservation, protection and improvement of stock and prevention of animal diseases, veterinary training and practice, (viii) Pounds and prevention of cattle trespass, (ix) Protection of wild animals and birds, (x) Fisheries, (xi) Inns and Inn keepers, (xii) Markets and fairs, (xiii) Co-operative Societies and (xiv) Charities and charitable institutions, charitable and religious endowments and religious institutions

Language Policy. The Sachar formula will continue to operate in the area comprised in the former Punjab State and in the area comprised in the former P. P. S. State the existing arrangements will continue until they are replaced or altered by agreement later

The official language of each region will at the district level and below, be the respective regional language

The State is bilingual recognising both Punjabi (in Gurmukhi script) and Hindi (in Devnagri script) as the official languages of the State

Hindi or Punjabi (as the case may be) will be the medium of instruction in all schools in its region upto the matriculation standard and the other language shall be taught as a compulsory language from the first class of the primary department upto the matriculation stage and in the case of girls in the girls' schools in the middle classes only

On the administrative side the State Government envisages a gradual switch over from English and Urdu as official and court languages to Hindi and Punjabi

There are about 23,500 looms in the Punjab out of which 5.95% are frame fly shutters, 1.61% frame through shuttle and 17,226 pitlooms.

The number of workers engaged in the handloom industries is about 39,200 including 1,476 employed in ancillary jobs mostly belonging to weavers families.

The annual output of cotton, art silk and woollen handloom goods in the State aggregates to 27 million yards. As many as 2,500 power looms were planned to be established in the Punjab on cooperative basis during 1956-58, of these 500 power looms had been allotted for 1956-57. To promote sale of handloom goods the Industries Department has set up 19 sale depots at various places in the State. Besides cottage industries emporia are also being run at Chandigarh and Delhi.

The Government of India have so far given assistance to the handloom industries in the State by way of loans and grants to the extent of about Rs 2.5 lakhs. It is expected that 400 new handloom weaving societies will be organised during the Second Plan period.

The State Government maintains a marketing organization at Amritsar with branches at Hoshiarpur, Panipat and Kulu, which provides employment opportunities to the weavers.

New Enterprises: In the Second Five Year Plan a sum of Rs 1.6 crores is earmarked for large scale industries and Rs 4.36 crores for handloom, khadi and village industries. A new textile finishing mill with modern equipment and machinery at Amritsar, two roller flour mills at Chandigarh a bone and glue factory, a cycle factory and scrap melting factory at Kapurthala and a factory to produce electric fans and electric motors at Patiala have come into existence while arrangements for setting up a wire products factory, a textile parts manufacturing factory and a piston and ring factory at Patiala have also been completed.

Among other important developments in the large scale sectors during the Second Plan are the establishment of new sugar mills, one textile mill, a shoddy spinning plant, a slasher, sizing plant, textile dyeing, bleaching and finishing factory, calcium carbide factory, two cutlery, surgical and veterinary instruments factories. These industries will be developed in collaboration with private enterprises and the sum of Rs 1.6 crores in the Second Plan shown for this purpose represents only the extent of Government share in the above private cum public ventures.

It is also planned to establish 25 medium and large scale industrial units at a cost of Rs 2 crores, a sugar factory and a piston ring factory in collaboration with the Co-operative and Agriculture departments and the private sectors.

There are 17 vocational training centres, 10 cotton spinning and weaving centres and 11 sub centres for the benefit of the displaced persons and 24 industrial schools for men and 13 for women functioning at present in the Punjab area there are three industrial schools for women and this will be supplemented by the establishment of 6 more schools during the Second Five Year Plan period.

Industrial Area Scheme: With a view to rehabilitating the displaced industrialists and others the Government launched a scheme of establishing industrial areas at Jullundur, Ludhiana, Panipat, Jagadhari, Sonapat and Bahadurgarh. Out of 1,920 developed plots a large number has already been sold. A sum of Rs 77.97 lakhs has been provided for this scheme in the Five Year Plan.

Financial Assistance: The Department of Industries gave loans to individual industrial concerns amounting to Rs 36 lakhs and Rs 40 lakhs during 1957-58 and 1958-59 respectively under State Aid to Industries Act.

Standardization of Goods: A Government Finishing and Testing Centre has been established at Ludhiana which will undertake costly technical operations involved in the production of bicycle parts, sewing machine parts and other light engineering trades. Standardization centres have been set up by the department for hosiery goods and agricultural implements at Ludhiana and Batala. Six other centres for quality marking of sports goods, furnishing fabrics, scientific instruments, utensils, making textile goods and dyeing and calico printing are also in the process of establishment.

AGRICULTURE

The total area of the Punjab according to village records pertaining to the agricultural year 1955-56 is 30,289,000 acres as per details given below:

	Acres
Area under Forests	844,000
Area not available for cultivation	7,781,000
Cultivable waste other than current fallows	2,981,000
Current fallows	1,489,000
Net area sown -
(a) irrigated	8,062,000
(b) unirrigated	9,732,000
Total	30,289,000

The total area under irrigation during 1955-56
	Acres
By canals	5,338,000
By wells and tanks	2,640,000
Tanks and other sources	44,000
Total (net)	8,022,000

In the matter of food production, Punjab is the second largest wheat and gram producing area in the Union, third in barley and maize, fourth in bajra and sugarcane while it produces considerable quantities of jowar, cotton rice, rape, mustard and small quantities of tea, tobacco, groundnut and linseed. The production of cotton in the Punjab amounts to one-fifth of the total production of the country.

During the year 1956-57 the Punjab's production of foodgrains increased by 11.14 lakh tons over 1955-56 while that of cotton by 90,000 bales and of oilseeds by 10,000 tons. In the year 1957-58 production of foodgrains in the State was estimated at over 5,600,000 tons including 2,118,000 tons of wheat.

Area and Production of Principal Crops (1956-57):

Crops	Acreage	Output (tons)
Paddy	723,000	277,000
Maize	1,009,000	651,000
Jowar	706,000	45,000
Rajra	2,442,000	240,000
Wheat	4,749,000*	1,814,000
Gram	6,079,000*	1,866,000
Barley	591,000*	186,000
Sugarcane	475,000	580,000
Cotton	1,310,000	735,000
Groundnut	148,000	43,000
Linseed	26,000*	80% of normal
Karfi pulses	141,000*	99% of normal
Rabi oilseeds	682,000*	92% of normal

† Information relates to 1st forecast

- Production of sugarcane is in terms of gur
- Production of cotton is in terms of bales
- Production of paddy is in terms of husked rice

The following table shows targets of production for the First and Second Five-Year Plans for food grains, cotton and raw sugar

Year	Tons
A. Foodgrains
Base Year, 1950-51	30,00,000
Targets of First Plan	4,04,00,000
Achievement, 1955-56	4,43,00,000
Targets of Second Plan	5,85,00,000
B. Cotton
Base Year, 1950-51	376,700
Targets of First Plan	5,55,000
Achievement, 1955-56	735,000
Targets of Second Plan	1,20,00,000
C. Raw Sugar
Base Year, 1950-51	438,000
Targets of First Plan	4,50,000
Achievement, 1955-56	5,00,000
Targets of Second Plan	8,00,000

Besides a degree college in Agriculture there are an Agriculture Research Institute at Ludhiana and a number of research stations at important places in the State for imparting education in agriculture.

The Punjab Government has allocated substantial funds for creation of green belts against the advancing desert from Rajasthan.

The consumption of artificial fertilisers was stepped up to 75,000 tons in 1956-57. The target at the end of the Second Plan is expected to go up to 1,50,000 tons.

Besides 27 co-operative garden colonies there are at present 550 co-operative farming societies in the Punjab. By the end of the Second Plan period it is proposed to raise the number of co-operative societies to 850. The State Government has also set up a Land Mortgage Bank with its branches in all the districts for the benefit of farmers. The Second Plan provides for the establishment of 650 large sized agricultural credit societies and 5,000 primary credit societies.

The Punjab Government began State trading in food grains from the 10th of May 1955. Its first purchases of wheat were at Rs. 14 a maund in the wholesale markets at Jagraon, Ferozpur and Ludhiana.

Animal Husbandry:

Live stock census of 1956

No. of animals in the State: 14,466,000 (cattle other than buffaloes 4,85,000; buffaloes 4,810,000; sheep 1,250,000; goats 1,011,000; horses and ponies 9,000; other live stock 470,000).

No. of regular veterinary hospitals: 28; permanent outlying dispensaries: 217; ordinary outlying dispensaries: 5; first aid centres: 253.

There is a Government Institution at Hissar for the manufacture of tanned products. The Government live stock farm at Hissar maintains about 1140 heads of live stock including buffaloes, sheep, donkeys, etc. etc. for breeding purposes. In this farm the famous Marathi breed of cattle is scientifically raised.

There were 14 lakh poultry in 1956. There are two Government poultry farms at Gurdaspur and Mukerthi and five sub-stations at Ambala, Jalandhar, Ludhiana, Sahiwal and Batinda. There is a Department of Veterinary Science and Animal Husbandry at Hissar.

LAND TENURE

Names of Tenancy Acts in force at present: The Punjab Occupancy Tenants (Vesting of Proprietary Rights) Act 1957, The Punjab Abolition of Ala Malkiyat and Fudukari Rights Act 1952, Punjab Security of Land Tenures Act 1953, Punjab Tenancy Act 1887, Punjab Security of Land Tenures (Amendment) Act 1955, P.P.S.T. Occupancy Tenants (Vesting of Proprietary Rights) Act 1957, The Patidari and East Punjab States Union Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act 1953, The P.P.S.T. Agricultural Tenant (Temporary Protection and Disability) Ordinance 1954, The Punjab Security of Tenure (Amendment) Act 1958, The P.P.S.T. Tenancy of Agricultural Lands (Amendment) Act 1958.

With the passage of the Punjab Occupancy Tenants (Vesting of Proprietary Rights) Act 1957, there are now no occupancy tenants except on covered lands. They become proprietors from 1st June 1958. The Government of Punjab has made provision for the transfer of land to the State.

Consequent upon the enforcement of the Punjab Security of Land Tenures Act 1953, which came into force on the 14th April 1953, tenants were divided into the following two classes: Tenants of landowner owning land above the permissible limit (50 standard acres or 60 ordinary acres) and tenants of landowners owning land below the permissible limit.

The permissible area has been fixed at 50 standard acres or 60 ordinary acres in case of locals and in case of displaced persons 50 standard acres or 100 ordinary acres for those who have been allotted 50 standard acres or more in lieu of land left in West Punjab, but in the extent of land allotted in case of less than 50 standard acres and more than 20 standard acres but if allotted less than 20 standard acres then up to 20 standard acres including any land which such displaced persons have in East Punjab.

The tenants of the former category have security of tenure for a period of 10 years from the date of the commencement of the tenancy or the date of the enforcement of the aforesaid Act, whichever is later. The tenants of latter category are liable to eviction after the 30th of April 1954 upto which date no tenant is liable to eviction.

There were a fairly large number of ejectments and an Ordinance was promulgated in October 1954.

The Government piloted an amending Bill in 1955 to tighten the provisions of the original Act further.

The amended Act empowered the Government to utilise the 'surplus area' of both landowners and tenants for the resettlement of landless and ejected tenants. Under the Act all areas above 30 standard acres owned by a local owner were considered 'surplus'. Further, a small owner who held land up to 30 standard acres could not eject a tenant from five standard acres unless the tenant was settled by the Government on the surplus area. The amended Act also declared all sales bona fide or otherwise, effected after January 1, 1955, illegal.

Landowners who were ever anxious to dodge the new laws failed to declare their surplus areas, thereby compelling the Government to amend the Act again in the last Budget session. A penal clause was introduced imposing both fines and imprisonment on defaulters.

The former P.P.S.T. area is governed by another radical land law which lays down that ownership of all land in excess of the permissible ceiling of 40 standard acres shall vest in the State and compensation shall be payable by the State after its recovery from tenant who they assume proprietary rights. The P.P.S.T. law provides for compensation amounting to 100 times the land revenue or Rs. 100 which ever is less and the Punjab law provides compensation up to three fourth of the market value.

The Punjab Government further amended the two parent Act, 1957, to give P.P.S.T. and Punjab law in the entire State. Latest amendments passed by the State Legislature in December 1958, under the further tighten the scope of the original Acts.

The tenants' right and interest have been safeguarded against the new situation in the State and the State has taken steps to landowners. While the tenancy right will remain intact on redemption of land, the State has taken steps to landowners.

A ceiling up to the permissible area in the erstwhile Punjab has been imposed on future acquisition of land by proprietors or by the State, if there being already a similar provision in the P.P.S.T. Act.

Transfers of portions of land, imposed on surplus areas, made by landowner after 14th April 1957, in erstwhile Punjab will have no effect inasmuch as the government and utilization of surplus area by the Government is in accordance with the provisions of the Act made after 14th August 1956. In the erstwhile P.P.S.T. have been made instructions.

The work has been carried out in the State is aimed to complete the work and a number of ejected tenants will have been resettled by the end of 1958. Legislation to vest proprietary rights in occupancy tenants holding covered lands was also put through in 1958.

Steps have been taken to amend the East Punjab Cultivation of Lands Act 1949 so as to reduce the number of sub-tenants, to remove the restriction on the cultivation of waste land, to extend the application of the Act to the erstwhile P.P.S.T. area.

The State Government have enforced the Punjab Resumption of Rights Act 1949, which provides for taking over jagirs and manors in the State on payment of suitable compensation, except military jagirs and jagirs and manors granted in favour of religious and charitable institutions.

Consolidation of Holdings: The consolidation programme in the Punjab began in 1954 and up to the end of October 1958, 92 lakh acres had been re-partitioned. The remaining area requiring consolidation is 1.27 lakh acres which is intended to be completed by the end of 1963. Progress during 1957-58 has been somewhat slow, largely owing to the Patwaris' strike and the diversion of staff or combatting calamities like floods.

Consolidation is now complete in 19 tehsils and is in progress in another 32 tehsils.

IRRIGATION

Total area irrigated inclusive of area irrigated by tube-wells, one crore acres.

The Bhakra-Nangal Project is estimated to cost Rs. 174 crores. On completion it would provide irrigation for the first time to 3.8 million acres in the Punjab, 1 million acres in PEPSU and 9 lakh acres in Rajasthan, besides improving irrigation in about 8.6 million acres. The additional agricultural production is estimated at about Rs. 182 crores annually and nearly 4,00,000 kWs. of electric energy would be added to the State's power resources.

Full benefits of the Project will be available on its completion in 1960. However, schedules have been so arranged as to bring some measure of these benefits as each step of construction is completed.

After the completion of the Bhakra-Nangal Project, the total area to come under irrigation by the Bhakra Canal System consisting of 600 miles of main lines and branches and 2,100 miles of distributaries will be over 9 million acres.

The following table shows the year-wise figures of new acreage which will be irrigated by this Project.

	Acrea
1956-57	1,572,007
1957-58	1,611,008
1958-59	2,308,211
1959-60	2,651,955
1960-61	2,880,076
After completion	4,963,705

In addition to the multi-purpose Bhakra-Nangal and Harkie Projects and minor irrigation programme under the head 'Agricultural schemes', a large number of other fairly big schemes were also undertaken at a cost of Rs. 68.8 crores. An additional area of 1,31,000 acres has come under irrigation as a result of all these schemes. Besides, in the area of the erstwhile PEPSU, an area of 1,11,000 acres has come under irrigation during the First Five Year Plan period.

The following works are to be undertaken during the Second Five Year Plan period for which there is provision for Rs. 40.98 crores. Names of the works, coverage and additional area under irrigation respectively.

Completion of Bhakra Project, Hissar, Karnal, Ambala, Jullundur, Ferozepur, Hoshiarpur, Patiala, Sangrur, Bhatinda, Kapurthala and Mohindergarh, 1,87,000 acres.

Madhopur Beas Line, Ambala Division (except Simla), Jullundur Division (except Amritsar, Gurdaspur and Kangra Patiala Division), 600,000 acres.

Strind Feeder Project, Same as Madhopur-Beas Line, 600,000 acres.

Remodelling of West Jumna Canal, Hissar, Rohtak and Karnal, 328,000 acres.

Gurgaon Canal, Gurgaon, 50,000 acres.

Increasing the capacity of canals to Karnal and Delhi Division, Rohtak and Karnal, 45,000 acres.

Dadri Irrigation, Mohindergarh, 50,000 acres.

Spill over Projects, Ambala Division (except Simla), Ferozepur, Amritsar, Gurdaspur, Kangra, 80,000 acres.

Sisra Branch Munak Link, Gurgaon, Karnal, Rohtak, Hissar, Benefit after 1961-62.

Extension of Flood Irrigation (HFI) from Western Jumna Canal to water Reward and adjoining areas, Gurgaon, 40,000 acres.

Extension of non-perennial irrigation to area in upper Ban Doab Canal, Amritsar and Gurdaspur, 40,000 acres.

ELECTRIC POWER

1957-58: No. of stations: 41; installed capacity: 174,521 kW; energy generated: 657,223 mln. kWh.

The main sources of electric supply in the State are (1) The River Hydro-Electric Scheme at Joginder Nagar where four sets of 12,000 kW. each, including one stand-by, are installed, (2) The Nangal Power House I at Gangawal with 3 units of 24,000 kW. each, out of which at present two are working, (3) The Nangal Power House II at Kotla with 3 units of 24,000 kW. each out of which two are working at present, (4) Bhakra Dam Left Bank Power House with six generating units of 90,000 kW. each and (5) Bhakra Dam Right Bank Power House with five generating units of 90,000 kW. each.

Provision of electricity, particularly in the rural areas, for industrial and domestic uses is one of the main items on the development programmes in Punjab. Electricity has already been made available to more than 2,51,000 consumers in the State.

The estimated revenue for the year 1957-58 was Rs. 5.5 crores.

Progress of electrification in the State upto December 1957: Towns and villages with a population of 20,000 and above and those with a population between 10,000 and 20,000. All electrified.

Towns and villages with a population below 1,000, 1,790 electrified out of 5,000 towns and villages, to be completed by 1960-61.

Besides the above, 7,091 tube wells also stood energised upto April 1958. It is expected that by the end of year 1960-61, fifty per cent of the population of the State will be getting benefits of electricity while the per capita consumption of electricity will rise to 50 kWh. from 8.1 kWh. at present.

Punjab Electricity Board. State Electricity Boards were set up in Punjab and Rajasthan following an agreement between the States on the terms of partnership relating to the irrigation and power wings of the Bhakra Nangal Project.

The entire assets and liabilities of all government electrical undertakings in Punjab including the Bhakra and allied power projects were passed on to the Punjab Electricity Board which came into existence on 1st February 1959.

The three-member autonomous Board with Mr. H. R. Bhalla as its Chairman has been located at Patiala. Except for policy directions from the Ministry, the day-to-day working of State Electricity undertakings shall be administered by the Board.

The Government has also resolved to gradually nationalise all private electricity ventures by paying compensation.

TRANSPORT

There are about 5,000 miles of metalled road in the Punjab.

Government has taken over 50 per cent of all pucca routes, leaving 50 per cent to private operators. This scheme has been enforced in pursuance of an agreement between private operators and State Transport Department in 1950. The Government's monopoly, however, will continue on the Karnal Ambala, Jullundur-Amritsar, Ferozepur-Fazilka routes. The agreement will last for 10 years.

Nationalisation of goods transport has been postponed till 1961.

LABOUR

Number of registered Factories: 2,573.

Number of workers: 80,000.

Employers' Provident Fund scheme has also been enforced in the State and about 150 factories are covered by it. About 16,000 workers employed in these factories at present benefit from this scheme.

Employees' State Insurance Scheme also came to be enforced in 1953 in seven centres covering about 35,000 workers. Since then the number of workers insured has risen to 64,000. Additional facilities have also been provided with effect from the year 1956-56.

The Punjab Government have enacted legislation known as Commercial Establishments Bill. The bill confers on shop assistants and workers in all commercial establishments including newspapers and news-agency offices statutory rights with respect to earned leave, weekly holiday, minimum working hours etc. Workers in all commercial establishments will not be required to work for more than 10 hours a day with two hours rest in the afternoon.

EDUCATION

No. of students (boys and girls) receiving education in Schools and Colleges (1957-58): 17.5 lakhs.

Total number of institutions: 15,918.

Total no. of literates in the State (1951 census): 24,57,496 (Men 18,25,953; Women 6,31,543).

Percentage of total population: 16.13.

Under the Second Five Year Plan a sum of Rs. 1,485 lakhs including Rs. 2 crores for technical education, will be spent. The aim of the Plan is to bring to schools 60 to 65 per cent of the children in the age-group 6-11 and 37 per cent in the age-group 11-14.

Technical institutions will also be expanded so as to raise the admission from 40 to 105 in the Engineering College, Chandigarh, from 40 to 60 in the Veterinary College, Hissar, from 50 to 100 in the Agricultural College, Ludhiana, and from 80 to 100 in the Medical College, Amritsar.

More than 190 primary schools, 40 middle schools and all the junior teacher training schools in the State have been converted into basic type upto the end of 1957-58. Besides, first Basic Training Schools have also been started at various centres. It is expected that by the end of 1960-61 ten per cent of the elementary schools will be converted into basic type.

Promotion of education among scheduled castes and backward classes is also receiving special attention side by side. There are 13 schools for the benefit of erstwhile criminal tribes as well as 29 primary and 3 middle schools for the backward areas of Lahaul and Spiti, apart from a high school at Keylong.

In the schools of the former State of Punjab, a scheme of nationalisation of text books has already been enforced. Under this scheme, only nationalised text books, which number 147, are being used in classes I to VIII.

Education was made free in all Government schools upto the 6th class and 10,092 local body schools (322 high, 762 middle and 9,008 primary) were provincialised involving an expenditure of Rs. 525.77 lakhs. The provincialisation of local body schools alone involved an expenditure of more than Rs. 4 crores. In the Government schools of Kangra and Mohindergarh districts education was made free upto the 8th class. This concession was later extended to Tehsil Sub-Tehsil of Hissar District and the Morni Hill areas in tehsil Narainagarh of Ambala District. In the flood affected areas, free education is provided in Government schools upto the 10th Class.

In addition to a large number of adult education centres in nearly all the community development and N.E.S. blocks, the State Government has also been running 55 social education centres for male adults and 45 for female adults in the urban areas.

In addition, there are schemes for the re-organisation of Industrial Schools, and the expansion of Training Centres at a cost of Rs. 1.4 crores, the establishment of two Polytechnic and Printing Technology Institutes, the establishment of a Polytechnic at Patiala and 2 junior technical schools at a cost of Rs. 8 lakhs. Provision has also been made in the Plan to subsidize the establishment of an Institute of Engineering and Technology at Patiala.

SHIROMANI GURDWARA PARBANDHAK COMMITTEE, AMRITSAR

(Teja Singh Samundri Hall, Amritsar.)

The Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee is constituted under the provisions of the Sikh Gurdwaras Act, 1925 (Punjab Act VIII of 1925). It consists of:

- (i) 142 elected members;
- (ii) Head Priests of Golden Temple, Amritsar and the following four Takhts: (a) Akal Takht Sahib, Amritsar; (b) Takht Kesgarh Sahib, Anandpur; (c) Takht Patna Sahib, Patna; and (d) Takht Hazur Sahib, Nanded (Bombay) and
- (iii) Fifteen members resident in India of whom at least ten are residents of the States other than the Punjab State co-opted by the members of the S.G.P.C. as described in clauses (i) and (ii).

Every Sikh man or woman, more than 21 years of age, who resides in the Punjab is entitled to have his name registered on the electoral roll of a constituency formed for the election of a member or members of the board provided he does not trim or shave his beard or Keshas except in case of Sahajdhari Sikh and does not smoke or take alcoholic drinks. Every voter is eligible for election provided he is not of unsound mind, is not an undischarged insolvent, is not an apostate from the Sikh religion, does not take alcoholic drinks, is not a Minister of a Notified Sikh Gurdwara, other than mentioned above in clause (ii), is not a paid servant of any Notified Sikh Gurdwara, being a Keshadhari Sikh is not an Amritdhari and can read and write Gurmukhi.

Elections to the Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee are held every five years. Dates for the elections are fixed by the State Government and the preparation of electoral rolls and other arrangements are also made by the State Government.

The Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee directly manages some of the important and historic Sikh Gurdwaras situated within the Punjab. All the above mentioned Gurdwaras are administered by a Committee of Management consisting of five members of whom four are elected by the voters of the constituency concerned and one member is nominated by the Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee. The S.G.P.C. supervises the affairs of these Gurdwaras.

A Judicial Commission is also constituted under the provisions of the Sikh Gurdwaras Act to settle disputes regarding the management of the Gurdwaras. This commission has the same powers as are vested in a Court by the Code of Civil Procedure, and the Commission has unlimited jurisdiction as regards the value of the suits throughout the Punjab.

Under the provisions of the Sikh Gurdwaras Act, the S.G.P.C. and the Gurdwaras under its control and supervision can spend their funds for religious, charitable, educational or industrial purposes and also for such non-political purposes as are connected with the general uplift and welfare of the Sikhs. Its accounts are annually audited by the Auditors appointed by the State Government.

In the last Gurdwara elections, out of 132 members elected 110 members were elected on the ticket of the Shiromani Akali Dal, four members on the ticket of the Khalsa Dal i.e. Congress Sikhs and 18 on the ticket of the Desh Bhagat Board, i.e. Communist.

The total strength of the S.G.P.C. is 162.

At the annual general meeting of the S.G.P.C. held on 10th November 1958 a new set of officers was elected.

In the election to the presidency Master Tara Singh, the Akali leader was defeated by sardar Prem Singh Lalpura, Congressman by 77 votes to 74. Two votes were held invalid.

The S.G.P.C. manages about 600 Gurdwaras in the Punjab. Before partition there were about 750 Gurdwaras under the S.G.P.C.

The S.G.P.C. also runs an Arts College, an Industrial College and School and several High Schools, hospitals, and libraries.

GEOGRAPHY

The Aravalli mountains intersect Rajasthan from end to end by a line running north east and south west. The heights of Mount Abu, merged into Rajasthan on November 1, 1956 are close to the south-western extremity of the range while its north-eastern end may be said to terminate near Khatri alm at on the borders of Delhi.

There are two main regions, one to the north-west of the hills and the other to the south east. On the whole the north west region is sandy, ill watered and unproductive, it improves gradually as we move from west to east. In the extreme west it is mere desert, while towards the east it is comparatively fertile and habitable. The only river of any consequence here is the Luni. The great desert forming the whole of the frontier between Rajasthan and Sind is covered by sand hills on which grows a kind of coarse grass in the dry season and a slightly richer vegetation depending upon the scanty rainfall.

The cultivation is everywhere poor and precarious. Along the base of the Aravalli range the land is well cultivated.

The region south east of the Aravallis is higher, more fertile, and very diversified in character. It contains extensive hill ranges, long stretches of rocky wood and woodland. The region is traversed by many rivers and in some parts there are wide valleys, fertile table-lands and great stretches of excellent soil. The chief rivers are Banas and Chambal.

There are no natural fresh-water lakes in Rajasthan, the only considerable basin being the well known salt lake at Sambhar. There are, however, numerous artificial lakes in the eastern half of the State. Among the many artificial lakes mention may be made of the Jai Samand, the Raj Samand, the Pichola (Udaipur), the Pushkar and the Anasagar (Ajmer).

MINERALS

Rajasthan is an important mineral and building stone producing State. It produces on an average about 60 per cent of India's total production of soapstone. It ranks next to Bihar in Mica which is chiefly found in Ajmer, Udaipur, Bhilwara and Jaipur Districts. There are over 100 localities where mica is worked both in Ajmer and Udaipur.

The non-metallic minerals are silica sand, Feldspar, Asbestos, Barytes, Clays, Emerald, Fuller's earth, Bentonite, etc. The metallic minerals are lead, zinc, silver ore, iron ore and manganese ore. Lead concentrates and zinc concentrates are prepared at Zawar mines in Udaipur. About 5 ounces of silver is found in a ton of lead, zinc and silver ore of Zawar mines. Appreciable tonnage of iron and manganese ores has also been produced. The State is the sole supplier of gypsum for fertilizer manufacture to Hindri plant.

About 75 localities in Ajmer and over 100 localities in Udaipur in addition to numerous other places in the State yield beryl.

Lignite coal is mined near Palana in Bikaner Division. There are vast deposits of high quality building stones such as marble, sandstones and limestones. Limestone is used for the manufacture of cement at Lakheri and Sawal Madhopur and for lime at a number of places. Marble quarried at Makrana in Jodhpur Division is famous as building stone.

Large resources of sodium sulphate and salt also occur at Deedwana and Sambhar lake.

Production in thousand tons of some important Minerals in 1957: Asbestos, 0.60; Barytes, 1.11; Bentonite, 2.03; Calcite, 2.35; Emerald, 131.35 (lbs); Fuller's earth, 6.01; Gypsum, 851.15; Glass sand, 20.40; Iron ore, 99.35; Lead, Zinc and Silver: (a) Run of Mine ore, 89.30; (b) Lead concentrate, 4.85; (c) Zinc concentrate, 7.47; Lignite (coal), 17.55; Manganese ore, 13.47; Marble, 23.57; Mica (cut), 1.74; Soapstone, 36.23; Selenite, 3.51.

INDUSTRIES

Among the large-scale industries of Rajasthan, cotton textile, cement, glass and sugar are important. There are seven cotton textile mills (working), 2 cement factories, 1 glass factory and 3 sugar mills in the State. The industrial production of some commodities during 1957 was as under:—

Cloth 166 lakh lbs. or 576 lakh yds.; yarn 373 lakh lbs.; cement 6.6 lakh tons; glass 695 tons; sodium sulphate 6.8 lakh mds.; salt 75.00 lakh mds.; sugar 15.5 thousand tons; khadi commercial 25.96 lakh sq. yards; khadi-woollen 0.94 lakh sq. yds.; khadi self-sufficiency 11.06 lakh sq. yds. (The last four figures relate to the financial year 1956-57.)

The most important cottage and small-scale industries are Tie and Dye Fabrics, Gota Kinari (Silver and Gold lace), Lacquer wooden toys, Handmade paper, Papier Maché toys, Gem cutting, cloth printing, manufacture of tools and implements, Embroidered shoes (Jutiyan) and leather bags, water bottles (Hadisa) and handloom weaving.

Among the chief exports are salt, wool, woollen fabrics, raw cotton, oilseeds, ghee, marble and sandstone, hides, printed cloths, camels, cattle, sheep and goats. The main imports include food grains, cotton piece goods, sugar, metals, timber and benzene oil. The principal trade centres are the capitals of the former States.

AGRICULTURE

Main Food Crops of the State: (a) Kharif Crops: Rice, Bajra, Jowar, Pulses and Maize; (b) Rabi Crops: Wheat, Barley and Gram. Main cash crops of the State: (a) Oil seeds—Sesamum, Rapeseed and Mustard, Linseed and Groundnut; (b) Cotton; (c) Sugarcane; (d) Tobacco.

Production of Food Crops in thousand tons (1956-57): (1) Cereals: Bajra 637; Jowar 212; Maize 324; Wheat 1,315; Barley 710; Rice 86; Small Millets 29; (2) Pulses: Gram 1,171; Tur 6; other Rabi pulses 5 and other kharif pulses 379.

Production of individual cash crops in thousand tons (1956-57): (a) Oil seeds Sesamum 91; Groundnut 38; Rapeseed and Mustard 110; Linseed 44; (b) Cotton (thousand bales) 168; (c) Sugarcane 679 tons in terms of gur; (d) Tobacco 5; (e) Chillies (dry) 11; (f) Potatoes 4.

Land Utilization (in thousand acres) 1956-57: Total geographical area according to village papers: 84,449; Net area sown: 30,702; Fallow land: 13,736; Land not available for cultivation: 14,832; other uncultivated land excluding fallow land: 21,626; Forests: 3,553; Area sown more than once 3,178; Total cropped area: 33,880.

Area under crops in thousand acres (1956-57): Bajra: 9,303; Jowar: 2,109; Wheat: 3,347; Maize: 1,238; Barley: 1,447; Small Millets: 185; Rice: 230; Gram: 3,813; Tur: 44; Other Rabi Pulses: 29; Other Kharif Pulses: 4,897; Sesamum: 1,183; Rape and Mustard: 657; Linseed: 376; Groundnut: 109; Cotton: 550; Sugarcane: 83; Tobacco: 22; Chillies (dry): 53; Potatoes: 3.

Fish: Variety of Fish produced: There are large numbers of tanks, lakes and rivers in which inland fishes are found. The main species are the major carps, viz. Rohu, Nares, Marigal, Kalbasa, Katla and other varieties, e.g., Puli, Lanchi, Sole, etc. are also found.

Land Reclamation:

Number of tractors available: 1,464.

Extra food production achieved by 1955-56 as compared to 1951-52: 3.3 lakh tons.

Number of veterinary experimental stations: There is one Pathology Laboratory at Bikaner.

Agriculture and veterinary education: Veterinary College, Bikaner. Five Basic Agriculture Training Schools started at Sawal Madhopur, Udaipur, Kotah, Sumrampur and Bhillai with total strength of 480 students. Besides, there are two extension centres for V.L.W.'s with a capacity of 100 students each.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT AND NATIONAL EXTENSION SERVICE

Total number of blocks upto the end of March 1958: 102.

Total number of C. D. Blocks: 88; N.E.S. Blocks: 52; Post Intensive Blocks: 12.

Total number of villages covered: 15,651.

Total area covered: 47,997 sq. miles.

Population covered: 66,00,000 lakhs.

Expenditure incurred on Community Development and National Extension Service (1957-58): Rs 185.07 Lakhs.

Progress of Community Projects (1956-57): (Compost pits dug (1955-56) 62,907.

Fertilizer distributed: 84,510 mds.

Net area irrigated under Reclamation scheme: 17,902 acres.

Wells constructed: 4,763.

Wells renovated: 3,332.

Drinking water wells constructed: 1,404.

Drinking water wells renovated: 1,155.

Roads constructed: 2,357 miles.

Village houses constructed: 6,403.

People's participation: Rs. 167 lakhs.

FORESTS

Total forest area in State (1956-57): 35,53,000 acres

Main types of forests: Teak, Bamboo, Dhokara (Brewood) and Khair.

Total revenue from forest for 1956-57: Rs. 62,22,297.

Total expenditure: Rs. 47,78,043.

Main forest produce: Timber, Firewood, Charcoal, Bamboos, Grass, Aawal bark, Kathar Gum and Tendu leaves.

LIVESTOCK

Total number of cattle: 12,072,713. Breeding bulls 2,578,049; Breeding cows 4,414,370; Youngstock 4,400,294. Buffaloes: 3,439,449; Horses and Ponies: 112,636; Sheep: 7,372,005; Goats: 8,780,163; Donkeys: 190,237; Camels: 436,237; Pigs: 72,030; Mules: 616.

Total livestock: 32,426,976.

Poultry: 457,394

Number of Veterinary Hospitals: 68 and dispensaries 182.

Artificial Insemination Centres: 21.

Key Village Centres: 126

Mobile dispensaries: 11.

Mass Immunisation Centres: 7.

LAND TENURE

Land Tenure Systems in the State:

There are three kinds of land tenure in the State viz., Ryatwari, Jagirdari and Zamindari.

The Rajasthan Tenancy Act aims at introducing a uniform Tenancy Law for the whole of the State and will remove the diversity of conditions prevailing in different parts of Rajasthan in respect of Land Tenures and relations of tenants and landlords or tenants and Government.

The Rajasthan Land Reforms and Resumption of Jagirs Act, 1952 was enacted for the resumption of Jagir Lands, with the exception of jagirs utilized for the maintenance of any place of religious worship or for the performance of religious service. An Amendment was enacted in 1954. It contains provisions for allotment of Khudkast land to Jagirjars and removes the exemption from resumption to Jagirs with annual income below Rs 5,000. It provides for a scale of compensation including rehabilitation grant.

The Act came into force from 15th February 1952. Resumption of Jagirs was started immediately after the Amendment Act was passed on 15th June 1954.

The present position regarding resumption of jagirs is that all jagirs with an annual income of Rs. 200 or more in the former United State of Rajasthan, and all settled jagirs with an annual income of Rs. 500 or more in the pre-reorganised State of Rajasthan have been resumed.

The number of jagirs thus resumed is 8,254 with an estimated annual income of Rs. 262 lakhs. The total estimated rental income of all jagirs is Rs. 3.34 crores. Of an estimated total of Rs. 36 crores payable as compensation in 15 years, a sum of Rs. 410 lakhs has been paid as compensation.

About 170,000 petty jagirs, with an aggregate annual income of Rs. 70 lakhs, are yet to be resumed in Rajasthan. Also to be resumed are 5,000 jagirs of minor zamindars and maulwars in the former Ajmer State, with an annual income of about Rs. 2,00,000.

Source of acquisition of compensation money: From the resources of the State with the assistance of the Central Government.

How the tenants are helped to acquire the land so released: Rules have been framed from time to time for allotment of land with a view to encouraging Grow More Food. These were revised in 1958 to make better provision for allotment of land to landless persons and agricultural labourers.

The State Legislature has passed an Act for abolition of religious jagirs also on payment of a perpetual annuity equal to the net annual income.

Every tenant and sub-tenant is entitled to retain an area which yields a net annual income of Rs. 1,200 exclusive of the cost of labour of the tenant and his family. The excess land held by the tenant, if any, could be resumed for personal cultivation by the landlord within two years. The rent is not to exceed one sixth of the gross produce.

The Land Revenue Act, enacted in 1956, consolidated land laws, it regulated the appointment and powers of revenue courts and revenue officers for the preparation and maintenance of maps and land records, settlement of revenue and rents, and partition of estates.

Among other enactments may be mentioned the Jagiriar's Debt Reduction Act, the Relief of Agricultural Indebtedness Act and the Agricultural Loans Act.

The Agricultural Rents Control Act, limited the rent payable to the zamindar to twice the land revenue.

The Tenancy Act, 1955 ensured security of tenure. The law recognised only three kinds of tenants, khattidar tenants, tenants of khudkash and ghair-khattidar tenants.

The fragmentation of holdings was undone by the Holdings (Consolidation and Prevention of Fragmentation) Act, 1954.

The Bhoodan Yagna Act was passed in 1954 and the Bhoodan Yagna Board created by it started functioning in January 1955. During 1957 the Board received 10,503 acres of land from as many as 588 donors. It has distributed 4,131 acres of land among 584 families.

The majority of the holdings in Rajasthan are below ten acres each and, naturally, uneconomic. The number of holdings less than an acre in area is more than 432,000 and of the 268,000 acres these cover, 50,000 acres are cultivated by subtenants.

Holdings of 1,000 acres and above number 500 (and amount for 1,082,316 acres), those between 50 and 100 acres 119,050, those between 10 and 100 acres 38,283 and those between 100 and 1,000 acres 28,505. The average holding is now estimated at 15 acres.

The Lands Summary Settlement Act, 1953, empowered the State Government to undertake summary settlement in unsettled areas and to fix cash rents for land holdings, as an interim measure.

Unoccupied Government land, comprising cultivable waste and land temporarily cultivated, is estimated at 14 million acres and the number of landless cultivators 375,000. There is, thus, enough land with the Government for allotment to landless agriculturists.

Persons to whom this land is to be allotted: The landless peasants for Khudkash.

The Assembly passed the Rajasthan Zamindari and Bhawadari Abolition Bill on December 11, 1954. The President gave his assent to the Bill in February 1955.

The Bill seeks to abolish zamindari and his feudal estates in Rajasthan as recommended by the State Zamindari Abolition Committee.

IRRIGATION

Net irrigated area in the State: 3,400,000 acres (1956-57).

Net irrigated area by sources (1956-57): Canals 600,000 acres; tanks 408,000 acres; wells 2,218,000 acres; other sources 94,000 acres.

Gross irrigated area under crops (1956-57): Food crops 3,450,000 acres; Cotton 328,000 acres; Sugarcane 70,000 acres; others 420,000 acres.

Area irrigated more than once: 693,000 acres.

Names of irrigation projects in operation in the respective divisions showing the area irrigated:

Jaipur Division: Madar: 500 acres; Fateh Sagar Lake with channels: 500 acres; Swaroop Sagar and Pichola with Channels: 350 acres; Bhupal Sagar Tank: 2,200 acres; Jalsamand Lake: 13,000 acres.

Kankroli Division: Rajasamand: 6,000 acres; Nahar Sagar: 3,800 acres; Unmied Sagar: 4,400 acres.

Kodah Division: Unmied Sagar tank including Ramgarh Canals: 5,300 acres; Eklera Sagar: 2,400 acres; Parvati Canals: 11,500 acres.

Jaipur West Division: Chappewara: 5,200 acres; Kalakh Sagar: 3,400 acres; Tori Sagar: 4,450 acres.

Jaipur East Division: Sainthal Sagar: 1,900 acres; J. Ramgarh: 5,250 acres; Madho Sagar: 2,000 acres; Mansarovar: 1,490 acres; Galal Sagar: 40 acres; Dhill: 5,100 acres.

Jawai Division: Jawal: 32,000 acres; Surpura: 600 acres; Jawant Sagar: 2,000 acres; Sumair Samand: 1,600 acres.

Matya Division: Sikri: 9,000 acres; Jalsamand: 3,760 acres; Jal Sagar 600 acres; Mangahar: 830 acres; Boochara: 3,000 acres; Ajan Bund: 2,300 acres; Pichuna Canal: 10,000 acres; Ramnagar Tank & Canal: 5,000 acres; Urmila Sagar Tank & Canal: 3,500 acres; Tal-Shahd Tank and Channel: 400 acres.

Ganganagar Division: Gang Canal: 638,000 acres.

Central Sector works in progress: The names of the schemes giving within brackets the cost in lakhs, expenditure upto end of March 1956 and the area to be irrigated on completion: Bhakra (Rs. 447.39 lakhs; Rs. 339.51 lakhs; 570,000 acres); Chambal (Rs. 1,927.61 lakhs; Rs. 187.57 lakhs; 5,50,000 acres).

In 1956-57 three major canals namely Gang Canal, Bhakra and Ghaggar irrigated 691,548 acres, 92,550 acres and 12,336 acres of land respectively.

New Works

Statement showing new works prepared to be taken up during the Second Five-Year Plan:

Multi-purpose schemes showing within brackets the location, estimated cost and area to be irrigated on completion: Bhakra Nangal* (Ganganagar District; Rs. 2,275.00 lakhs; 570,000 acres); (i) Works in Rajasthan (Rs. 447.39 lakhs); (ii) Share of common works (Rs. 1,927.61 lakhs); Chambal Project (Kota and Bundi; Rs. 3,414.25 lakhs; 550,000 acres); (i) Kota Barrage, Rs. 382.55 lakhs; (ii) Right main canal, Rs. 1,046.09 lakhs; (iii) Left canal, Rs. 219.44 lakhs; (iv) Rana Pratap Sagar dam, Rs. 1,766.19 lakhs.

Major and medium works showing within brackets the cost in lakhs of rupees, the potential annual irrigation in acres and probable or actual dates of completion: Banas (Rs. 480 lakhs; 225,000 acres); Jakhm (Rs. 117 lakhs; 53,000 acres); Mahi (Rs. 315.76 lakhs; 70,000 acres); Berach Badgaon (Rs. 93.77 lakhs; 18,290 acres); Berach at V. Nagar (Rs. 49.47 lakhs; 14,000 acres); Wagana* (Rs. 64.95 lakhs; 20,000 acres); Alula (Rs. 35.45 lakhs; 11,770 acres); Sabi (Rs. 25 lakhs; 48,000 acres); Khari Feeder (Rs. 20 lakhs; 8,000 acres); Khari Storage (Rs. 30 lakhs; 8,000 acres); Bundi (Rs. 26 lakhs; 4,000 acres); Sukli (Rs. 18 lakhs; 8,000 acres); West Banas (Rs. 48.75 lakhs; 13,364 acres); Manohar Thana (Rs. 95 lakhs; 50,000 acres); Sawan Bhadon (Rs. 11 lakhs; 10,000 acres); Narayan Sagar (Ajmer) (Rs. 38.13 lakhs; 8,000 acres); Bharatpur Feeder from Agra Canal (Rs. 14.76 lakhs; 18,000 acres); Parbati in Bharatpur District (Rs. 87.10 lakhs; 37,000 acres; During 2nd Plan period); Mejai* in Bhilwara District (Rs. 50 lakhs; 30,000 acres; 1958); Gudha* in Bundi District (Rs. 42.35 lakhs; 30,700 acres; 1954-59); Jawar* in Pali District (Rs. 300 lakhs; 46,000 acres; almost completed except minor works expected to be completed in 1958-59).

Names of other schemes, irrigation benefits in acres and probable or actual date of completion respectively:

Continuing Schemes: Kallid: 14,000; 1958-59; Morel: 24,000; 1958; Juggar: 9,000; 1954-59; Lailbarka Naka: 7,000; 1958-59; Rangolia: 7,000; 2nd Plan period; Gambheri: 33,000; Second Plan period; Sareli: 22,000; Second Plan period; Arwar: 22,000; Second Plan period; Khari: 26,000; Second Plan period; Namona: 13,000; 1954-59; Ora: 9,000; 1958; Galwa: 17,000; Second Plan period; Masli: 13,000; Second Plan period; Parwana: 3,000; Second Plan period; Kallidindh: 30,000; Second Plan period; Bhinnsagar: 16,000; Second Plan period.

Second Plan Schemes: New tank on Lahasaria: 5,000; Second Plan period; Bharatpur Feeder: 18,000; Second Plan period.

Minor irrigation works: Area to be irrigated: 212,000 acres.

Cost of New Minor Irrigation Works in the agriculture sector financed by the Ministry of Food and Agriculture: Rs. 247.31 lakhs.

Number of wells constructed during the First Five-Year Plan: 25,000.

Scarcity area works*: cost Rs. 340.25 lakhs; area to be irrigated: 267,600 acres.

Rajasthan Canal

Rajasthan Canal Construction: The Government of India has decided to take up the construction of the Rajasthan Canal from the Harkis barrage across the Sutlej. The Governments of Rajasthan and the Punjab have accordingly started making preliminary arrangements for the execution of the scheme. Excavation work has begun near Hanumanagar situated in the midst of arid regions of the State (April 1959).

The Rajasthan Canal, which is a Second Five-Year Plan project, will have a discharge of 18,500 cusecs at the head. About 425.8 miles in length, it will benefit extensive areas in Ganganagar, Bikaner and Jaisalmer Districts of Rajasthan State. The project will be developed in two stages.

The main canal will be in two parts (a) Rajasthan Feeder 134.2 miles long (110.8 miles in Punjab and 23.4 miles in Rajasthan); (b) Rajasthan Canal 291.6 miles long lying entirely in Rajasthan territory.

Estimated† to cost Rs. 66.47 crores, the canal will provide irrigation facilities to a gross area of 5.11 million acres, with a total culturable commanded area of 3.36 million acres (by flow). On full development the area irrigated annually will be about 2.62 million acres, yielding about one million tons of crops annually valued at Rs. 30 crores.

The building of this canal will involve 6,700 million cft. of earthwork and 180 million sq. ft. of lining for the main canal only and will create employment for over half a lakh of people during construction period. The project will bring under irrigation a large desert area.

Direct revenue from this project after full development of the area in the pre-storage period will be about Rs. one crore by way of water rates only. Betterment levy will bring to the exchequer Rs. 45 crores and sale of Government waste land another Rs. 67 crores. Indirect revenue such as rise in income from income-tax, excise, posts and telegraphs, railway, etc. will also be considerable.

* These estimates are likely to be changed as proposals have been put up by the C.E. Irrigation to the Government to make it a lined canal instead of unlined as at present.

POWER PROJECTS

Installed capacity (1959): 43,787 kW.

Position in 1957: (in thousand k.w.h.).

Electricity Generated: Steam or Gas—66,013; Diesel 27,587.

Electricity purchased from non-electric utilities—166.

Total electricity generated and purchased—93,760.

Electricity sold to ultimate consumer—67,240. Electricity sold as percentage of electricity generated 71.7.

K.w.h. generated per thousand of population—5,861.

K.w.h. generated per square mile—704.

Names of power stations in operation with their effective capacity in kW and production during 1956-57 in units in brackets: Jaipur (5,200 kW; 25,520,947 units); Bikaner (4,500 kW; 17,788,162 units); Jodhpur (3,000 kW; 12,535,233 units); Alwar (250 kW; 1,111,387 units); Bharatpur (935 kW; 1,078,788 units); Bhilwara (75 kW; 120,000 units); Deeg (40 kW); Dholpur (180 kW; 1,000,000 units); Dungarpur (80 kW; 492,997 units); Jaisalmer (60 kW;

* Irrigation already started.

The extensions of the existing power stations at Jaipur, Bikaner and Jodhpur have been completed.

In addition to the above 21 Government-owned power houses there were privately-owned power houses at the end of 1956-57 at the following places: Bundi, Jodhpur, Pali, Rajgarh, Sirahi, Abu Road, Bhawanmandi, Ladnu, Nawalgarh, Pratapgarh, Banwara, Hanumanagar, Surtgarh (Garhi), Nathdwara, Pilani, Merta, Phalodi, Kuchaman, Ajmer and Beawar.

Under the development of thermal power stations scheme, Kishanganar and Bhilwara were completed resulting in additional installed capacity of 600 kW. Work on Bharatpur and Alwar stations was nearing completion.

The scheme of rural and urban electrification provides for the installation of diesel and steam generating sets providing 6,400 kW installed capacity along with transmission and distribution lines for 270 miles by the end of the Second Plan.

The plant and equipment for this programme is being obtained under the Technical Co-operation Mission Aid Programme for which 1.00 million dollars have been provided.

Under the urban and rural electrification scheme to provide employment opportunities, 7,100 kW generating capacity is going to be added by 1958-59.

Bhakra Nangal Project. A total firm power amounting to 105,000 kW would be available for Rajasthan in the post-Bhakra Stage. Share of Rajasthan in the Bhakra Nangal Project is 2 per cent. The canal system of the project will command an area of 9,00,000 acres in Rajasthan.

Summary of the total capital cost upto the end of 1963-64 of the whole project for Rajasthan would be about Rs. 829,026 lakhs.

Estimated rise in output after completion 15,000 kW by the end of the 10th year of operation. For more details see Bhakra-Nangal under article "Irrigation".

Chambal Hydro-Electric Scheme. It is a multi-purpose scheme and will serve 29 localities in Rajasthan. The project has been divided into three stages. The first stage will comprise the Gandhi Nagar Dam and the Kotah Barrage and a network of canals on either side of the barrage for irrigating 11 lakh acres in Madhya Pradesh and Rajasthan. Power generation in the 1st stage will be 75,000 kW and the total area to be irrigated would be 5.5 lakh acres in Rajasthan. The revised cost of stage I is estimated at Rs. 61.59 crores. For more details see under "Irrigation".

The project will be financed by the Madhya Pradesh and Rajasthan Governments.

CO-OPERATION

(June 30, 1957)

Total number of Co-operative Societies: 9,082
Total membership: 343,843
Total working capital: Rs. 59,95,180.
Total share capital: Rs. 1,48,76,008.
Loans advanced: Rs. 4,40,17,327.
Recoveries made: Rs. 3,42,69,700.
Loans due: Rs. 4,19,11,956.

TRIPURA

Capital: Agartala.

Area: 4,116^{sq} Miles; Population: 6,45,707.*

The number of refugees was 361,719 as on 31st December 1956. The total estimated population as on 31st December 1956 was 9,06,000.

After the reorganisation in November 1956, the State has been a Union Territory.

Tripura Territory is bounded on the north by the Sylhet District of East Pakistan and Cachar District of the Indian Union, on the west by the Sylhet, Tippera and Wokhali Districts of East Pakistan and on the east by the Lushai Hill Tract District of the Indian Union and the Chittagong Hill Tracts of East Pakistan. The major portion of the Territory is hilly and full of jungles.

The agricultural wealth of the Territory consists of paddy, jute, cotton, tea and fruit such as pineapple, jackfruit, etc., while forests yield timber, firewood, bamboo and charcoal. Paddy is the main source of revenue.

There is only one District—Tripura, one municipality and no Panchayats.

The Territory is divided into ten administrative Sub-Divisions—Sadar, Khowai, Kailashahar, Dharmanagar, Sonamura, Udaipur, Belonia, Sebroom, Kamalpur and Amarpur.

POPULATION

Sadar Sub-Division has a population of 353,000 (31-12-1956) and is divided into ten Tahsils—Sadar, Purnanagar, Ramutia, Mohanpur, Simna, Ishanchandranagar, Kamalpur, Takarjala, Bishnagar, Charlam.

Khowai Sub-Division has a population of 75,000 (31-12-1956) and is divided into four Tahsils—Khowai, Kalyanpur, Ashrambari and Telamara.

Area of Territory in acres: 2,634,240; Area cultivated 507,000 (1955-56); Area under wet cultivation 424,000 (1955-56).

More money, better seeds and improved implements are being distributed to increase food production. In Tripura the expenditure went up from Rs 4.6 lakhs to Rs 31 lakhs in 1956.

Total cattle 802,865; Total buffaloes 40,477; Horses and ponies 746; Sheep 6,774; Goats 101,332; Other livestock 60,114.

The fishing population may be reckoned as 2,500 families.

Road mileage 724. Of this motorable 624, metalled 152, unmetalled 272.

There is no railway or water-way in the Territory. There are however, five aerodromes.

Tripura, which at present is cut off from the rest of the country, is being linked by road with Assam through the Assam-Agartala road. More than Rs. 300 lakhs are to be spent on road development.

There are no irrigation works in the Territory.

Power position in 1956: Installed capacity of plants 466 kW. No. of units generated 1,032,144 kWh. No. of units supplied to industry 120,374, for domestic purposes 572,211, for commercial 59,546, for public lamps 24,849.

The source of power is the Agartala Electric Supply in Agartala town. This is proposed to be nationalised and expanded. Expansion was expected to be completed at the end of 1957 when the capacity of the plant was expected to increase to 635 kW.

Average daily number of workers employed in registered factories 1,497 (1955).

Minimum wages are fixed in the following tea plantations (Rs. 31 15 0 a month), bidi making (Rs. 29 a month).

Total no. of members of trade unions: 6,865

Labour Welfare Schemes: The Tripura Labour Welfare Scheme offers recreational, adult educational and vocational training facilities such as sewing, knitting, basket making etc. to the tea plantation labourers during the Second Five Year Plan. One Labour Welfare Centre was opened on 15-3-1957 at Manuvalley T.E. under Kailashahar Sub-Division. It is located in between 3 gardens and will serve about 800 labourers.

Employment Exchange: One District Employment Exchange was opened on 23-2-1957 at Agartala. In addition to the primary duty of placements, other important functions such as collection of factual information relating to employment situation on a local basis and for particular industries and occupation will be also made.

There are no large-scale industries in the Territory. Cottage industries include handloom, carpentry, black-smithy, bidi making, soap, basketry, pottery, leather works, tannery and paper making. The total value of the finished goods will be about Rs 3.40 crores. Most of these are co-operative undertakings. Out of the 5,000 persons engaged in cottage industries about 960 are paid workers.

There are three types of land tenure in the Territory: Kayrami Taluk, Takahshahi Taluk, Khas Jami or Kayati right.

The Acts governing the three systems are: Rajaswa Sambandhiya Niyamhali for the Kayrami, Contract and customary law for the Takahshahi, and the Landlord and Tenant Act (Act I of 1296 T K) for the Khas Jami.

The Kayrami Taluk are held in fixed rent with full and permanent rights of ownership. If the rent is in arrears the taluk can be put up for sale.

The Takahshahi are held on settlement, mostly for 30 years with succession right of renewal on enhanced revenue.

The more important provisions of the Landlord-Tenant Law are as follows:

Term of settlement is from 5 to 7 years. But if the tenant continues to pay rent the settlement remains valid under the existing Tenancy Act, a tenant has no legal right to build a pucca house, excavate a tank, or grow or fell a prohibited tree in his holding. He is liable to be ejected if he fails to mutate his name within 6 months after his succession. Pucca structures can be constructed on lands settled in higher right (Kayrami or Takahshahi right).

No laws have been passed for the expropriation of the non-proprietary rentier class—the so-called Zamindari or Jagirdari abolition Acts.

The Tripura Advisory Committee suggested in September 1955 that in the proposed land reforms for the Territory, 25 standard acres of land be fixed as the ceiling limit for personal cultivation by an owner in Tripura and for future acquisitions subject to the limit being increased to 50 standard acres in case of large families.

The Committee approved a Bill to provide for the acquisition of estates in Tripura and for certain other measures of land reform.

Displaced Persons (1956): Tripura has spent Rs. 10 crores so far on various schemes of assistance to and welfare of the displaced persons in the territory. A further sum of Rs. 2.50 crores is likely to be spent in the next financial year.

Tribes (1956): Nine Tribal colonies have been set up for the Jhumias (shifting cultivators) at various places and the people are gradually taking to settled cultivation. A sum of Rs. 81.55 lakhs has so far been spent on this scheme. Betterment of ex-servicemen and labourers is also receiving due attention.

Second Five Year Plans (1956): The Second Plan provision for Tripura is over Rs. 8.46 crores, of which Rs. 3.50 crores are intended for construction and improvement of roads and Rs. 3 crores for social services like Education, Health, etc. A scheme for survey and settlement operation has also been sanctioned at a cost of Rs. 1.33 crores and works on it are in progress.

Education

The number of primary schools has risen from 403 in 1950-51 to 1,041 in 1956, including 112 Junior Basic Schools. Nearly 73,000 pupils including 23,700 girls were admitted from 1956-57 to 1958-59. The number of secondary schools has increased from 64 to 110.

Area of plantation in 1956-57 and new orchards: 14,321 acres.

Number in plantation: Fruit trees 1,594,539. Fuel and Timber trees 761,388.

LIVESTOCK

The following figures are for June 30, 1958: Number of stud bulls: 6,077; Buffalo bulls: 1,588; No. of Rams: 1,788; No. of Bucks: 716; No. of Boars: 215.

Number of stallion stands: 44; Donkey stands: 10.

No. of circle laboratories: 4; Central laboratories: one.

No. of veterinary hospitals: 307. Stockmen centres: 541.

No. of assistant surgeons and stockmen: 256 and 1,337.

No. of State poultry farms at the close of 1958: 11. No. of poultry development blocks: 242. No. of poultry demonstration units in hills: 19. No. of poultry extension centres: 15. No. of farmed birds issued: 31,418. No. of farm eggs issued: 317,064. No. of persons trained in poultry keeping at different State poultry farms: 58. No. of private poultry farms subsidised: 21.

Number of sheep and wool research stations (one at Allahabad).

Cattle breeding: Intensive cattle breeding work has been done throughout the State. Nuclear herds of breeding stock of each breed are being maintained at the Government cattle breeding farms in each of the nine cattle breeding zones of the State. Besides, there are no artificial insemination centres functioning in the State.

In 1957-58 eight new key village blocks with A.I. centres in rural areas and milk routes and four in urban A.I. centres were established thereby raising the total number of A.I. centres in the State to 80. Two key villages were added to each of the existing key village blocks financed by the Government of India thus expanding the area of the blocks from four to six units.

Six more cattle breeding extension centres were established where 40 bulls are located in research centres for natural service. 27 castrals have also been subsidised.

Mass prophylactic inoculation of cattle against rinderpest was carried out in nine more districts.

Five new Veterinary Hospitals were started. Ten centres for mass treatment of livestock against parasitic diseases were started during the year and 600 stations were provided with additional equipment and medicines.

In the hills there are seven sheep farms and 2 stud ram centres while in the plains there is one sheep farm, five sheep breeding units, 24 stud ram centres and 24 sheep and wool development extension centres to supplement the sheep and wool development programme.

FISH

Arrange of water under the control of the Department for Pisciculture: 6,000 approx. mostly total area stocked: 600 acres. Number of fingerlings collected and stored from spawning grounds: 600,000 approx. No. of fingerlings stocked: 600,000. Quantity of fish netted out through departmental efforts: 1,249,494. Total no. of fingerlings distributed to the public: 1,249,494. Total no. of fish collected and stored: 14,600,948 (approx.).

Construction of the Fish Reclamation Farm at Gajpur Tal Jampur is in progress. Forty-one nurseries were acquired for rearing fry and fingerlings and 60 nurseries were improved. The renovation work in Kalyan Hatchery in district Tehri Garhwal is in progress.

A cold storage plant has been installed at Allahabad for providing facilities for keeping the daily marketable fish to private producers and dealers. Eight fishermen co-operative societies were organised and given financial assistance to the extent of Rs. 10,000 per party.

CIVIL SUPPLIES

There is no rationing of foodgrains, salt or sugar. Imported wheat and coarse foodgrains are, however, being distributed on no profit no loss basis through fair price shops throughout the State and at subsidised rates in flood affected and chronically deficit hill areas of the State.

The number of fair price shops in the State on December 30, 1958 was 4,012.

Following are the figures of issues for 1957-58: (a) Wheat: (i) through fair price shops in the State on no profit no loss basis: 2,22,800 mds.; (b) at subsidised rates in scarcity and flood affected areas: 958,779 mds.; (c) at subsidised rates in hill areas: 117,400 mds. Total: 6,549,179 mds.; (ii) Coarse grains at subsidised rates in scarcity and flood affected areas: 666,211 mds.

During the financial year 1958-59 the State Government obtained from the Government of India 2,65,478 tons of wheat, 4,191 tons of gram, 1,158 tons of maize, 1,026 tons of Bombay chana, 22,147 tons of milo and 24,963 tons of rice upto November 22, 1958. During this period 2,76,508 tons of wheat, 60,790 tons of coarse grains and 14,839 tons of imported rice were distributed among the people through fair price shops.

The State Government had decided to procure during the year 1.5 lakh tons of rice from State production.

LAND TENURE

With the vesting of zamindari, following the enforcement of the U.P. Zamindari and Land Reforms Act, 1950, on July 1, 1952 in 48 out of the State's 51 districts, estates of nearly 20 lakh zamindars were taken over resulting in direct contact with 12,800,000 Kisans. The area of land taken over from intermediaries is about 8 crore acres.

Liquidated zamindars retain such of Sir, Khudkasi and groves of which they have become Bhumidhars.

The new land tenures under the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act are: Bhumidhar, Sirdar and Asami.

The following laws govern the different tenures extant in the State and other matters connected with them:

1. The U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act as amended from time to time governs the new tenures; 2. The U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 governs small pockets where the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950, has not yet been made applicable; 3. The Jauhar Bawar Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950 and U.P. Urban Area Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950 govern the new tenures in Pargana Jauhar Bawar of the Dehra Dun District and the urban areas in the State respectively; 4. The U.P. Land Revenue Act of 1901 as amended from time to time; 5. The U.P. Bhudai Yagna Act, 1952; 6. The U.P. Land Reforms (Supplementary) Act, 1952; 7. The U.P. Commutation of Rent (Regulation of Proceedings) Act, 1952; 8. The U.P. Land Tenures (Regulation of Transfer) Act, 1952; 9. The Jauhar Bawar Security of Tenure and Land Records Act, 1952; 10. The U.P. Zamindars' Debt Reduction Act; 11. The U.P. Agricultural Tenants' (Acquisition of Privileges) Act, 1949.

The main features of the Zamindari Abolition, and Land Reforms Act are: Extinction of intermediaries' rights; Payment of equitable compensation; Payment of rehabilitation grant to ex-intermediaries who paid land revenue upto Rs. 10,000 per annum; Undisturbed possession of land by actual tillers of soil and conferment of greater rights upon them; Undisturbed possession by every person of his house, well or grove; No landlord tenant system to be in force in future i.e. prohibition of subletting except in restricted cases of disabled persons; Prevention of uneconomic holdings; Village community to own all common lands and to have powers of land management; The entire body of bhumidars and sirdars to be jointly and severally responsible for the payment of land revenue; and a provision for co-operative farming.

Every ex-intermediary (ex-zamindar) is entitled to compensation at the rate of eight times his net assets. In addition, every ex-intermediary, whose land revenue did not exceed Rs. 10,000 would be given rehabilitation grant at a graduated specified scale.

Uttar Pradesh denies landlords the right to evict tenants even for self-cultivation of the vacated holdings.

The abolition of zamindari released 43,969,300 acres, that is, 96.3 per cent of the total land holdings, in the State. Two classes of cultivators, Bhumidhars (owners of land) and sirdars (wielders of the plough), enjoying different rights, inherited these lands from the State, which had acquired them from the intermediaries.

Of the alienated lands, nearly nine million acres of waste land were made over to the village communities for management. Another 2,400,000 acres of waste land and private forests were handed over to the Forest Department for development.

Pastures and pathways, cremation grounds and threshing floors, ponds and village baras (wells), in July 1952, into the possession of the village community. Bhumidars and sirdars continue to pay the same revenue or rent as before, but the sirdar, acquiring Bhumidari rights on payment of ten times the rent or revenue, will have his revenue halved.

The final zamindari abolition compensation payable to ex-intermediaries is assessed at Rs. 69.76 crores. Up to the end of October 1958, compensation to the tune of Rs. 61.48 crores had been paid to them of which a sum of Rs. 15.55 crores was in cash and Rs. 45.93 crores in 2½ per cent interest bearing transferable 40 year bonds.

Rehabilitation grants payable to ex-intermediaries have been estimated at about Rs. 70 crores. Up to the end of October 1958, grants totalling about Rs. 9,75,00,000 had been paid in cash and in 25 years non-interest bearing transferable bonds.

The State Government are also paying compensation to former landholders of adhvaks who were declared as sirdars in 1954. Their number is about 40,60,000. The amount of compensation payable to their erstwhile landholders is estimated at about Rs. 10.5 crores. Till the end of October 1958, compensation on this account amounting to Rs. 2.7 crores has been paid them in cash and Rs. 2.5 lakhs in bonds.

In future, no more than 12½ acres including the existing holdings can be acquired by a person in his and in the name of his family which includes wife or husband, as the case may be and minor children. The corresponding limit in the trans-Yamuna portions of the State, the Tarai and Kashi pur sub-divisions and certain areas in Mirzapur District has been fixed at 25 acres.

According to official estimates, over 7.6 lakh families in this State are landless. The percentage of landless labourers to tenure holders works out at 16.1 against 51 in Bihar, 54.4 in Rajasthan, 71.4 in Madras and 73.2 in Kerala.

Likewise, the cultivated land available for an average family in Uttar Pradesh is the lowest in India and does not exceed 4.8 acres against 13.1 in north-west India, 11.7 in Central India, 6.3 in Eastern India and 5.7 in south India.

There are only 9,976 holdings, each more than 50 acres and totalling 13,19,515 acres. Excluding about 2,100 mechanised farms from the operation of ceilings proposed by the Planning Commission's directive, only about five lakh acres would be available for distribution among the landless.

Consolidation of holdings: Operations under the scheme are being carried out in 32 tehsils of 27 districts of the State, comprising 13,336 villages having a cultivated area of about 62.50 lakh acres. Till September 30, 1958 the scheme of consolidation had been completed and chaks transferred in 6,255 villages while demarcation of chaks had been made in 6,651 villages covering about 22,51,000 acres of cultivated area. The scheme affected 6,68,948 tenure holders. The number of plots was reduced to 11,11,500 chaks. During 1958-59 the scheme was expected to be extended to eight more tehsils covering about 14 lakh acres of additional cultivated land.

Bhoo-dan: Land gifts amounted to 306,606 acres at the end of 1957 out of which 94,543 acres had been distributed by the Bhoo-dan Committee.

IRRIGATION

Area irrigated by State Irrigation works (1957-58): 8,025,673 acres.

Number of tube-wells energised and brought into operation till March 1958: 5,577. Area irrigated by tube-wells 1,708,692 acres; by canals 6,316,981 acres.

Total additional area brought under irrigation from State irrigation works of the First Plan during 1957-58 was 20 lakh acres. Total estimated rise in output was about 4.84 lakh tons.

Names of irrigation projects in execution with the area in acres which will be irrigated, total cost in lakhs of rupees and probable date of completion wherever available, respectively within brackets:

803 miles extension of Sarda Canal (1,76,000; 50-00); 1,062 miles extension of Sarda Canal (1,76,000; 110-00); Pratapgarh Branch (Extension of Sarda Canal) (67,000; 71-00); Trans-Yamuni Project (Extension of Sarda Canal) (74,000; 60-00); Sarda Canal Reservoir in Tarai

Forest Stage I including Jaunpur Branch and increasing capacity of Sarda Canal (1,72,000; 479-49); Increasing capacity of Ganga Canal (1,12,000; 18-00); Irrigation Schemes in Kumaon (21,500; 48-50); Banganga Canal (22,000; 36-32); Matatila Dam Stage I (2,64,500; 487-56); Arjun Dam (27,000; 118-00); Belan and Tons Canal (1,01,477; 198-46; March 1961); Ahaura Dam (22,000; 87-71); Chandraprabha Dam (24,000; 87-71); Shaganj Distributary (20,000; 18-70); Tamsa Pumped Canal (1,39,000; 129-00; During 2nd Plan); Naugah Dam (30,000; 132-97; 1959).

Continuing schemes: Names of the schemes not mentioned in the above list with the irrigation benefits in thousand acres and probable or actual date of completion respectively within brackets: Dohrigat Pumped (anal 1,39,000; 1960); Remodelling Eastern Yamuna Canal (22,000; 1960); Remodelling Agra Canal (27,000; 1959-60); Narayani Ghandak Pokhra (anal 51,000; 1959); Afzalgarh (anal 10,000; 1960); Remodelling Jani Escape (Benefits included in increasing capacity of Upper Ganga Canal; 1958-59).

Second Plan Schemes with irrigation benefits in thousand acres and probable date of completion within brackets: Othen Reservoir (16,000; 1961); Tumeria Reservoir (40,000; 1960); Nanaksagar (1,33,000; 1959); Upper Khajuri (15,000; 1958-59); Jirga Reservoir (64,000; 1960); Kwanu Pumped (anal 53,000; 1959).

Drainage and floods: 268 miles of bunds completed, about 4,000 villages raised and 490 miles long drains completed.

Names of certain irrigation systems with the area irrigated in acres by each during 1956-57: Upper Ganga (anal 1,489,321; Lower Ganga Canal 1,124,504; Eastern Yamuna Canal 458,041; Agra Canal 313,320; Hijnor Canal 16,293; Ramganga Canal 23,267; State tube-wells 1,156,977; Banganga Canal 3,325; Sarda Canal 1,076,793; Rohilkhand Canal 42,191; Ghagra Canal 21,805; Dure Canal 24,258; Behon Canal 225,199; Rampur Canal 33,207; Ghaggar Canal System 109,810; Chakia Canal 54,609; Ken Canal 143,640; Canals in Tarai Division 13,384; Canals in Kumaon Division 9,951; Nappur Lake 4,859; Nauri Lake 2,008; Jaguar Tank (Agra District) 8,411; Bundhis in Hamirpur 8,234; Bundhi in Allahabad 2,083; Bundhi in Varanasi 24,561.

Community Projects: Till the end of October 1958 there were in the State 370 development blocks covering 46.2 per cent of the total area of the State and 40.4 per cent of the population spread all over its 51 districts. The percentage of the rural population, however, comes to 46.8 square miles, with a population of 2,009,024.

POWER

Total installed capacity in State 367,740 kW. (1958)

Total installed capacity of the power houses under Electricity Department till December 1958: 180,219 kW.

Total effective capacity of power houses under Electricity Department till December 1958: 133,568 kW.

Total production during the year 1956-57: 301,543,316 K.W.H.

Estimated rise in the installed capacity after completion of the Second Five Year Plan scheme: 310,000 kW. The completion will be in the Third Five Year Plan period.

Rihand for construction T	6,000	Mirzapur	48.95	1956-57	1956-57

* There are three Power Stations at Yamuna and the cost mentioned is for the whole scheme having an installed capacity of 51,000 kW. The scheme will be completed by 1965-66 and the 1st Power Station of 17,000 kW will be ready by 1960-61

LARGE-SCALE INDUSTRIES, MANUFACTURES

Important large-scale industries in the State are: Textile (Cotton, Woollen and Jute), Sugar, Paper Alcohol, Glass, Leather and Tanning, Oil, Vanaspathi, Rosin and Turpentine, Linters, Paper and Paper Board, Hosiery, Bobbins, Starch, Agricultural Implements, Catechu, Match, Metal Rolling, Engineering, Cigarettes, Precision Instruments and Cement

The State is not rich in minerals. Limestone, iron and copper ores, glass, sand, mica, gypsum, lead, scapolite, sulphur, etc. are found in the Himalayan region and southern districts of the State

Coalfields exist in the District of Mirzapur in Tehsil Sangrauli. Gold is found in minute quantities by washing the sands in some of the rivers in the hills. Limestone is found in the Himalayas and in the districts of Banda and Mirzapur and stone is largely quarried in the districts of Allahabad, Hamirpur, Banda and Mirzapur. At Churk in Mirzapur District Government have set up a cement factory with an installed capacity of manufacturing 700 tons of cement per day. An expansion programme to double its capacity is under way

A preliminary survey report presented to the Heavy Industries Plan Committee of the I.P. Government has revealed the presence of iron ore in Naini Tal (Garhwal), Mirzapur and a few other districts. Coal has been discovered at Singrauli, while Corbawal and Almora have fairly large deposits of copper ore

Deposits of limestone have been found in Mirzapur which could be utilised for the manufacture of calcium carbide and cement. Limestone deposit suitable for the cement industry has been found in Dehra Dun

Gypsum deposits had been reported in Garhwal, Tehri Garhwal, Dehra Dun and Naini Tal. Deposits of fire clay, which could be utilised for the manufacture of refractory bricks, cement crockers, sanitary ware and insulators have been found in Mirzapur district at a place 30 miles off Pipri, the Rihand Dam site. Approximately three million tons of good quality non-plastic fire-clay are stated to be available there

Deposits of magnetite have been found at Jakhra in Almora District

The Government Precision Instrument Factory at Lucknow is engaged in the manufacture of water meters and microscopes of the student and research types. It has a capacity of manufacturing 38,000 water meters and 300 microscopes in a year. The factory produced about 23,167 water meters of 1" size, 1,421 water meters of 1" size and 825 water meters of 1" size from April to end of December 1954. During the same period 187 scholar microscopes, one comparison microscope, 16 stethoscopes and three diagnostic sets were also manufactured

Kanpur is the chief centre for cotton spinning and weaving mills. According to the latest figures available about 600 persons are employed in registered cotton spinning and baling factories and about 68,000 in spinning and weaving mills.

Agra, the principal centre of shoemaking, is rightly called the Northampton of India and produces shoes worth over a crore of rupees a year. Kanpur is next to it in importance

For further development of the leather tanning industry, the setting up of 20 additional tanning centres was sanctioned in 1954. Besides a research and testing laboratory for conducting research and investigation to find out the optimum conditions and proper tanning properties of indigenous tanning material, 60 tanning centres and three training centres function at present

The glass industry is important at Bahjoi (Balawali), Naini, Haranganu, Bhikohabad (Naini), Allahabad, Ghaziabad and Varanasi. Prayagrah is the chief centre for manufacturing glass bangles in India

There are about 25 general glass factories in the State. They produce approximately 40,000 tons of goods per year, worth Rs. five crores. These factories manufacture different varieties of glass articles including lantern chimneys, globes and shades for electric lights, glass tumblers, dishes and other table ware, bottles and phials, window glass sheets, electric bulbs and glass novelty articles, etc.

At Firozabad in Agra District there are 60 glass bangle factories manufacturing bangles. Three factories produced approximately 16,000 tons of bangles worth Rs. 3.5 crores. In addition to these factories, there are 15 other small factories in different parts of the State making general goods

There are four factories manufacturing vegetable ghee (Vanaspathi) with a capacity of about 150 tons per day. Their total output during 1954-55 was about 34,000 tons. The oil crushing industry is well developed in the State since I.P. produces about 21 crore maunds of oil seeds. There are over 116 big oil mills registered under Factories Act and over 250 small oil mills working with power. About half a dozen oil mills are equipped with refining plant

There are about a dozen organised soap factories manufacturing superior quality soap on scientific lines by boiled process besides a number of small scale and cottage industry units

During 1954-55 the production of soap by the organised factories and small scale units was estimated at 100,000 and 1,50,000 maunds respectively

The paints and varnishes industry is located at Kanpur, Meerut, Bareilly and Lucknow. There are over a dozen medium and small scale factories with a total production capacity of 1,000 tons of paints and enamels and 1 lakh gallons of varnishes. These factories produced 1,000 tons of paints and enamels and 10,000 gallons of varnish during the year 1954-55. Nearly 50 per cent of the total production is exported outside the State

Boiled oil is already being manufactured by some firms producing about 650,000 gallons annually

Allied industries like textile auxiliaries and bolsters are being manufactured at some places

Tin canisters are made at Agra, Mathura, Etawah, Mainpuri and Ghaziabad

There are Fruit Preservation and Canning Institutes at Lucknow and Kanpur under the Director of Fruit Utilization with headquarters at Kanpur. A fruit processing factory has also been established by the State at Kanpur

The sports goods industry in the State is mainly concentrated in Meerut. In order to improve the quality of its products, the industry has been brought within the fold of the Quality Marking Scheme

There are 600 sugar mills in the State (For sugar industry see article 'Sugar Industry')

COTTAGE INDUSTRIES

Main cottage industries in the State: Textile, leather, brass and copper (utensils), lock cutting and building fittings, iron and steel, glass, ceramics and pottery, ghee, oil, soap and gur, wood working, cane and reed furniture and basketry, fibre, essential oils and perfumery, and miscellaneous

In cottage industries Agra produces Vanaspathi and Morniabadi artistic brassware, Vanaspathi Milk and Biscuits, Wooden toy making and glass bead, Baharanpur Wood Carving, Farukhbad Prints, Lucknow Bider and Chikan works and Handloom fabrics, Carpet and Sholar industries of Mirzapur, Moradabad brass comb and artistic brassware, Bareilly and Agra durrie making, Meerut, Lucknow and Kanpur musical instruments, Mathura durrie and silver weaving and calico printing, Prayaggarh Tat-patti are noteworthy

The Directorate of Industries, U.P. has launched a number of schemes to train educated young men in arts and crafts. A tailoring centre has been established at Lucknow. Other training schemes are being implemented at the Occupational Institute, Lucknow, Government Textile Institute and Government Leather Work Institute, Kanpur. Training in wooden toys and allied industries is also imparted at the Central Wood Working Institute, Bareilly.

The German Electroplating Plant is being set up at Moradabad under foreign experts' guidance. Necessary land has been acquired and the construction of buildings is being expedited.

Under the Handloom Development Scheme, 162 sales depots and 63 dye houses had been established till the end of December 1954. A dyeing and finishing factory has also been established at Mau, District Azamgarh. Medium-sized dye houses have also been opened at Meerut and Haridwar.

With a view to rendering common facilities of processing silkworms and razors, their heat treatment, technical advice and availability of the right type of raw materials, a cutlery scheme was started in the First Five Year Plan at Meerut which has since been continued and has been further expanded at Meerut and Hathras (Aligarh).

A Central Design Centre was established at Lucknow in 1956-57, with the object of studying market trends and conducting research in selected industries, designing of improved and new tools as may be found suitable for commercial production, training of designers, publication of information on subjects of use to the artisans and traders and organisation of exhibitions for popularising new designs.

The Centre provides for the training of 20 apprentices per year, at a monthly stipend of Rs. 100 each, 184 new designs have so far been evolved at the Centre.

AKHIL BHARAT SARVA SEVA SANGH

K. 33 4 Gadhgar Varanasi

The Sangh was founded consequent on a resolution passed at a meeting of the representatives of several constructive work organisations (formerly working under the guidance of Mahatma Gandhi) held on the 15th of March 1948 at Seva Gram.

The Sangh was originally formed as a federation of these organisations. Later, several of these organisations merged themselves into the Sangh, which has thus become the chief executive organ for constructive work. The objects of the Sangh are as follows:

To establish a social order free from all exploitation and based on the principles of Truth and Non-violence, and with this object to foster village mindedness in the citizens of India.

To serve, help and educate the common man of India especially poor rural folk so that poverty, disease, ignorance and other miseries may be conquered and men may be made conscious of their own power.

The programme includes various constructive work items like communal harmony, khadi removal of untouchability, Basic Education, relief to the poor (by securing employment, living wage, security and unemployment benefit, educational and medical facilities, research in hand spinning and weaving).

The Sangh believes in decentralisation of authority whether economic or political. In the political sphere it has faith in direct democracy which it calls 'Gram Swaraj'. The village is accepted by the Sangh as the basic unit for political organisation and economic self-sufficiency.

At present the Sangh is concentrating on the Bhooman Yajna, Sarvodaya Patra and Shanti Sena movements started by Acharya Vinoba Bhave a close associate and disciple of Mahatma Gandhi.

Literature about Bhooman Sampatidan and other Vinoba Yajna movements can be had from Akhil Bharat Sarva Seva Sangh, Publication Division Rajahat, Kasbi (Banaras) or Sarvodaya Prakashan Mandir, Ahmedabad, or Sarvodaya Pracharalaya, 24 Srinivasapuram, Tanjore, South India. The Sangh also publishes three weekly papers namely Bhooman Yajna (Hindi) Bhooman (English), Bhooman Taksik (Urdu), and Vinoba Prachar (Hindi) thrice a week.

The Sangh has its headquarters at Varanasi (U.P.).

The Sangh has a general body consisting at present of 113 members. The Executive organ of the Sangh is known as the Prabandh Samiti of members. It has a President, a Secretary, four Joint Secretaries and a Treasurer. The Sangh has a Board of Trustees consisting of three who hold the property of the Sangh in trust.

Four well known associations which merged into the Sarva Seva Sangh are: All India Spinners Association, All-India Village Industries Association, (to Sarva Sangh), Hindustani Prachar Sabha.

It insists on the purity of the means as the of the ends.

For the achievement of the aim, the following programme is followed:

Communal harmony (fellowship between followers of different faiths and sects); Removal of untouchability; Abolition of class distinctions; Prohibition; Promotion of khadi and other home industries; Village sanitation; Basic Education; Equality of status and rights, for both men and women; Health and hygiene; Development of provincial languages; Removal of provincialism; Propagation of Hindustani as the national language; Economic equality; Development of agriculture; Organization of labour; Welfare of aboriginals; Organization of students; Service of leprosy patients; Relief work; Cow protection, Naturopathy.

Whoever accepts the above aim and the basic principle and endeavours to follow them is eligible for the brotherhood of the Samaj, on sending his or her name and address to the Secretary of the Sarvodaya Samaj, K. 33 4, Gidghar, Varanasi.

The 30th January of every year when Mahatma Gandhi passed away is observed at all places as Sarvodaya day.

On 12th February every year, fairs are organized at places where the Mahatma's ashes were immersed.

To facilitate mutual contact and exchange of views among the Savaka Sarvodaya melas and Sammelans are held.

The deliberations of the Samaj are of an advisory nature and not mandatory in any way.

Bankura (Bankura), Birbhum (Suri), Burdwan (Burdwan), Hooghly (Chinsura), Howrah (Howrah), Midnapore (Midnapore), Purulia (Purulia).

The Districts in the Presidency Division with their headquarters in brackets are as follows:

Calcutta, Cooch-Behar (Cooch-Behar), Darjeeling (Darjeeling), Dinajpur (Balurghat), Jalpaiguri (Jalpaiguri), Malda (English Bazar), Murshidabad (Berhampur), Nadia (Krishtanagar), 24 Pargannas (Alipur).

The boundaries of the present State as between East and West Bengal were fixed by the Radcliffe award.

Areas of Bihar merged with West Bengal. As a result of the reorganisation of the States, part of Purnea district in Kishanganj and Khatihar sub-divisions and part of Manbhum District in Nadia sub-division of Purulia both of Bihar, were transferred to West Bengal with effect from November 1, 1956. The total area so transferred is 3,166 sq miles with a population of 1,446,385.

The transferred area from Purnea District has been amalgamated with the adjoining district of West Dinajpur with Lalurghat as its headquarters. The area carved out of the old Revenue Thana of Islampur and Kishanganj of Kishanganj sub-division and Gopalpur of Khatihar sub-division have been reconstituted into four Police Stations, viz., Karandighi, Gopalpur, Chopra and Islampur with their headquarters at Karandighi, Gopalpur, Chopra and Islampur, respectively, all under the existing Rajnagar sub-division of West Dinajpur District.

The total area transferred from Purnea District comes to 759 sq miles comprising 913 villages with a population of 2,77,244 (1951 census).

The transferred area from Manbhum District comprising the Nadia sub-division of Purulia with the exception of the Revenue Thana of Chas and Chandil and the Police Station Patamda of the Revenue Thana Parahitum has been constituted to form a new district in West Bengal under the name of Purulia with its headquarters at Purulia in charge of a Dy. Commissioner, under the Commissioner of Burdwan Division.

As no delimitation of the internal jurisdiction boundary was called for the old Thana and Police Station boundaries have been retained.

The total area transferred to West Bengal to form the new District of Purulia is 2,407 sq miles, comprising 2,725 villages with a population of 11,69,097 (1951 census).

AGRICULTURE

Acreage and production of principal crops in 1957-58 are as follows:

	Area (acres)	Production (tons)
Rice	10,245,000	1,00,000
Wheat	141,000	44,000
Sugarcane	56,000	11,000
Jute	550,000	1,40,000

About 5.28 lakh tons of manure and fertilisers were produced and distributed. Six improved seed multiplication farms had been established and 8,112 tons of improved seeds had been distributed. 2,401 demonstration centres had been established in rural areas. Land covering 30,690 acres had been reclaimed through tractors.

The total provision in the State Second Plan in respect of agriculture and related subjects is of the order of Rs. 780.27 lakhs.

A State-wide campaign for the Japanese method of cultivation was undertaken during the First Five-Year Plan period and 1.8 lakh acres of land were put under this method of cultivation increasing considerably the average yield of paddy per acre. In the field of animal husbandry breeding bulls were supplied to villages for upgrading livestock. Nine artificial insemination centres have been opened.

Under the Greater Calcutta Milk Supply Scheme milk colony units are being established at Haringhata and Khatia (five miles away), and milk is being collected from rural areas through different collection centres round about and from the milk colonies mentioned above.

In January 1959 four units of cattle colonies were functioning each with a capacity of accommodating 1,272 heads of cattle. Twelve more units are under various stages of construction. These are expected to be completed by the middle of 1961 where in all 20,000 milch cattle will be accommodated.

In January 1959, 1,250 maunds of milk were being handled daily in the dairy factory for sale in Calcutta. This quantity has been increasing daily and by the end of 1960 five thousand maunds of milk will be handled by which time the Dairy Factory in Calcutta which is under construction is expected to be ready.

A sum of Rs. 466.45 lakhs has been earmarked for this scheme under the Second Plan.

Zamindaris and intermediary interests in West Bengal were abolished on April 16, 1956 corresponding to the 1st of Baisakh in the Bengalee Year.

All rent-receiving interests in agricultural lands vest in the State and the numerous tenants and sub-tenants as the case may be now hold land directly under the State Government. All forests too are now managed directly by the Government.

Under the Act on intermediaries is permitted to retain in his possession non-agricultural land up to 1 acre, homestead land which together with such non-agricultural and domestic land exceed 20 acres, agricultural land up to 2 acres and tanks, fisheries and orchards. Calcutta is a notable exception in the Act.

There are roughly 1.28 million acres of cultivated land in the State of which according to preliminary but by no means a complete statistics only 600,000 acres will be found surplus for redistribution among the tillers of the soil.

The Bihar Land Reforms Act is still in force in the territories transferred to West Bengal after the reorganisation of States though steps for setting up machinery for the management of vested estates according to the West Bengal pattern are under way.

Compensation is payable on a slab system at rates varying between 100 per cent for the first and lowest slab of Rs. 500 of net income and twice for the highest slab of over Rs. 1 lakh.

Where, however, the interest of an intermediary is held under a trust or other legal obligation for an exclusively charitable or religious purpose, the compensation payable is being assessed as a perpetual annuity equal to the annual net income of the interest.

Up to April 15, 1957, the Government had sanctioned interim payments totalling Rs. 52.21 (an) to some 24,000 intermediaries.

Payment is being made partly in cash and partly in non-negotiable annuity bonds at 8 per cent per annum and payable in 30 equal annual instalments.

Somarpur Arpanach Scheme. The Somarpur-Arpanach Malda Drainage Scheme of reclaiming vast water-logged tracts 106 sq miles in area, with powerful pumping plants, is the first of its kind in India and the biggest in Asia. The first part of the scheme which was started in 1951 and cost nearly Rs. 46 lakhs is now complete. The second part of the scheme is in progress. Under the first part of the scheme a submerged area of 23,200 acres has been reclaimed for cultivation. The total yield of paddy from these large tracts of land was 21,000 maunds.

Bagjola Drainage Scheme. Rs. 104 lakh Bagjola Drainage Scheme is intended to improve the drainage of 116 square miles of area. The scheme when completed will reclaim 25,000 acres of water-logged lands and render them fit for cultivation, which will result in annual additional yield of 12,000 tons of paddy and 1,610 tons of rabi crops.

FORESTS

Total forest area : 30,230 acres (1957-58).

IRRIGATION

During the First Five-Year Plan period, the multi-purpose schemes namely the Mayurakshi Reservoir Project, two medium irrigation and two medium drainage schemes and 129 units of minor schemes had been completed. The Mayurakshi Reservoir Project involves the harnessing of the Mayurakshi River. The project benefits 7,20,000 acres of land. During the First Plan, another 117 small irrigation schemes were completed to irrigate another 11 lakh acres of land.

In all 12 lakh acres of land have been benefited since independence by about 200 irrigation schemes big and small.

About 6,00,000 acres of land were irrigated from the Mayurakshi project during the kharif season and 1,20,000 acres of land during the rabi season of 1957. The hydro-electric portion of this project came into operation in December 1956. The installed capacity of this power station is 4,000 k.w.

The Kangsabati Reservoir Project, included in the Second Five Year Plan, aims at irrigation of eight lakh acres of land in the Purulia, Bankura, Midnapore and Hooghly districts.

	Total cost (Rs. lakhs)	Area in acres benefitted (kharif season)
Mayurakshi Reservoir	15.85-00	600,000
Harahatganj Drainage	12.94	16,000
Beral Canal	21.78	9,000
Jibanti-Banki	3.11	6,400
Jampol	0.52	800
Sodighi Gangakhali	24.08	29,400
Jhargram	7.74	5,000
Suvankar Daura	17.57	6,000
Trans-Damodar	4.27	32,900
Saraswati	6.25	7,100
20 Minor Schemes	6.18	45,292
52 Procurement Bonus Schemes	21.27	27,757
23 Emergency Schemes	10.70	62,880
5 New Minor Schemes	1.96	13,676
Excavation of Nonaganj river	5.14	4,800
Sonarpur-Arapaneh-Matia	126.30	46,400
Bagjola-(thuni)-Jatragachi	104.00	25,600
Improvement of Kamakhya Khal	3.52	3,840

DAMODAR VALLEY CORPORATION

The Damodar Valley Corporation Act was passed in March 1948, and the Corporation itself came into existence on July 7.

The Damodar Project is a multi-purpose one, for purposes of flood control, irrigation, power and navigation.

SOME MAJOR DEVELOPMENT SCHEMES

Durgapur Coke-oven and Gas Grid: A Rs. 7.25 crore coke-oven plant capable of handling daily 1,300 to 1,400 tons of coal and coke breeze (1,235 tons of coal and 65 tons of coke breeze) at Durgapur in the district of Burdwan and auxiliary plants for the recovery of by-products from coke-oven gas (ammonia, sulphuric acid, coal-tar, crude benzol and its rectified products), and a coal-tar distillation plant, with a daily input of 50 tons of coal-tar.

The President Dr. Rajendra Prasad inaugurated the Coke-oven Plant on March 14, 1959.

Built by German experts, the plant has a daily output capacity of 1,000 tons of top quality hard coke. It will also turn out a number of valuable by-products, including 15 million cubic feet of gas, 50 tons of tar and 10 tons of benzol daily.

For the first time in India, metallurgical coke will be produced out of coals that have so far been considered unsuitable for the purpose.

The project was completed on schedule, in two and a half years, despite difficulties arising out of shortage of foreign exchange and scarcity of steel.

The gas produced at the coke-oven plant will be used for industrial and lighting purposes and for domestic consumption in Calcutta and the vicinity.

The Ganga Barrage Scheme: Investigations in connection with the Ganga Barrage, also called Farakka Barrage Scheme, are now in an advanced stage. The current estimates of the cost of the project is Rs. 56 crores.

Benefits expected from the barrage : 1. Supply of water to resuscitate the moribund rivers in West Bengal and also improve the Sunderbans rivers; 2. Provision for irrigation and flushing on a vast scale; 3. Improvement of the Calcutta Port; 4. Provision of a direct railway and road link between the northern and southern parts of the State; 5. Provision of an inland water route entirely through the Indian Union starting from Calcutta and going up to Bihar and Uttar Pradesh and ultimately to Assam; 6. Improvement of the basic economy of the State by increasing food production, providing better transport facilities, efficient maintenance of the Calcutta Port, raising the standard of public health and sanitation in the south-western regions and so on.

Reclamation of Salt Lakes: The scheme for the reclamation of the swampy northern and southern salt lakes covering about 33 square miles on the eastern fringes of Calcutta aims at liquidating the scourge of malaria and at reclaiming the water-logged areas, partly for the extension of the City and partly for agricultural purposes. On the basis of the experts' reports, plans in respect of the project, with estimates of cost (a little over Rs. 14 crores) had been prepared and submitted to the Planning Commission for inclusion in the Second Five-Year Plan.

The area proposed to be filled up and improved for the present is 2,400 acres and this low-lying area is to be filled with thoroughly silt by dredging and pumping operations from the river and raise the land level by 11 feet. It is estimated that the filling up operations would take approximately six years and that some consolidated land would be available for development purposes at the end of the 3rd year. A nine-year scheme has been drawn up for the sale of land to the low income group.

Gas from Calcutta Sewage: The main purpose of this scheme is the utilisation of Calcutta Sewage for generation of gas. It is expected that about 1.5 million c.ft. of gas per day will be generated from the sewage of Calcutta. Moreover 250 tons of manure will be available for sale every day. The scheme has been submitted to the Planning Commission for inclusion in the Second Five-Year Plan.

Kalyani: The Kalyani Township scheme was inaugurated in 1950, with a view to relieving acute pressure of population in Calcutta and to help dispersal of industries from the congested city. The total area has been divided into six blocks, viz., residential blocks, commercial blocks, industrial blocks, etc.

Development of one block covering an area of about 1,100 acres was almost completed during 1957-58 and that of a portion of another block as an industrial block was nearing completion (Dec. 1958). Out of over 5,000 residential flats, about 1,200 have been leased out to the public.

Several parks have been laid out. A Radio and Battery Manufacturing Factory has also been opened by the Government. Thirty miles of water-supply mains have been laid. A total length of 42 miles of underground mains and subsidiary sewers has been completed. About 50 miles of metalled roadways in the residential block have also been completed.

A polythene plant was opened at Kishra, 14 miles from Calcutta on May 2, 1959. This will produce 3,500 tons of plastics annually.

POWER

Position 1957-58:

No. of stations 46; installed capacity 563,064 kW; energy generated 1,090,415 mln. kWh; energy sold 1,873,136 mln. kWh.

Under the State's First Plan, 66 kV transmission lines with a coverage of 106 miles and 33 and 11 kV transmission lines running upto 315 and 499 lines have been laid. Seven collieries are receiving supply of electricity and retail supply is being given to 100 places in the State.

During the Second Plan period the State Electricity Board will execute 11 schemes for expanding the scope of the schemes already started and providing further power facilities within the State. The Plan involves construction of over 800 miles of transmission lines including 106 miles of low voltage distribution lines and establishment of 13 sub-stations (including main). Sixty-two villages and 27 towns will get electricity. Besides hydro-electricity will be generated by harnessing the rivers of Jaldhaka and Balasun in North Bengal for supplying power to Jalpaiguri, Cooch Behar and Darjeeling districts.

The following power schemes included in the Second Plan are being executed by the West Bengal State Electricity Board.

Extension of Mayurakshi Hydro-Electric Scheme: Four places in Birbhum district will be electrified. Five-year cost: Rs. 9.90 lakhs.

Rural Electrification Scheme: Electrification of 62 villages at a total cost of Rs. 94.39 lakhs. Four hundred and fifty miles of 11 kV O-H line and 70 miles of low voltage distribution line would be laid.

Extension of North Calcutta Electrification Scheme: Stringing of the second circuit of 27 miles of the existing 66 kV double circuit tower line between Shannagar and Ranaghat. Districts to be benefited: Nadia, Murshidabad and 24 Parganas. Estimated capital expenditure for the Plan period: Rs. 6.08 lakhs.

Jaldhaka Hydro-Electric Scheme: Tapping of river Jaldhaka in north Bengal to generate electricity, generating capacity: 2.10 Mw etc. Provision for the scheme: Rs. 194.01 lakhs.

Balasun Hydro-Electric Scheme: Harnessing of river Balasun in Darjeeling District. Estimated expenditure: Rs. 158.53 lakhs. Scheme is kept in abeyance.

Kharagpur Midnapore Electrification Scheme: Purchase of power in bulk from D.V.C.'s Kharagpur sub-station and distribution in Midnapore district through a network of transmission lines. Length of overhead lines to be laid: 114 miles; of 11 kV and 33 kV. Capital expenditure: Rs. 45.34 lakhs.

Howrah-Hooghly Rural Electrification Scheme: Length of overhead transmission lines to be laid: About 80 miles of 11 kV. Estimated cost: Rs. 25-80 lakhs.

Durgapur-Malda Transmission Scheme— Places to be supplied with power: Districts of Murshidabad, Malda and West Dinajpur. Provision during the 2nd Plan period: Rs. 34-86 lakhs.

Suburban-Electrification Scheme: Electrification of a few suburban areas on the outskirts of the licensed area of Calcutta Electric Supply Corporation Ltd. Total Plan provision for colliery electrification, tube-well irrigation, Central testing laboratory and suburban electrification schemes: Rs. 20-21 lakhs.

D.V.C. Project. See article on Irrigation.

INDUSTRY

Principal industries of the State: Jute, tea, coal, cotton, textiles, paper, rubber, engineering, etc.

No. of registered factories: 3,506 (March 31, 1958). No. of workers: 680,000.

No. of jute mills: 101 in 1957 (employing 220,000 workers, 1957).

Total acreage under jute cultivation in West Bengal: 750,000.

No. of cotton mills: 39* (44,706 workers; total no. of spindles 585,236; no. of looms 10,864) (31st August 1958).

No. of tea gardens: 238 (246,000 workers). West Bengal produces about 90 million pounds of tea.

No. of coal mines: 220 (about 99,000 workers daily on an average). The total output of the West Bengal coal mines is 13,674, 348 tons.

West Bengal's tea gardens are mostly in the Dooars, Terai and Darjeeling districts.

No. of paper mills: 5 (about 9,648 workers).

Jute, cotton and most of the other industries are located in the Greater Calcutta industrial area; there is a growing tendency on the part of the engineering, textile and other industries to move towards the Asansol belt in Burdwan District, where most of the coal mines and the major iron and steel works are located. The tea gardens are located in the Dooars and Terai regions of Northern Bengal.

Main small scale industries: Handloom weaving, sericulture and silk, brass and bell metal, hand-made paper, palm gur and mat industries.

No. of looms engaged in handloom weaving: 1,50,000.

Principal centres of handloom weaving: Santipur (Nadia), Santinketan (Birbhum), Rajbahal, Dhanakhal (Hooghly).

Principal silk industry Districts: Malda, Murshidabad and Birbhum.

In the sphere of large-scale industries, the work on the proposed Iron and Steel Industry at Durgapur is progressing. The Durgapur Coke-Oven Plant was completed and was inaugurated by the President on March 14, 1959. Various schemes connected with village industries such as handloom, coir products, bell-metal etc. have been taken up. Under the Howrah Engineering Scheme, 762 small engineering firms in Howrah, near Calcutta, are being brought together to rationalise and accelerate their production. In the rural areas, villagers are being trained and paid in the works-cum-training centres.

LABOUR

No. of registered factories: 3,506. (March 31, 1958).

No. of workers: 680,000.

No. of registered trade unions: 2,254 (1958).

No. of members of trade unions: 834,032.

No. of industrial disputes: 4,736 (1957).

No. of successful conciliations: 2,260.

* Two mills not working.

No. of cases referred to adjudication: 542.

No. of disposals: 470.

No. of workmen's compensation cases disposed of in 1957: 5,000.

No. of man days lost in 1957-58: about one million.

Eighteen Minimum Wages Advisory Committees have been appointed. Minimum Wage Committees were appointed for revision and fixation of wages for workers in unorganised industries, such as flour mills, oil mills, rice mills, public motor transport, tea plantations, etc. Tribunals for fixation of minimum wages were set up also in jute, textiles and engineering industries.

The Employees' State Insurance Act, which provides for sickness and other medical benefits, cover 280,000 workers in Calcutta and Howrah areas. In factory areas there are 225 canteens, 230 shelters or rest rooms and 103 creches for children.

The Employees' Provident Funds Act covers 248,166 workers including workers in tea plantations.

No. of labour welfare centres: 30.

No. of tenements completed under the Subsidised Industrial Housing Scheme: 1,420.

The Labour Department of the State took over the administration of the Employment Exchanges in West Bengal towards the end of 1956 from the Central Government.

WEST BENGAL FINANCIAL CORPORATION†
P-11, Mission Row Extension (5th Floor), Calcutta-1.

The Corporation was established as from the 1st March 1954. The object of the Corporation is to provide financial assistance, chiefly by way of long and medium term loans, to industrial concerns in the State.

Authorized Capital Rs. 2 crores divided into 2,00,000 fully paid-up shares of Rs. 100 each, of which 1,00,000 fully paid-up shares of the total value of Rs. 1 crore were issued in the first instance and are held by the following classes of shareholders:

	shares	Rs.
a) State Govt.	31,770	31,77,000
b) Reserve Bank	20,000	20,00,000
c) Scheduled banks, insurance companies, investment trusts, co-operative banks or other financial institutions	45,000	45,00,000

BOARD OF DIRECTORS†

Chairman, B. M. Birla.

Managing Director, H. P. Banerjee.

Directors, G. Basu; C. D. Khanna; B. P. Singh Roy; K. K. Roy; D. N. Mitra; N. N. Majumdar; D. N. Bhattacharjee; S. R. Mitra.

Secretary, B. K. Roy.

CO-OPERATION

From 1948 to 1957 the number of co-operative societies increased from 12,946 to 18,337. The membership increased from 635,000 to 1,253,934.

Number, membership and working capital respectively of other types of co-operative societies: Urban co-operatives (531; 431,341; Rs. 1,366-93 lakhs); Consumers' Co-operatives (431; 62,020; Rs. 15-07 lakhs); Fishermen Co-operatives (413; 24,198; Rs. 6-58 lakhs); Housing and Colony Co-operatives (162; 20,955; Rs. 70-19 lakhs); Milk Co-operatives (174; 12,138; Rs. 2-95 lakhs).

Rural credit for agricultural production to the extent of Rs. 1-48 crores was distributed in 1957. The number of co-operatives participating in the work was 12,120 in 1957.

There are 1,454 multi-purpose societies, 139 marketing societies and 97 farming co-operatives.

Weavers' Co-operatives form the bulk of industrial co-operatives in the State. There are at present 952 such societies with 68,549 members and a total working capital of Rs. 34-13 lakhs.

There are 531 Urban Co-operative Societies with a membership of 431,341 and a working capital of Rs. 1,366-93 lakhs. There are 431 Consumers' Co-operatives and 33 Transport Co-operatives. Large sized co-operatives numbering 148 had been organized up to June 30, 1957.

ROADS

With the completion of the First Five Year Plan, the total length of roads directly maintained by the Government had gone up to above 5,000 miles.

There are six national highways in West Bengal: Calcutta-Delhi (162 miles), Calcutta-Bombay/Madras (90 miles—common alignment in West Bengal), Bihar-Assam (181 miles), Siliguri-Gangtok (85 miles), Calcutta-Siliguri (203-5 miles) and Calcutta-Kongaon (43 miles).

The Second Five Year Plan envisages construction and improvement of 2,200 miles of new State roads in addition to the spill-over from the First Plan.

The State spent Rs. 20-22 crores during the First Plan period, while the ceiling of expenditure for the Second Five Year Plan has been limited to less than Rs. 17-50 crores. In the first two years of the Second Plan, a sum of Rs. 590 lakhs was spent on road development.

With a view to the gradual nationalisation of road transport services, a number of bus routes in the City of Calcutta have already been taken over by the Government and other routes would be taken over under a phased programme.

The State Transport owns (1958) a fleet of 561 vehicles. By the end of 1960, the State Transport will have a fleet of 700 buses.

The State Transport provides employment for 6,350 persons of whom about 60 per cent are displaced persons.

About 6,40,000 passengers are carried every day. The State buses cover about 53,000 route-miles daily.

Total mileage run by the State Transport in 1957-58: 19,236,000.

No. of passengers carried: 235,125,000.

Total earnings: Rs. 223-85 lakhs.

The State Transport has a Central Workshop which employs about 700 persons. During 1957-58, 620 vehicles were repaired and rebuilt, 139 new bodies were built, 428 bodies were repaired and rebuilt, 516 fuel pumps were re-conditioned and 1,238 tyres were re-used and repaired.

There is a State Transport Employees' Co-operative Society which gives loans to employees at 6½ per cent. Share capital (1957-58): Rs. 28,700. Working Capital: Rs. 1,72,106.

Gross revenue of the State Transport Undertaking in 1958-59: Rs. 257-57 lakhs. Budget estimates show a deficit of Rs. 0-60 lakh.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT PROJECTS

The Community Development Projects now cover about 15,000 villages. The object of the programme is the development of rural township with a group of 100 villages in a block taken up for intensive development programme.

† The report for 1958-59 was not available when this was prepared.

EDUCATION

The secondary schools will, henceforth, have an 11-year course as against the ten-year course prevailing before. With the introduction of the 11-year course, preliminary knowledge of some of the subjects previously taught in the intermediate course will be imparted. The students passing out the 11-year school course will be admitted to a 2-year degree course direct, the intermediate course being abolished. Some of the secondary schools are being converted into multi-purpose schools which will also train students in various arts and crafts of their choice, thus helping them to choose their professional career according to their aptitude.

(For more statistical information see tables in the article on education).

Per capita expenditure (1957-58): Rs. 3.40.

REFUGEES AND REHABILITATION

Over 41 lakh persons migrated from East Pakistan to India upto December 1957. The refugee population in West Bengal upto that date was 31.6 lakhs.

About 22 lakh refugees received Government assistance by way of house-building loans, small trade loans etc. and nearly half of them have been fully rehabilitated. Of these 96,358 have found employment through Government assistance. The total cost incurred upto March 1958 for rehabilitation grants for education and training of refugee students in schools, colleges and other institutions was Rs. 1,636 lakhs. Total expenditure on camps and homes upto March 1958 was Rs. 3,803 lakhs. Paucity of land for the rehabilitation of refugees in West Bengal has forced the State Government to settle refugees outside the State. Among these schemes for rehabilitation outside the State are a scheme to rehabilitate 27,000 displaced persons at Bettiah in Bihar and the Dandakaranya Scheme under which 40,000 square miles in Madhya Pradesh, Orissa and Andhra are proposed to be reclaimed for the rehabilitation of the surplus refugee population.

It was decided that steps would be taken to close all refugee camps in West Bengal by July 1959.

HOUSING

To provide accommodation for working girls in Calcutta, several hostels are under construction. Under the low income group housing scheme, loans amounting to Rs. 157.25 lakhs have been sanctioned for the construction of 2,538 houses by individuals, co-operatives and an institution.

Industrial Housing Scheme: Second Plan target 10,000 houses. No. completed 1,420. No. under construction 2,390. Government of India allotment Rs. 475 lakhs.

Santiniketan, West Bengal.

Founded by Rabindranath Tagore in 1921; Incorporated as a Central University, 1951.

AIMS AND OBJECTS: To study the mind of Man in its realization of different aspects of truth from diverse points of view; to bring into more intimate relation with one another through patient study and research, the different culture of the East on the basis of their underlying unity; to approach the West from the stand-point of such a unity of the life and thought of Asia; to seek to realize in a common fellowship of study the meeting of the East and the West, and to strengthen the fundamental condition of World peace.

With such ideals in view to provide at Santiniketan a centre of culture where research into and study of the religion, literature, history, science and art of Hindu, Buddhist, Jain, Islamic, Sikh, Christian and other civilizations may be pursued along with the culture of the West, with that simplicity in externals which is necessary for true spiritual realization, in amity, good fellowship and co-operation between the thinkers and scholars of both Eastern and Western countries, free from all antagonisms of race, nationality, creed or caste.

Visva-Bharati is a residential University with students and teachers drawn from all over India and there is always a fair mingling of teachers, students and visitors from abroad. Students live a community life, dining in the same halls (with separate arrangements for vegetarians and non-vegetarians), playing in the same spacious play-grounds close to the hostels, organizing common socials, picnics, excursions, literary and musical entertainments.

Visva-Bharati maintains the following Institutions:

Patha-Bhavana (School), Siksha-Bhavana (Higher Secondary), Vidya-Bhavana (College of Under-Graduate and Post-Graduate Studies and Research), Vinaya-Bhavana (Teachers' Training College), Kala-Bhavana (College of Fine Arts and Crafts), Sangit-Bhavana (College of Music and Dance). The University maintains also the following Research Departments: (1) Cheena-Bhavana, (2) Indo-Tibetan Institute, (3) Hindi-Bhavana, which organises teaching and Research in Chinese, Tibetan and Hindi respectively.

The Visva-Bharati central library contains about 145,000 volumes. There are sectional and seminar libraries attached to various departments. The University has its own hospital with a Chief medical officer and his assistants. The Guest House, which makes catering arrangements of its own, is open to visitors and guardians.

Besides the academic institutions, the University conducts two Departments: one for Rural Reconstruction and the other for Publication of Books. The Palli-Samgathana Vibhaga (Department of Rural Reconstruction) at Sriniketan is concerned mainly with a comprehensive study of the problems of rural life in its social, cultural, economic and other aspects and extension work in the villages. The department maintains a multi-purpose school with technical stream for rural children.

A two-year Certificate Course in Indian and Foreign languages viz. Sanskrit, Bengali, Hindi, Oriya, Chinese, Japanese, Tibetan, French and German is available to Post-Graduate and Under-graduate students. Those who have successfully completed the Certificate Course may continue another year's further study for the Diploma in the same languages.

Silpa-Sadana (Cottage Industry Training Centre) provides 2-year Certificate course followed by a further 1-year Diploma course in Weaving and Woodwork.

The Social Education Organizers Training Centre, started under the Community Project Scheme, provides for training of organizers deputed by the different States of the Indian Union.

A scheme of Agro-Economic Research is being conducted at the University under the auspices of the Ministry of Food and Agriculture, Government of India. The scheme has under its purview a considerable area consisting of West Bengal, Bihar, Orissa and Assam.

Under the auspices of the Ministry of Education a Scheme of Educational Extension Services for the improvement of teaching in the Secondary Schools has been introduced at Vinaya-Bhavana. The object of the scheme is to bring new ideas and ideals to bear upon the Secondary Schools.

The Institute of Rural Higher Education, started at Sriniketan in December, 1956, sponsored by the Council of Rural Higher Education (Government of India) offers the following courses: (1) 3-Yr. Diploma course in Rural Services; (2) 2-Yr. Certificate course in Agricultural Science; (3) 1-Yr. Preparatory course.

PONDICHERRY STATE

Area: 186 sq. miles; Pop.: 317,253 (1948).
Capital: Pondicherry.

The State of Pondicherry consists of:

(1) On the Coromandel Coast: (a) Pondicherry, the capital, together with the adjoining territory, divided into 8 communes, (b) Karikal and the dependent districts divided into 6 communes;

(2) On the coast of Andhra: Yanam, with the dependent villages all forming one commune;

(3) On the Malabar Coast: Mahé with the adjoining territory forming a single commune.

De facto transfer of these former French possessions to India took place on November 1, 1954 following an agreement between the Government of India and the Government of France. The instrument of transfer was signed in Pondicherry on November 1, 1954 by Mr. Kewal Singh on behalf of India and Mr. Pierre Landy representing France.

A treaty for the de jure transfer to India of the French establishments was signed on 28th May, 1956 by Mr. Nehru, as Minister for External Affairs and the French Ambassador in India Count Ostrorog. The treaty is awaiting ratification by the French Assembly.

The first general elections after the de facto transfer were held in July 1955 on a basis of universal adult franchise for the 80 seats in the State Representative Assembly and 200 in the 16 Municipal Councils. On an average, more than 85 per cent of the voters voted.

The Municipal Administration in the State is carried on by the Municipal Councils, one in each of the sixteen communes.

The State is directly administered by the Government of India on the pattern of a Union Territory, through a Chief Commissioner appointed by them and an advisory body called "the Conseil du Gouvernement" consisting of six elected Councillors. The Chief Commissioner is assisted in the day-to-day administration of the State by a Chief Secretary, five Secretaries and the Inspector-General of Police.

Chandernagore in West Bengal was the first French India possession to become de jure a part of the Indian Union after the treaty for its cession was signed in Paris in 1951 by the representatives of the two Governments. The Treaty was ratified by the French Assembly on April 11, 1952.

PONDICHERRY

Area: 112 sq. miles (Survey of India); Population: 222,566 (1948).

Pondicherry is the chief of the former French settlements in India and its capital is the seat of the Government. The town is an enclave in the district of South Arcot in Madras State, about 89 miles from Madras.

There is no harbour, but only a roadstead which is the best on the entire coast. Ships lie at a distance from the shore and contact with land is maintained by means of the usual masula boats peculiar to this part of South India.

Since November 1, 1954 sea customs have been introduced in Pondicherry and a new department has been created under a Collector of Customs.

KARIKAL

Area: 62 sq. miles (Survey of India); Population: 70,541 (1948).

Karikal is an enclave in the Tanjore District, and consists of a single tract of territory stretching along the east coast between Tranquebar and Nagore. It is at a distance of 90 miles from Pondicherry. It covers an area of 62 sq. miles and is divided into 6 communes containing 110 villages. The establishment has a population of 70,541, according to the 1948 census. Karikal is the terminus of a line from Feralam on the Tanjore District Railway.

YANAM

Area: 8 sq. miles (Survey of India); Population: 5,853 (1948).

The town is situated in the delta of the Godavari covering an area of 8 square miles and is an enclave of the District of East Godavari in Andhra State. The soil is fertile.

MAHÉ

Area: 4 Sq. miles (Survey of India); Population: 18,293 (1948).

The territory of Mahé on the west coast consists of the town of Mahé on the left bank of the river of the same name; and the isolated district of Naluthara on the right bank containing the 4 villages of Chamba, Chalakara, Palour and Pancheruel. It is an enclave in the District of Cannanore in Kerala State.

Pepper, coconuts and betelnuts are the major crops.

INDIAN TERRITORY UNDER PORTUGUESE OCCUPATION

Area: 1,497 sq. miles; Pop.: 697,501 (1950 Census); Capital: Cidade de Goa (Panjim).

The Hindu population is estimated at 588,488 and the Christian at 234,275. There are 14,162 Muslims and 1,079 Europeans and Eurasians.

ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICIALS

Governor-General, Brigadier Vasallo e Silva, who is also Commander-in-Chief.

Military Commander, Brigadier Cirne Pacheco.

Elected Members of the Governor's Council (Conselho do Governo), Miss Georgina Figueiredo, Bonifacio Miranda, Amadeu Prazeres da Costa, Priscilio Furtado, Rev. Father Castilho Noronha and P. Quenin.

The last two have been appointed Deputies in the Portuguese National Assembly of Lisbon. They represent Portuguese India.

Governor of Diu, Capt. Dalgado e Silva.

H. E. the Patriarch of East Indies, D. Jose Alvernan.

Indian territory under Portuguese rule is made up of: Goa, Daman, Diu.

All the three territories are situated practically within the area covered by Bombay State. Goa is on the Konkan Coast; Daman, lies on the Gujarat coast at the entrance to the Gulf of Cambay; and Diu is a tiny islet and along with the isolated spots, Gogola and Simbor lies on the southern fringe of the Kathiawad peninsula.

The enclaves of Dadra and Nagar Haveli, which formed part of Daman, have been taken over by Goan nationalists who have set up their own administration.

Dr Antonio Furtado is the Administrator of these areas.

GOVERNMENT

The Governor-General is the head of the administration and is stationed in the capital (Cidade de Goa formerly known as Nova-Goa and also Panjim).

Associated in the task of government is the Conselho do Governo possessing restricted legislative and advisory powers. The Governor-General is its ex-officio president.

Daman and Diu have each a District Governor.

In each district there is a District Council for the supervision of the various municipalities and other local bodies in its jurisdiction. For administrative purposes the district is divided into Concelhos, each Concelho being in the charge of an official styled the Administrador, and for judicial purposes it is divided into circuits or Omarcos each having its own court of original jurisdiction.

An appeal lies from the decisions of these courts to the Tribunal do Relacao or High Court sitting in the capital and side by side with the latter there is also a Tribunal Administrativo to dispense justice under direct administration.

The advent of Dr. Oliveira Salazar to power and the establishment of his Estado Novo led to increasing centralisation in the administration of Portuguese India. All measures of importance are now initiated by and carry the sanction of the home government in Lisbon. The Governor's Council, Conselho do Governo which assists him, is shorn of what little legislative powers it formerly possessed. There are no elected municipalities and local boards in the villages. Each municipality is in charge of an administrative committee nominated by the Governor-General, who also appoints the presidents of all charitable and cultural associations in the country.

A stringent censorship controls the freedom of the press, and every article, book or pamphlet has to be submitted to the board of censors before it appears in print. Infringements of the press laws are severely dealt with and newspapers are required to keep security deposits with the Government before being licensed for publication.

Freedom of association is likewise controlled. No public meeting or assembly, be its purpose ever so innocuous, may be convened without previous permission of the authorities, and every intended talk and speech must bear the censor's visa.

COMMERCE AND INDUSTRIES

The chief agricultural products of Goa are rice, coconuts, cashew-nuts, betel-nuts, mangoes, and sugar-cane. Of these cashew-nuts, betel-nuts, coconuts and mangoes which were exported in considerable quantities to the Indian Union, have been banned by the Government of India. The rice grown is not sufficient for local consumption and lasts for only six months in a year. For the remaining six months rice is imported from Pakistan, Mozambique (Portuguese East Africa) and Burma. Other exports include copra, bamboo, salt, salt-fish and manganese and iron ore, the exports of which have enabled the Goa Government to earn foreign exchange, specially in dollars, enough to finance all its imports. The imports consist of rice, machinery, textiles and other manufactured goods.

The currency in Goa is now the 'escudo' which was introduced from January 1, 1959. Formerly it was the Portuguese 'rupia' but now it has been changed to suit Portugal.

According to the new regulations in force one Portuguese 'rupia' is worth six escudos. The Indian rupee is at a discount and 95 Portuguese 'rupias' are equal to 100 Indian rupees. This is done unofficially by traders and exchange dealers.

There are no banks operating in Portuguese territory with the exception of the Banco Nacional Ultramarino which has offices in the major towns. No Indian bank can open branches in Goa as the Banco Nacional has a monopoly. The Indian Government in its turn compelled the Portuguese Bank to close its branch in Bombay because Indian banks were not allowed to do business in Goa.

PRO-MERGER MOVEMENT

and Dadra. These enclaves are situated near Daman.

A Rs. 32-lakh development plan has been prepared for the 191-square-mile enclave of Nagar Haveli. Among the construction activities included in the plan are three bridges over the two rivers, costing Rs. 10 lakhs, 75 miles of roads, schools and village water system.

Handmade paper industry, catechu (Ratia used in pan) manufacture, tanneries and tile and brick factories, a public library and a maternity home have also been constructed. Over 3,000 students are now attending schools, on which the administration spends about Rs. 88,000. Spinning and carpentry are taught in the schools.

A model cottage hospital, a veterinary dispensary and four dispensaries have started functioning.

In December 1956 Portugal filed a claim before the World Court at The Hague to a right of passage to the two Portuguese enclaves.

India contested the jurisdiction of the World Court.

The case came up for hearing at the World

A railway line maintained and run by the West of India Portuguese Guaranteed Railway, once a subsidiary of the former Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway, joins the port of Mormugao with the junction of Londa on the Southern Railway. It fulfilled a very important role by providing an outlet to the sea for the products of this part of the Mahratta country.

The Southern Railway which administered the railways in Goa on behalf of the W.I.P.R. did not renew the contract at the end of Dec. 1955 with the result that Goa has now no rail link with India. But shuttle services inside Goa were maintained by Goan authorities.

The air service between Goa, Daman and Diu has been resumed after making adjustments in the route.

There is a bi-weekly air service between Mormugao and Karachi.

Mormugao, which is the chief port, is also geographically one of the major ports on the west coast of India and is open to ocean-going vessels of every size from all parts of the world. But, as we have mentioned, there is neither trade nor communication between India and the Portuguese-held territory. But ships from Japan, America and Europe call at Mormugao to take cargo of iron ore and manganese, which are the chief exports of Goa.

There is now no restriction in the matter of travel between India and Goa for Goan citizens. A traveller can take Rs 50 into Goa or bring Rs 100 with him. But restriction on trade continues. Indians have to take a visa from the Brazilian Embassy in Delhi for travel to Goa.

Restrictions on Goan citizens about travel between India and Goa were removed on April 3, 1958.

DAMAN

Daman in Gujarat has a total area of about 33 square miles and a population of some 21,000 inhabitants, mostly of Gujarati extraction.

There are some very interesting historical relics here such as the old fort and a few surviving churches reminiscent of the old times.

DIU

About 150 miles to the north-west of Daman lies the tiny islet of Diu off the southern coast of Kathiawad. It is a small town separated from the mainland by a narrow arm of the sea. Dependent on it and surrounded by the territory of Junagadh is the enclave of Gogole and also the island and fort of Pani Cota in the bay of Simbor.

Diu is reached from Bombay by the Western Railway via Viramgam and Delwada. Access by sea is easier and more rapid but there is no harbour. There is an excellent roadstead where ships can safely anchor in two fathoms of water.

Area: 413 sq. miles. The population is estimated at 19,731.

With the merger of French territory in India, the pro-merger movement in the Portuguese pockets was intensified by the people of Goa, Daman and Diu. The Portuguese Government adopted severe repressive measures to put down this agitation with the result that over 300 Goan Satyagrahis were arrested and put in Goa jails and were always in danger of being deported to Mozambique. Many Goan nationalist leaders have now fled from Goa and have taken refuge in Belgium and Bombay.

Indian Satyagrahis, who were sentenced by the Portuguese military tribunal to various terms of imprisonment in 1955, were released by the Lisbon Government. About 85 of them returned to India in February 1957 and a few others were released later.

It is now reckoned that there are only about three Indian prisoners in Goan jails.

The Goa Action Committee, which is composed of all Goan parties in Bombay, has appointed an administrator, Dr. Antonio Furtado, to administer the liberated areas of Nagar Haveli Court in November 1957. Four of India's six preliminary objections were rejected by a majority vote of the Court. The Court deferred its ruling on the remaining two points, and declared that they would be linked with the dispute itself which would be judged on its merits.

The Court invited the two parties to file written statements and fixed a time limit for the purpose—Feb. 25, 1958 for the Indian counter-memorial, May 25, 1958 for Portugal's reply and July 25, 1958 for India's rejoinder. An extra month was given and India filed her counter-memorial on March 25, 1958.

The two Indian objections on which the Court was still to give a ruling were that the right of passage fell exclusively within Indian jurisdiction and that the dispute arose before 1930 when India was not independent and could not therefore have accepted the jurisdiction of the Permanent Court of Justice at The Hague, the predecessor of the present International Court of Justice.

According to present arrangement the case is to be heard in November 1959.

MARKETS AND SLAUGHTER HOUSES DEPARTMENT

Crawford Market, Dr. Dadabhai Naoroji Road, Bombay 1

There are 73 markets in Greater Bombay out of which 44 are the property of the Municipal Corporation while the rest are owned by private individuals and licensed by the Corporation.

These markets are called upon to handle enormous quantities of daily necessities of life like fruits, vegetables, meat, fish, poultry, provisions, etc., etc., for the local consumption as well as for trade purposes.

A cold storage plant is maintained at the Arthur Crawford Market which is one of the biggest markets in the city. A lift is also provided in the Fish Section of this market for conveyance of fish consignments.

The scope of Municipal control extends to general supervision, sanitation, food-inspection, collection of rents and fees, licensing, repairs, replacements, etc., etc.

The Corporation also maintains a number of slaughter houses, the prominent being the Bandra and Kurla Slaughter Houses, the Pork Slaughter House and the licensed Jhatka Slaughter House at Arthur Road. Meat is conveyed to city markets by Municipal motor meat convoys.

An elaborate system of meat inspection, which includes ante- and post-mortem examination, grading and stamping of carcasses, rejection and destruction of unwholesome meat, etc. is regularly carried out by the Meat Inspection Service, consisting of qualified Veterinary officers engaged by the Corporation.

There is a special staff employed to detect the smuggling of animals and contraband meat and unauthorised slaughter.

WAGE SCALES FOR JOURNALISTS

The Government of India accepted, with certain minor modifications, the recommendations of the Wage Committee for Working Journalists regarding fixation of rates of wages for journalists—May 29, 1959.

Below we give the main points of the recommendations. Minor qualifications to the major recommendations are omitted.

Daily newspapers should (special clauses refer to multiple units, chains, advertisement and circulation revenue) be classified under six classes:

Class A Rs. 50 lakhs and above; B Rs. 25 lakhs and above, but less than Rs. 50 lakhs; C Rs. 12½ lakhs and above, but less than Rs. 25 lakhs; D Rs. 5 lakhs and above, but less than Rs. 12½ lakhs; E Rs. 2½ lakhs and above, but less than Rs. 5 lakhs; F less than Rs. 2½ lakhs.

Weeklies should be classified on the basis of their gross revenues as follows:

Class	Gross Revenue
I	Rs. 12½ lakhs and above.
II	Rs. 5 lakhs and above, but less than Rs. 12½ lakhs.
III	Rs. 1 lakh and above, but less than Rs. 5 lakhs.
IV	Below Rs. 1 lakh.

News agencies should be classified on the basis of their gross revenue as follows:

Class	Gross Revenue
I	Rs. 25 lakhs and above.
II	Rs. 10 lakhs and above, but less than Rs. 25 lakhs.
III	Below Rs. 10 lakhs.

For the purpose of payment of dearness allowance to full-time employees and monthly retainer to part-time employees, areas should be classified as follows:

Area I.—Metropolitan cities.
Area II.—Towns with a population of over 5 lakhs but excluding metropolitan cities.

CALENDAR

The second General Elections started on 24th Feb., 1957 and ended on July 15. The first States to go to the polls were Orissa and the Punjab and the last was the Union Territory of Himachal Pradesh where the elections began on 24th May and ended on 7th June. In this last mentioned State the elections began long after they ended elsewhere (March 14) because of heavy snow during the earlier part of the year. Almost all election returns were reported by the 31st of March.

Below we give the Calendar of the elections : Andhra : February 25, March 1, 4, 7 and 11. (In Andhra Pradesh, the Assembly elections were confined to the Telangana area and the Prodattur and Bhadrachalam constituencies of the old Andhra State).

Assam : February 25, March 2, 6, 9, 10, 11 and 15.

Manipur : February 25, March 2 and 11.

Bihar : February 25, 26, 28, March 1 to 12.

Bombay : February 25, March 2, 6 and 11.

Kerala : February 28, March 2, 5, 7, 9 and 11.

Madras : March 1, 4, 6, 8 and 11.

Madhya Pradesh : February 25, 28, March 1-10.

Mysore : February 25, 26, 28, March 1-12.

Orissa : February 24, 25, 28, March 1-9, 11 and 12.

Punjab : February 24, 26, 28, March 1-14. (Polling in the snowbound areas of Kangra was held on June 2, 4, 6, 8, 10, 11, 14, 16, 20 and 25 and July 2, 15).

Himachal Pradesh : Owing to heavy snow, polling was delayed. It began on May 24 and ended on June 7, May 24, 31 and June 1 to 7.

Rajasthan : February 25, 27, 28, March 1-9, 11 and 12.

Uttar Pradesh : February 25, 28, March 3, 6, 9 and 12.

West Bengal : March 1-14.

Delhi : March 3.

Tripura : March 1, 5, 9 and 12 March.

The polling for the Presidentialship took place on the 6th of May, and the result was declared on the 10th. Five candidates filed their nomination papers. The nomination papers of two were rejected. The three candidates who contested the election were Dr. Rajendra Prasad (Rashtrapati Bhawan, New Delhi), Mr. Nagendra Narayan Das (Gauhati, Assam), and Chowdhury Hari Ram (Rohtak, Punjab).

The result of the poll was as follows :

Dr. Prasad—4,59,698 ; Mr. Das—2,000 ; Chowdhury Hari Ram 1,498.

For the Vice-Presidentialship the poll was to take place on 11th May. But as Dr. S. Radhakrishnan was the only candidate he was declared elected on 23rd April.

A point of some legal interest was that at the time of the Presidential election the Parliamentary constituencies in Himachal and Kangra in the Punjab had not completed the election to the Lok Sabha. The Kulu Assembly constituency had also not completed its election to the Punjab Assembly. A constitutional doubt was raised. But the view eventually taken was that in view of the provisions of sec. 73 of the Representation of the People Act the election was perfectly valid.

FACTS AND FIGURES

The total number of voters enrolled in 1956 in the whole country (excluding Jammu and Kashmir and Andaman and Nicobar Islands) was over 193 millions (193,652,069. Women voters : 92,141,597 or 94 per cent of adult women). The estimated total population of the country, excluding the above areas, in 1956 was about 384 millions. Thus, about 50.4 per cent of the total population was entered in the electoral rolls or about 96 per cent of the adult population. The percentage of the adult population (persons over 21 years) is estimated at about 51 per cent. The enrolment of voters can thus be claimed to have been almost exhaustive.

The task of organising and carrying through the elections was completed with the whole-hearted co-operation of the electorate, political parties, candidates and Government. In all about 1,166,450 Government servants participated in the election operations in different capacities. Similarly, about 3,63,000 persons who were not Government officials also took part in the work.

No. of candidates who retired subsequently—Lok Sabha 75; Assemblies 617.

Cost of temporary structures (27,965) for polling booths—Rs. 17,85,435.

Expenditure

The figures of expenditure on the general election State-wise are as follows (Rs.):

Andhra 72,02,189; Assam 17,05,410; Bihar 62,69,861; Bombay 52,22,384; Kerala 18,47,000; M.P. 34,62,111; Madras 58,86,472; Mysore 34,59,625; Orissa 24,89,293; Punjab 26,15,512; Rajasthan 30,91,464; U.P. 85,37,085; W. Bengal 52,74,021; Delhi 1,75,024; Himachal 3,06,732; Manipur 1,17,850; Tripura 2,59,803.

Total 5,90,21,786.

Out of this an amount of Rs. 21,08,660 was realized through forfeiture of deposits, receipts from sale of rolls, inspection fees, fees for inclusion of names after final publication, and for copying.

The expenditure on the preparation of electoral rolls between 1952-53 and 1956-57 was about Rs. 6 crores. This is shared between the centre and the States on a 50 : 50 basis.

The entire requirements of indelible ink was supplied by the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research. The number of phials used was 3,16,707 as against 3,89,816 in the first elections.

CANDIDATES

The total no. of candidates nominated was 18,765. Out of these 18,392 made the necessary deposits. The total sum deposited for the Lok Sabha was Rs. 10,24,500 and for the Assemblies Rs. 37,25,538.

The position about the forfeiture of deposits was as follows:

For the Lok Sabha 496 candidates forfeited their deposits (Congress 2, P.S.P. 55, Communists 15, Jan Sangh 58, Other parties 40, Independents 326).

For the Assemblies 4,359 candidates forfeited their deposits (Congress 51, P.S.P. 405, Communists 183, Jan Sangh 365, Other parties 218, Independents 3,037).

The number of candidates who incurred disqualification for failure to submit election expenses and of those whose disqualification was removed were as follows:

Lok Sabha 267 and 70; Assemblies 2,562 and 288.

Lok Sabha 12, all Congressmen (Andhra 4, Assam 2, Bihar 2, Madhya Pradesh 1, Mysore 2, Madras 1).

State Assemblies 48 (43 Congress, 5 Independents)—Andhra 4 Congressmen; Assam 4 Congressmen and 3 others; Bombay 3 Congressmen; Kerala 1 Independent; M.P. 9 Congressmen; Madras 3 Congressmen; Mysore 7 Congress and 1 Independent; Orissa 1 Congressman; The Punjab 1 Congressman; Rajasthan 5 Congressmen; U.P. 5 Congressmen; W. Bengal 1 Congressman.

Twenty-seven women were elected to the Lok Sabha and 195 to the various State Assemblies in the second general elections as compared with 21 and 80 respectively in the first general elections.

Twenty-three women elected to the Lok Sabha belonged to the Congress Party, two to the Communist Party and two to the Chota Nagpur Santhal Parganas Janata Party.

Of those elected to the State Assemblies, 179 belonged to the Congress, four to the Communist Party, one to the People's Democratic Front, two to the Chota Nagpur Santhal Parganas Janata Party, three to the Ganatantra Parishad and the remaining six are Independents.

The Bihar Assembly had 32 women, the largest for any State, followed by Madhya Pradesh with 27, Uttar Pradesh with 26, Bombay with 25 and Mysore with 18.

Seventeen Scheduled Castes and Tribes candidates were elected to general seats.

Of these four were elected to the Lok Sabha (one each in Andhra, Kerala, W. Bengal and Tripura) and 13 to the State Assemblies (one each in Andhra, Bombay, Madras, Orissa and U.P.; two in Assam and three each in Kerala and W. Bengal).

POLL

Some particulars about the poll are given below:

For a parliamentary constituency the highest percentage of polling was 75.68 in Kotayam (Kerala) and the lowest 16.94 at Kangra (Punjab). For an Assembly constituency the highest was 83.20 in Karad North (Bombay) and the lowest 11.62 at Udaigiri (Orissa).

At 21 polling stations not a single vote was cast.

During the first general election there were 93 cases in which the poll had to be adjourned, in the second the number was 34.

Re-poll was ordered in the first elections at 107 stations because the ballot boxes were damaged. In the 1957 elections re-poll was ordered only in 31 cases. The number of constituencies affected was 22 in six States.

Tendered votes: 58,887 (first elections); 49,422 (second).

The maximum number of contestants for an Assembly seat was 11 in a single-member constituency and 16 in a two-member one, the corresponding figures for Lok Sabha being eight and 11 respectively.

The single-member Assembly constituencies of Gaya in Bihar, Jodhpur City I and Fatehpur in Rajasthan, Chillupur in Uttar Pradesh and Sandeshkhali in West Bengal had 11 candidates each, while the two-member constituencies of Jahanabad in Bihar and Sirsa in the Punjab had each 16 contestants in the field.

In the elections to the Lok Sabha, there were eight contestants in the Rewa (Madhya Pradesh) single-member constituency and 11 in the Nawada (Bihar) two-member constituency.

In the first general elections there were 181 cases of interchange of ballot boxes and 692 cases of interchange of ballot papers. A re-poll was ordered in 43 cases.

In the second general elections there were 70 cases of interchange of ballot boxes and 265 cases of interchange of ballot papers. Re-poll was ordered in 11 cases.

No. of electoral offences in connection with the poll: 1,250 (first general elections); 1,000 (second).

There were only two cases in which a contesting candidate died before the commencement of the poll.

There was one constituency in which only one candidate filed nomination papers. He withdrew his candidature before the poll.

The narrowest win—one vote—was at the Galsi constituency in Burdwan Dt. (W. Bengal). Another narrow win—two votes—was at Sirmour in Rewa Dt. (M.P.).

No. of policemen deputed for polling duty: 2,73,762; of village chowkidars: 1,68,281.

The position about election petitions at the end of July 1959 was as follows:

One hundred petitions were awaiting final disposal. Nineteen of these had been referred for further hearing to the High Courts and Supreme Court though Election Tribunals had pronounced judgement on them.

Out of 372 election petitions decided till then 278 were dismissed, 23 withdrawn and three abated because of the petitioner's death. Sixteen others were dismissed by the Election Commission itself on technical grounds. Fifty-two were allowed.

The number of petitions relating to bye-elections held after the last General Elections totalled 11 by the end of July. Two of these have already been dismissed and eight are pending before Tribunals. The remaining one has been admitted by the Election Commission and a tribunal was being constituted to consider it.

The total number of Tribunals set up after the General Elections was 150. Of these 86 had been wound up and 64 were still functioning.

PARTIES, SYMBOLS

The Election Commission recognised four parties at the national level. They were the Congress, the Praja-Socialist Party, the Communist Party and the Jan Sangh. Eleven other parties were recognised at the State level. Besides, more than 30 parties or groups fought the elections on their own or in association with others in different States.

As already mentioned, four parties were recognised as all-India parties:

The Indian National Congress, the Praja Socialist Party, the Communist Party, the Bharatiya Jan Sangh. These parties had the same symbols as in the previous general election. Congress (two bullocks with a yoke), Communists (ears of corn with sickle), P.-S.P. (hut), Jan Sangh (oil lamp with wick).

The State parties and their symbols:

(1) All-India Scheduled Castes Federation (Andhra Pradesh, Bombay, Madhya Pradesh, Mysore, Punjab, Delhi and Himachal Pradesh—Elephant). (2) All-India Forward Bloc—Marxist (West Bengal—standing lion). (3) All-India Gaiatantra Parishad (Orissa—bow and arrow). (4) Akhil Bharat Hindu Mahasabha (Bombay, Madhya Pradesh and West Bengal—horse and rider). (5) Akhil Bha at Ram Rajya Parishad (Bombay, Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan and Uttar Pradesh—rising sun). (6) Chota Nagpur and Santal Parganas Janata Party (Bihar—cycle). (7) Jharkhand Party (Bihar—cock). (8) Peasants' and Workers' Party (Andhra Pradesh, Bombay and Mysore—art). (9) The People's Democratic Front (Andhra Pradesh—human hand). (10) Revolutionary Socialist Party Kerala—Sledge and stoker). (11) Tripura Gana-tantrik Sangha (Tripura—ladder). (12) Praja Party (Andhra Pradesh—Rising sun).

The standard for recognition as a party was a minimum of three per cent of the valid votes polled in the Assembly or the electoral college elections.

Twelve parties which applied for recognition as national parties and 43 parties which applied for recognition as State parties were not granted the recognition asked for.

Post-1957 Position

As the candidates sponsored by the four all-India or national parties secured more than 3 per cent of the total votes they continue to be recognised as all-India or national parties.

On the same basis the recognition of the following as State parties for particular States was recognized and they were allowed to retain the old symbols:

Jharkhand Party (Bihar), Chota Nagpur and Santal Parganas Janata Party (Bihar), Peasants and Workers' Party (Bombay), All India Scheduled Castes Federation (the Republican Party) (Bombay, Punjab, H.P.), Akhil Bharat Hindu Mahasabha (M.P.), All India Gaiatantra Parishad (Orissa), Akhil Bharat Rama Rajya Parishad (Rajasthan), All India Forward (Marxist) (W. Bengal).

Elsewhere they lost their right to recognition.

The candidates of the following parties hitherto unrecognized polled more than 3 per cent of the votes and the parties therefore gained recognition as State parties as shown below:

Mahagujarat Janata Parishad (Bombay)—cock. Indian Union Muslim League (Kerala)—ladder. Dravida Munnetra Kazhagam (Madras)—rising sun. Indian National Democratic Congress (Madras) elephant. All India Socialist Party (U.P., Manipur)—tree. Akhil Bharat Hindu Mahasabha (Delhi)—horse and ladder. United Independent Front (Himachal Pradesh)—human hand.

There were cases in the second general election in which owing to certain causes the Commission revised the symbols allotted by Returning Officers—14 for the Lok Sabha and 82 for the Assemblies.

There were a number of cases where political parties failed to communicate the names of the official candidates. In such cases the Returning Officers gave them free symbols. In some cases such allotments were revised by the Commission—6 for the House of the People and 35 for the Assemblies. In the rest the symbols were not revised—3 for the House of the People, 33 for the Assemblies.

STATE-WISE COMMENTARY

A State-wise commentary is given in previous editions of this book.

MANIPUR

Chief Commissioner, Jarat Mohan Nath Raina.

Area: 8,628 sq. miles; Population: 577,635; Density: 67; Capital: Imphal; Strength of Territorial Council: 32 including two nominated members.

Names of Districts with population: Manipur Plains District 4,02,267; Hillia District 1,75,368

Names of Districts with names of taluks and their population within brackets: Manipur Plains District (Nadar 2,70,902; Thoubal 1,23,754; Jiribam 7,541); Hillia District (Mao 28,445; Churachandpur 42,695; Tengnoupal 24,040; Ukhrul 42,491; Tamenglong 37,088.)

Manipur bounded on the east and south by Burma and on the north and west by the Naga Hills and the Cachar District of Assam, is a highly strategic territory on the eastern frontier of India. Two land routes from Burma pass through its territory. It was formally proclaimed a Chief Commissioner's Province of the Indian Union on the 15th of October, 1949, and became a Part C State when the Constitution of 1950 came into force. Following the reorganization of States in India, Manipur became a Union Territory from 1st November 1956 and it is now administered as a Union Territory under the provisions of the Union Territories Act, 1956.

In the Territorial Council there are 32 members comprising 17 Congress members, Communists 4, Socialist Party 6 and Independents 5. Two are nominated.

The Congress is the largest single party.

The Territory has a population of 577,635 (1951 census) and an area of 8,628 square miles. The density of the population is 67. Seven hundred square miles of the Territory form a central valley, 2,600 feet above sea-level, which is shut in on all sides by extensive hill tracts at places over 6,000 feet, covering the rest of the Territory. The climate varies from temperate in the valley to cold in the high hills. The rainfall on the average is 65 inches in the year.

The main population is "Meitais" inhabiting the valley with some 40 tribes and sub-tribes known by the generic names of Nagas and Kukis. Though a number of different dialects are spoken in the Territory, Manipuri and English are the official languages. The people are carefree and healthy, with a passion for religious festivals involving community dances in which both sexes join.

There are about 1,102 refugee families in Manipur.

The soil is fertile. Rice is the principal crop of which Manipur exports a fair quantity.

The area under cultivation is about 2 lakh acres.

Handloom weaving is a popular industry throughout the Territory and Manipuri cloth of various picturesque and indigenous designs, is in demand throughout India and even outside.

There are 2 colleges, 42 high schools, 152 M.E. schools and 1,078 primary, upper primary and junior basic schools. The total number of students for the year ending 31st December 1957 was 96,918.

There are 17 hospitals and 48 dispensaries, six touring and mobile dispensaries, and four maternity and child welfare centres.

The Planning Commission has accepted a ceiling of Rs. 6.25 crores for various development schemes under the Second Five-Year Plan. The schemes are connected with agriculture and rural development, N.E.S. and Community Projects, irrigation and power, industry, transport, education, medical and public health, housing, labour and labour welfare, welfare of backward classes and Scheduled Tribes. The development programmes have been taken up in right earnest.

A separate scheme for water supply for Imphal Town at an estimated cost of Rs. 28,36,000 has been taken up.

All Government educational institutions in Manipur up to high schools, except one basic training institute and one Hindi training institute, 53 allopathic hospitals and dispensaries outside Imphal, four maternity and child welfare centres, all roads except State and national highways, one veterinary hospital and seven veterinary dispensaries, were transferred to the Manipur Territorial Council in January 1958.

The Manipur Government has decided that free education upto the middle school standard should be given in all educational institutions from 1959-60.
